Mr. Woolsey, who was born two miles south of Murray, says he will again make Cass county his home and will build and change the improvements already on the farm just south of Union, for a home.

It is Service Needed.

When one does a banking business it is service which is desired and the safety of the funds entrusted in a banking institution, is an element which cannot be overlooked. The Nehawka Bank is a place where service is always given, and safety of deposits is secured.

Woman Attacked by Swine.

Last Wednesday while passing through a lot where eight large sows were enclosed, Mrs. Duke Frans of Auburn, and who is an aunt of John Frans of Nehawka, the vicious hogs attacked the lady, and getting her down, lacerated and tore her arms and limbs in a most frightful manner, leaving in many places gapping wounds measuring from two and a half to three inches and exposing the bones in some instances. She was able to escape and the hogs leaving, and as she was making for the fence to escape their ravages, one hog most particularly fierce again attacked her, throwing her down and making a vicious snap at her face, tore the glasses off which she was wearing and lacerating the cheek very severely. After this Mrs. Frans was able to gain the fence of the enclosure and get out of the lot. Mrs. Frans, who had the wounds dressed and cauterized, is feeling very badly and with the nature of the wounds and the nervous tension, makes her case one of extreme seriousness.

Masons Have Excellent Time

As has been the practice of the Masonic order in Nehawka for a number of years, they had a get-together meeting last Friday evening at their hall in the auditorium, where the members of the order, their wives and friends, had a very social hour. A light and very refreshing luncheon was served and enjoyed. The committee who had charge of the evening's entertainment, had a surprise for the crowd in the many novel stunts which they pulled off for the amusement of all.

Will Spend Summer in West.

R. C. Pollard and family will soon depart for the west coast where they will spend some time during the summer. They will make the trip via Minneapolis, and the north, seeing the sights that way and also the coast country and travel down the coast to Los Angeles and on their return will come via the Santa Fe, seeing both the northern and southern country in the same trip.

Selected Treasurer Again.

Adams, the Nehawka druggist, who has been treasurer of the Nebraska Druggist association for the past fourteen years, was at their convention at Columbus last week, and was selected for another year to look after the funds of the association. Mr. Adams returned home last Friday afternoon and reports a large convention and the considering of many important matters to the interest of the profession and the public at large.

Mrs. Nancy McNurlin Buried.

The remains of Mrs. Nancy McNurlin, widow of Mr. James McNurlin, deceased, of Holton, Kansas, arrived in Nehawka last Friday evening, the funeral being held at the United Brethren church, the service being held by the minister, Rev. A. Jacobson, and the interment being made at Mount Pleasant cemetery, north-east of Nehawka on Friday morning. Mrs. McNurlin, whose maiden name was Miss Nancy Hartsell, was born in Indiana some 85 years ago and was united in marriage with James McNurlin on December 14, 1851, the husband preceding the wife to the other world in 1906.

NEW COMMANDER TO BE SELECTED SOON

New York, June 9.—Election of a successor to Col. Frederick W. Galbraith, jr., national commander of the American Legion will be accomplished by the national executive committee, was announced from state headquarters today.

The state committee is allowed to elect officers to any vacant vacancies in the national conventions. The last official statement from Col. Galbraith contains an attack on the nation-wide campaign advocating disarmament. The statement was made public today.

In it Colonel Galbraith declared the American Legion was "unshakably opposed" to any plan for disarmament between nations, which should not be accompanied by simultaneous disarmament of the other world powers.

"World peace and world disarmament attained by international agreement are one thing," he wrote, "and the precipitous and voluntary disarmament of a nation is another. Anything else would be foolish and dangerous. For the United States to disarm now or at any other time before other nations likewise simultaneously disarm is a project to which the American Legion is unshakably opposed."

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Accompanied by national and state officers of the American Legion, the body of Frederick W. Galbraith, jr., was removed tonight to his home in Cincinnati, O., where funeral services will be held Saturday. Colonel Galbraith was killed in an automobile accident early today.

Milton J. Foreman, the legal national commander of the American Legion, and Henry J. Ryan, chairman of the American Legion commission of the legion, were injured, but both will recover. The body was escorted to the Union station by scores of legionnaires. Heading the escort was Major General G. W. Read, commander of the Fifth army corps area, and his staff. Military services were held at the station.

Many telegrams, expressing sorrow and condolence were received today at national headquarters of the legion. One was from President Harding.

Following the funeral members of the national executive committee will return here to elect one of the national vice commanders to serve until the annual convention at Kansas City.

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—Colonel Fred W. Galbraith was one of the best known citizens of Cincinnati of recent years. He engaged in the paper specialty business in Cincinnati up to the time of the entrance of the United States into the world war.

He was chosen a colonel of Old First regiment, Ohio national guard, and when the war broke out he recruited that regiment to war strength and it was mustered into federal service as the One Hundred and Forty-seventh regiment, thirty-seventh division of the United States army. At its head he went overseas and took a prominent part in the battles of St. Mihiel, the Argonne and later in Belgium.

For personal bravery on the field of battle he was decorated by the French and Belgian governments and was honored by the United States government. Colonel Galbraith was about fifty years old. He leaves a widow and two children.

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—The body of Col. F. W. Galbraith, jr., on arrival tonight will be met by a full company of regular soldiers from Fort Thomas, Kentucky, and hundreds of Colonel Galbraith's business and military associates.

The funeral services Saturday will be in charge of the American Legion. Rev. John J. Herget, former chaplain of the twenty-seventh division, officiating.

The military procession will include the command of Colonel Peter E. Traub at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, and the 147th infantry of the federalized national guard, which bears the designation of the regiment which he commanded overseas.

COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION TO MEET

POLITICAL DABBING COSTLY TO ROADS

Too Many County Supervisors are Mixing Up in It, Declares Kearney Road Head.

"Politics should be left out of the good roads movements," said O. C. Smith, of Kearney, president of the Nebraska Good Roads association, in a speech before the convention of the O. L. D. highway delegates in Lincoln Wednesday evening.

"Too many county supervisors and county commissioners are dabbling in political combinations and are costing the taxpayers millions of dollars a year over the United States," Mr. Smith declared. He spoke on the work of keeping up the roads. He told of President Harding's policy of maintenance and said that this word should be the keynote of all good roads movements.

Thirty-five delegates attended the annual banquet held at the Lincoln hotel Wednesday night. A larger number would have been present but for the floods and hard rains in Colorado and western Nebraska, which halted them on their way to the convention. Many letters and telegrams were received by President C. H. Roper during the afternoon from members on their way to the convention telling him that they were rained in at various points along the way.

Secretary Trev Gillespie of the Lincoln automobile club was toastmaster at the banquet. The first speaker on the list was Lute Morse who told a number of stories, many of them referring to roads in the southern states. A remarkable coincidence of the occasion was the verification of Mr. Morse's stories by ex-Mayor Mills of MeCook, who claimed that he had visited Alabama of late and had found the roads in no favorable condition.

Bert George, formerly president of the O. L. D., and of the Lincoln automobile club, followed with a history of the making of the O. L. D., and with the history also of the means by which Nebraska acquired a highway commissioner.

Speaking of George Johnson, the present highway commissioner, Mr. George said that he "is one of the best in the United States," to which the delegates agreed unanimously.

O. C. Smith of Kearney, president of the Nebraska Good Roads association then spoke on the work of keeping up the roads.

George Johnson, state highway commissioner, spoke on the legislative side of the good roads movement. He told of the meeting in Washington, a short time ago at which President Harding told highway commissioners in session there, that he would veto any bill for road building unless it carried with it a policy for adequate maintenance. The present bill before congress for road appropriations, said Mr. Johnson, will conform with the Nebraska laws almost identically and will necessitate but little readjustment in the state laws.

Following the speaking the entire delegation attended a theatre party.

APPREHENSION OF A RAILROAD STRIKE

Has Much to Do with Sending July Wheat Up 7 Cents at Chicago —Crop Report Assists.

Chicago, June 9.—Possibility of widespread labor tie-ups on the railroads July 1 had a good deal to do with a rapid advance today in the price of wheat.

The market in some cases ran up more than 7 cents a bushel for July delivery, which commanded as high as $1.29 1/2, against $1.22 at yesterday's finish.

A big falling off in production of wheat this season as shown by the government crop report had made the trade anxious, and then talk of general strike possibilities sent the market soaring.

Before the rise in values, due to buying chiefly by speculators, was ended, July delivery touched $1.40 1/2, an overnight jump of 8 1/2 cents per bushel. The level thus attained was within 1 cent of the topmost point this season.

Profit taking by holders led to a reaction at the last, July closing at $1.34 1/2 @ $1.35.

NO WORK FOR THE IDLE IN CASPER

Lack of Business and Curtailment of Refinery Operations, Says a Bulletin from There

A flood of unemployed streaming into Casper, Wyoming, seeking work in the oil fields, together with a large number of inquiries concerning employment has caused that labor filled district much distress.

The chamber of commerce at Casper is sending out a letter to all inquiries for work and to those whom they find are intending to move to Casper soon in search of employment. It says—

"Work is not plentiful in Casper at this time, due to the general depression, and also to the fact that the refineries have curtailed operations to some extent, making it necessary to absorb some refinery employees into other lines. A great number of men have come in here during the last two or three months as a result of the publicity which Casper has received as an industrial center. The cost of living is high here owing to our congested housing situation, high rents and the abnormal growth, due to the activities of the oil companies."

Lumber Prices Smashed

Surplus Stock For Sale

We offer a limited quantity of 2x6 Douglas Fir in lengths ranging from 2 feet to 22 feet at greatly reduced prices.

In our manufacturing we use only the best, select lumber, so in our sorting operations accumulate a considerable quantity of lumber each season that while not satisfactory for our purposes is still very serviceable for farm and general use.

It is this surplus stock we have to offer. You will find it very satisfactory for general repair work about the farm, such as mending or building barnyard fences, stable flooring, partitions, hog-house flooring or hog fence, heavy yard gates, bracing, well curbs, platforms, farm bridges, corn cribs, etc., and for use in part in the construction of durable sheds, barns and many other purposes.

Sidewalks Built To Order

As this lumber makes exceptionally good stock for board sidewalks we are prepared to supply it cut to any lengths desired, from 2 to 4 feet. We will also assemble and build in complete sections sidewalks of this stock to meet your special requirements at small extra cost.

Stock Going Fast—See Us Now

We are not in the regular retail lumber business and have only the one dimension (except length) and the one kind namely, 2x6 Douglas Fir lumber to offer. As stated, this lumber is not the best, select grade, but is stock most satisfactory for our use, though still very serviceable for general use and the low prices quoted should move our accumulated stock very quickly.

Come in and inspect it to your own satisfaction. Take it home with you in any quantities you desire, from a few sticks to a truck load. Act quickly if you want any—for our stock will move fast at these prices.
