Profits will not be as large as they were during war time, but they will not be as small as they were before 1915.

:o:

As an illustration of "the terse, vivid speech of the present day," the papers are quoting the statement of the young son of President Alderman of the University of Virginia, that Alexander the Great was a great soldier until he hit the booze and blew up. But if a "terse vivid" prosecuting attorney of today were asked to draw up an indictment of the man who sold Alexander the booze, he would do it at about the length of one of Cicero's orations against Catiline.

"It don't take a man long to bag his pants at the knees, and to make a finely tailored suit look thoroughly disreputable—that's the man of it," avers Dainty Dorthy.

But she goes on to explain that the man who is making use of our cleaning, steaming and pressing services is keeping his clothes in much more presentable condition than when he got acquainted with us. And it doesn't cost much, either.

COUNCIL TAKES UP THE PAVING PROPOSITION

CITY WILL SECURE ESTIMATES OF COST OF WORK AND CALL FOR BIDS.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The council chamber of the city hall last evening resembled a small sized furnace as regarded the heat and the members of the law making body surely earned their stipend in the long and wearisome session that they held and which was filled with much talk and little real legislation.

A number of the residents in the first ward residing in the block between Third street and the Burlington right of way asked that the alley in the rear of their property be paved and this was referred to the gentle mercies of the streets, alleys and bridges committee.

A letter was also received by the council from J. T. Liston, Missouri Pacific agent, relative to the light at Oak street, which was ordered installed by the Missouri Pacific railroad and which they desire to make a contract with the city for payment. This was referred to the lighting committee to secure a suitable contract.

The citizens residing in the vicinity of Seventh street presented a petition to the city council protesting against the paving of Seventh street from Pearl to Vine street, as it was claimed the cost was too great. This matter was placed on file to await the securing of estimates on the work to more fully determine what the cost would really be.

City Attorney C. A. Rawls presented a very lengthy opinion to the council covering the right of the city to regulate the price charged by the gas and electric company to the private consumer and reviewing the different franchises and ordinances that have been enacted by the city, and which dated back as far as August 3, 1885. The gist of the matter was that the city attorney, after a careful review of the situation held that the city under the law in which it was operating as a city of the second class could not regulate the rate to the private consumer and had in their city ordinances no provision that would give them this right.

Three means of relief were pointed out by Mr. Rawls, one being the creation of a sinking fund for the building of a municipal plant, which is a matter strongly urged by former Mayor John Sattler several years ago when the light question was first brought to the fore. The second relief suggested was to secure service from some other source and the last the possibility of securing more equitable terms from the light company that is at present operating here.

Mr. Rawls cited the opinions of the state and federal courts relative to the regulation of lighting rates.

On motion of Councilman Ptacek the report of the city attorney was accepted and placed on file and the lighting committee authorized to take the matter up and secure data on which to base their report as to the means of relief and the possibilities of the municipal plant which has been so long urged by many of our people.

Chief of Police Alvin Jones presented a communication urging the enactment of an ordinance to cover the obstructing of the sidewalks of the city as there is now no such an ordinance and without it there is no chance of securing the removal of obstructions. The matter was disposed of later by the passage of an ordinance that covered the matter.

Chief of Police Jones reported that during the month just closed the sum of $131 had been collected for the city in fines and covered offenses largely of illicit liquor and speeding.

City Clerk Duxbury reported that the sum of $1,432.03 had been collected from various sources and placed in the different funds of the city.

The report of City Treasurer Hartford shows that the city has at the present time some $54,000 in the treasury with an overdraft in several funds that reaches $10,000, leaving a balance of $43,000. Registered warrants outstanding against the city amount to the sum of 114,670, but a number of these will be called for collection presently.

Police Judge M. Archer reported that during the month he had secured fines amounting to $147 and costs amounting to $21 from the offenders in his court and that this money had been turned over to the city treasurer.

The judiciary committee of the council reported on the matter of the claim of John Zatopek, which had been brought up at the last meeting of the council and in which Mr. Zatopek had claimed $50 for damages to a horse by having it fall through a wooden culvert, and the committee reported that they had agreed on a compromise with the gentleman for $25 and on motion this amount was ordered paid to the owner of the injured horse.

The claims committee reported favorably on the claim of J. P. Falter for $131.39, covering liability insurance for the city for the past year and the same was ordered paid.

The streets, alleys and bridges committee through Chairman Ptacek reported that as the paving proposition had been brought up at the last meeting of the council and he had been informed that material is now as low as could reasonably be expected for some time, he thought the engineers should make the estimate so that the city could go on with the work if it was not too high.

Mr. Bruce, of the firm of engineers who have had charge of the work for the city in the past, was present at the meeting and gave a very thorough review of the paving situation over the state and the cost of materials that entered into the paving of streets. He also touched on the matter of Main street and how it could be improved and suggested a composition of concrete and asphalt as a covering for the present cobble stones, and which Mr. Bruce stated would be as successful as a smooth brick pavement and not nearly as costly to the city. He thought that labor or material would neither one sink to the old pre-war level, but that material might raise or fall slightly from time to time, although the level had been practically reached.

On motion of Councilman Ptacek the engineers were authorized to go ahead and revise the estimates of last year for the cost of paving and the city then advertise for bids for the work and could then fully determine whether or not they desired to go ahead and have a part of the paving put in this summer.

The Missouri Pacific railroad thru E. A. Hadley, chief engineer, asked that the city file in the office of the register of deeds, the relinquishment of a part of the right of way of the railroad that had been deeded to the city for street purposes as the railroad desired to have a record of the transaction. This was referred to the city attorney for action.

The board of control of the Nebraska Masonic home asked that a special improvement district be created to care for the paving of the intersection and a part of the street near the tract of land bought by the home board from Ed Fitzgerald, and which improvement will be paid for entirely by the Masonic Home association.

Councilman Brittain of the cemetery committee reported that pursuant to the desires of the council at the last meeting he had divided ten of the cemetery lots into halves and quarters which would be sold under these terms.

The special committee which has been considering the matter of the painting of the city hall recommended that new bids be called for and that specifications be furnished the bidders.

The finance committee of the council through Chairman Bestor reported the estimate of the expense of the city for the ensuing year and set the sum needed to run the city government at $54,310, and which was divided into the different funds as can be seen in the estimate published.

The matter of the salary of the police judge of the city was brought up by Councilman Bestor who presented an amendment to the present city ordinance changing the amount of salary from $30 to $50 a month, and when seconded by Councilman Schulhof the matter was brought to a vote but rejected by the council and the amount paid to the judge will remain the same as at present.

The finance committee of the council presented the following bills as correct and payment of the same was ordered:
