IRON STATUE FOR FIREWOOD

Berlin, June 17.—Germany's Iron Hindenburg, which during the war was to epitomize the German spirit, has gone the way of the rest of wartime German things.
An advertisement in the Berlin papers announces the demise simply: "IRON HINDENBURG."
"For sale, in whole or in parts, for firewood. Apply, Rudolph Mosse, Berlin, W. 8, Leipziger street, 103."
The gigantic statue—a wooden Hindenburg—was erected during the war at the end of Berlin's Avenue of Victory.

It was to be covered with nails driven one by one by patriotic Germans, who, for the privilege of putting a bit more iron into the field marshal, were to pay a small contribution to German war charities.
The idea flattered. Long before the war ended what was at first a popular pilgrimage had dried Berliners, and the statue remained, its wood-work rotting in huge uncovered patches and its scattered rash of nails rusting.

About a year ago, the statue, always an eyesore, was removed. No one was sufficiently interested to ask about it. Its fate was not known until Herr Mosse inserted his ad.

FROM REMOTEST PARTS OF GLOBE

Tanlac Elements Come from Many Lands Far Away from Here—Popularity Growing.

The ingredients from which the celebrated medicine Tanlac is made, come from remote sections of the earth, and are transported thousands of miles over land and water to the great Tanlac laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, and Walkerville, Canada.

The Alps, Apennines, Pyrenees, Russian-Asia, Brazil, West Indies, Rocky Mountains, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Mexico, Columbia and Peru are among the far away points from which the principal properties of this remarkable preparation are obtained.

What is said to be the largest pharmaceutical laboratory in the United States has been completed at Dayton, Ohio, for the manufacture of Tanlac which, according to recent reports, is now having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world; over 20,000,000 bottles having been sold in six years.

The new plant occupies 60,000 square feet of floor space, and has a daily capacity of 50,000 bottles. The finished medicine is then bottled, labeled and shipped out to tens of thousands of druggists throughout the United States and Canada to supply a demand never before equalled by this, or any other medicine.

GENERAL MARCH TO RETIRE NOVEMBER 1

General Pershing to Succeed Him as Chief of Staff of the Army.

Washington, June 17.—Major General Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the army, will retire from active service on November 1. He will be succeeded by General Pershing on July 1 and will go on leave at that time until his retirement takes effect, Secretary Weeks announced today.

General March will go to Europe after his retirement, it is understood, to write on military subjects involved in the world war. His request for retirement was made by letter to Secretary Weeks, June 14, and approved today. On that day General March concluded thirty-seven years' service in the army, seven more than is necessary under the law allowing officers to retire from active service.

"I can not sever my active connection with the war department," the general wrote Secretary Weeks, "without expressing my appreciation of the unfailing consideration you have accorded me personally; and in the performance of my duties as chief of staff, you have given me constant support. I wish and predict the greatest success for your administration of the affairs of the war department."

In reply, Secretary Weeks said: "I regret that you have decided to take this action because I am well aware of your value to the service. I appreciate fully the very important results you have been able to accomplish."

"I especially wish to mention your success in directing the transportation of troops to Europe during the war, which was a service of great magnitude and in which you accomplished really remarkable results."

General March was chief of artillery in France when the decision of President Wilson to assign General Gliss, then chief-of-staff, to the supreme war council, necessitated selection of his successor. General March was recalled to fill the post at the time when movement of American troops to France was in its initial stages. It was under his direction that troop movements were speeded up sharply only to be virtually doubled in speed later after the last great German offensive brought matters on the battle front to a crisis.

RETAIL FOOD PRICE IS EASING OFF A BIT

Decline of 4.8 Per Cent During May While Wholesale Figure Slides Five Per Cent.

Washington, June 17.—Retail food prices of the average family declined 4.8 per cent in May as compared with April while wholesale food prices dropped 5 1/4 per cent in the same period, according to statistics made public today by the department of labor. General wholesale prices, including farm products, food, building materials, metals, house furnishings and miscellaneous commodities declined approximately 2 per cent during the month.

The average family expenditure for food decreased from April 15, 1921 to May 15, 1921, in all of the cities surveyed.

The greatest decrease, 8 per cent, was shown in Milwaukee and St. Paul. In Denver, the increase was 7 per cent. In Omaha and Portland, Oregon, the decrease was 6 per cent. In Butte, Kansas City, Salt Lake City and Seattle the decrease was 5 per cent. In San Francisco the decrease was 3 per cent and in Los Angeles the decrease was 2 per cent.

The decline from the peak prices of May, 1919, amounted to 33 per cent in retail food prices and 44 1/2 per cent in general wholesale prices. The drop in wholesale prices includes a 5 1/4 per cent decline in manufactured food products and a 52 per cent reduction in the prices of farm products, the statement said.

From April 15 to May 15 the retail price of butter declined 24 per cent; cheese, 16 per cent; sugar, 13 per cent; lard, 9 per cent; pork chops and oleomargarine, 5 per cent. Smaller reductions were noted for many other commodities. Retail prices of three articles which increased during the month were onions, 44 per cent; cabbage, 10 per cent and oranges, 5 per cent.

Wholesale prices of farm products reacted from the low level reached in April, the statement said, with a gain of 1 3/4 per cent. With the exception of metal and metal products, prices of which have remained the same for two months, there was a decline in all wholesale prices, food products leading.

I have taken Doan's on several occasions for headache and kidney trouble and they have always done me good. Doan's have been used in our family for a long time and the results have been very satisfactory."
