Death of John D. Newkirk

The community was shocked to hear of the sudden death of John D. Newkirk Monday night about 10 o'clock. Mr. Newkirk had been working in his wheat field all day and suffered a stroke of apoplexy toward evening. Dr. Murr was called and everything possible was done to relieve him, but to no avail, death claiming him in a few hours.

John D. Newkirk was born in Rock County, Wisconsin, August 6th, 1872. He died at his home northwest of Alvo, June 27, 1921, aged 48 years, 8 months and 21 days.

When about the age of ten he removed with his parents to Iowa. Later at the age of 21 he came to Cass county, making his home with his brother, William E. Newkirk.

In the year 1897 he was married to Miss Millie Baker. To this union were born three children, one son, Maurel, aged 20; and two daughters, Rena, age 15 and Marian, age 11, all of whom are living and at home.

Nearly all of his married life has been spent in Cass county and in the vicinity of Alvo. Mr. Newkirk was well known in this part of the county as a generous hearted friend and neighbor, and always ready to respond to any call for help in time of need, in any way which he could serve his friends. He was a benevolent member of Alvo Homestead No. 1715, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, to which order he belonged since January, 1908. In addition to the children named above, he is survived by his wife.

The funeral was held from the Methodist church at Alvo on Thursday afternoon, June 30th, Rev. E. A. Knight, pastor of the church, conducting the service. Burial was made in the Alvo cemetery. The pall bearers were Ed Miller, Chester Miller, Carl Johnson, S. K. Johnson, Arthur Klyver and Elmer Klyver. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many friends in their hour of sorrow.

Be Fair to the Wife!

Do you realize that these days are rather warm and to stand over a hot cook stove is worse than the harvest field for there you can get a breath of fresh air.

Why not get a PERFECTION OF DETROIT vapor oil stove for the cooking during the excessively hot weather? The patient wife, who is ever ready with the meals will appreciate this stove, which will not make the house so warm it is uninhabitable.

Come, see the selection we carry.

HEAVY RAIN STORM VISITS THIS SECTION

THREE AND ONE-HALF INCHES FALLS BETWEEN FOUR AND SIX THIS MORNING.

Commencing last night with a gentle rain about 10 o'clock and gradually growing in intensity until between 3 and 5 o'clock this morning when the elements broke with all their fury on the city. Plattsmouth was visited with one of the heaviest downpours of recent years, three and one-half inches of rain falling.

For a short time it seemed certain that the business houses along Main street must certainly suffer very heavily as the water poured down the street and on Sixth street was over the curbing on the east side of the street.

The climax of the high water occurred about 5:30 when North Sixth and Main streets were transformed into rivers of angry water, which in the center were almost waist deep, and the markers used at the intersections for the guidance of drivers of cars were just barely visible in the swirl of the floodwaters.

Most of the business men were aroused by the storm and hastened down to the outskirts of the high water, but to cross the streets was out of the question until nearly 6 o'clock, when the water commenced to recede.

The only section to suffer much damage was the block between Fifth and Sixth street on the south side, as considerable water was washed into the cellar of the store of Emil A. Wurl, at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, where the flood was most intense. The basement and laundry room of the Hotel Wagner also suffered some damage, about a foot of water standing over the floor of the room and making it necessary for a great deal of pumping to clear the room of water.

The residents along Washington avenue suffered some from the water and a great deal more from the deposits of mud that the flood cast up over the walks and streets. The sewer overflowed near the O. K. garage, sweeping across the street and inundating the surrounding territory, and a number of cellars were filled with water as a result of the sewer being so full that it backed up through the traps in the basements.

At the height of the flood the back water stood on Vine street clear to the residence of Mrs. A. H. Weckbach, and on the north side of Vine street there was a mud deposit several feet in depth.

One of the greatest sufferers from the effects of the torrential downpour was the Burlington shops and it is estimated the damage will reach $1,000. The management of the shops had in the past made preparation against high water by the construction of dykes along the natural water course that flows near the shop yards, but the extremely high water caused the washing away of the ground underneath the dykes and permitted the flood water to reach the yards and do considerable damage. A large amount of mud was deposited in the blacksmith shop and the brass foundry as well as over the yards and will necessitate participation of the entire working force at the shops for the next few days in cleaning up. Mr. Baird, superintendent of the shops, was convinced this morning that by nightfall it would be possible to have things back in normal condition. The dykes that were undermined by the flood will be lowered and made extra strong against a recurrence of such high water in the future.

From all over the city come reports of overflowing cellars caused by the heavy rain and overflowing cisterns and quite a good deal of damage is estimated to have been caused in this way. The cobble stone pavement on Main street suffered more or less from the high water and one place in front of the William Schmidtman harness shop sank several feet, having recently been taken up by the water company to make some repairs and the softened condition of the base made it an easy matter for the water to undermine it.

The older residents of the city were recalling the fact today, that it was just thirteen years ago yesterday July 1, 1907, when the shops and the whole business district of the city was very nearly wiped out of existence in a great flood and which was repeated in 1908 and which struck a severe blow at the business establishments of Main street and caused the citizens to take steps to have Main street lowered. Those who were here at that time can realize just what we missed last night and feel accordingly thankful.

SITUATION IS BAD ON EAST SIDE OF RIVER

CONDITIONS THERE MOST SERIOUS THIS YEAR—EXTRA FORCE CALLED ON.

This morning the situation along the rip rap on the east side of the Missouri river was reported as being the most serious so far this year, with prospects for still further inroads of the treacherous stream upon the adjacent Iowa farm land. Shortly before 8 o'clock a section of the river bank, 500 feet in extent, was swept into the river and the alarm for immediate relief was sent out by Division Superintendent N. C.

Allen of the Burlington, who has been on the ground there for the past few days supervising the work.

All of the men who could be secured as well as a dozen teams were called for by Mr. Allen and those that he could secure were at once sent to the scene of action.

The river is now falling and as the waters recede the softened banks cave in and are now at such a stage that further cave-ins will make it very dangerous for the trackage of the railroad company.

The damage so far this year has amounted to several thousand dollars and brings the total of the losses and expenditures along this portion of the river well up in the hundred thousands, and still there is little apparent relief from the encroachments of the turbid waters.

Suffered Intense Pain

"A few years ago when visiting relatives in Michigan something had eaten through an attack of cholera morbus," writes Mrs. Celesta McVicker, Macon, Mo. "I suffered intense pain and had to go to bed. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and one dose relieved the pain wonderfully. I only took two or three doses but they did the work."
