PLAYING WITH FIRE

Someone in Weeping Water is sure playing with fire in the stunt they are pulling off against the Weeping Water fire company. The evidence seems to point to an attempt to put its fire fighting equipment out of use Wednesday night last week, for the third time since this equipment has been added, the gasoline was found to have been drained from the auto truck's tank. Just the next day the truck had to be used in a fire call and had this loss of gasoline not been discovered when it was there would have been delay in getting a start. When the run was made Thursday the two front casings blew out within twenty feet of the fire house door—and they were new casings and good tubes. This and the fact that a spindle pin on one of the wheels was found to be loose, points with further suspicion toward someone having tampered with the truck. This is sure dangerous work that someone is engaged in and the culprit or culprits if apprehended will be given the full extent of the penalty of the law which is severe in cases of such tampering with fire fighting forces.—Weeping Water Republican.

CASS CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Lady Employed by Farm Bureau
Miss Wilkins, a graduate of Home Economics department of the University of Nebraska, has been employed as Home Economics demonstrator for Cass county. Miss Wilkins comes highly recommended and we expect the co-operation of the county in home demonstration work.

Harvest Labor Plentiful
The Farm Bureau has placed 140 men and find men rather plentiful. They are a little better class than those received in former years.

Club Organized
A new club of seven members all raising Spotted Poland China pigs has been organized at Nehawka. Jim Stone is leader.

Hogs Need Minerals
The most successful stock raisers do not feed drugs of any kind to healthy hogs. They do, however, keep certain minerals before their hogs. Wood ashes or charcoal, lime and salt are used by many breeders and as a rule supply the necessary minerals to keep the animals in thrifty condition. The State College of Agriculture says charcoal may be obtained by burning corncobs. Simply rake up a pile of cobs in the hog pen and set fire to them. When they are well charred quench the fire with water. To make the charcoal more palatable, salt may be thrown on the fire before the water or salty water may be used. If the charcoal is to be ground up and used in a self-feeder with air slacked lime and salt, no salt need be used on the burning cobs. If no self-feeder is used, the cobs may be raked up and charred and left in the pen for the hogs to help themselves. In such case rock salt and lime should also be placed in the pen. Pigs receiving plenty of milk and running on alfalfa require less of the minerals, but some should always be kept before them.

Mrs. Linda Harrod Endorses Chamberlain's Tablets

"I suffered for years from stomach trouble and tried everything I heard of but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I got immediate relief from that dreadful sickness and pain in the stomach after eating. Since taking two bottles I can eat anything I want without distress," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

BONUS BILL IS DEALT DEATH BLOW FRIDAY

NEBRASKA SENATORS VOTE TO KEEP MEASURE ALIVE—VOTE WAS 49 TO 27

HARDING FORCES WIN BATTLE

To Have Adjusted Compensation Bill Recommitted Indefinitely to the Finance Committee.

Washington, July 15.—The administration won its battle in congress today when the senate, responding to President Harding's request, re-committed the soldiers' bonus bill indefinitely to the finance committee.

The vote for recommitment was 47 to 29, and was interpreted by democrats to mean the "death" of the bill, but by republican leaders to mean postponement for only a few months with no substantial loss to war veterans beneficiaries.

Both parties divided on the roll call, nine republicans voting against while eight democrats joined the bulk of republicans for recommitment. Republican losses on the vote were offset exactly by democratic accessions, and two more republicans were paired against recommitment and three more democrats for the motion.

Both Senator Hitchcock and Senator Norris, of Nebraska, were among those voting against further postponement of the bill and urging immediate action on the relief measure.

An effort for an order directing early return of the bill to the senate was defeated by a vote of 69 to 27, a motion of Senator Kenyon, republican, Iowa, to have the bill brought back early in January being rejected. Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, thereupon announced that he would make a motion every week hereafter to bring back the bill from committee.

Stormy clashes between democratic opponents and republican advocates of recommitment marked the closing debate. But they were mild as compared to the scenes which followed the roll call. Among the incidents was a challenge by Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, champion of the bill, to Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, to settle a question of veracity "outside" and shouts of "Sit down!" made to Senator McCumber by Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia.

Senatorial dignity and rules were lost in the confusion. A half dozen senators were speaking at once, clamoring for recognition by the vice president. To add to the din a midsummer storm broke over the capitol, pouring torrents of rain on the glass roof of the senate while lightning flashes vied with its lightning system. Senators could be heard only with difficulty.

The row broke when Senator McCumber was recognized by the vice president to explain the effect of the bill's recommitment. Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, and Reed, declared that there being no bill or other business before the senate, Mr. McCumber's speech was not in presidential rule in favor of Mr. McCumber.

For two hours the parliamentary and personal wrangling continued. Senator McCumber stood by his guns and finally concluded his speech. The senate by a virtual party vote of 26 to 27 also sustained the vice president's rulings.

WARNING TO SWIMMERS

Some very timely hints as to the things not to do when in swimming have been put out by the swimming director of the Lincoln Y. M. C. A., and which should be carefully studied by anyone who contemplates going in swimming in any of the ponds or rivers in this locality as it may save them from danger and possibly loss of life:

1. Don't swim on a full stomach. (Wait until at least two hours after eating.)
2. Don't swim if overheated.
3. Don't continue swimming when you are exhausted.
4. Don't swim if you have heart trouble.
5. Don't dive without accurate knowledge of the depth of the water.
6. Don't struggle if caught in a swift current or undertow. (The force of the current will bring you to the surface.)
7. Don't wade into the water with the arms above the head. (You will be ready to stroke if you step into a hole.)
8. Don't lean backward when wading into the water. (Always be ready to fall forward.)
9. Don't fight or struggle to swim if you swallow water. (Clear the windpipe of water first.)
10. Don't fail to learn life-saving and resuscitation methods.
11. Don't cry for help in fun. (You may need help, and not get it.)
12. Don't go in swimming alone, unless you are an expert.

State Rights!

Your grandfather can remember when "State Rights" was a much discussed question. Nowadays each state is fully aware of its rights under the Constitution of the United States.

The banking laws of this state, for instance, are designed to give maximum protection to your deposits and at the same time permit state banks to accord a liberal banking service.

HAD CLOSE CALL FROM BAD MISHAP

G. E. McClerkin and Family Victims of an Unusual Accident while Motoring Last Night.

From Saturday's Daily.
G. E. McClerkin, vice president of the Bank of Cass County, with his family were out motoring over the government highway between this city and Murray last night when they experienced an unusual accident that might easily have had a serious outcome for the members of the party.

The party were traveling in a sedan car and were going at a very moderate rate of speed near the farm of Oscar Gopen when the bumper on the front of the car became loosened in some manner and one end fell down and caught in one of the front wheels, causing the car to get off the center of the road and before the occupants were aware of their predicament the car was clear over to the side of the road and struck a post standing near the roadway and tipped on one side. It was necessary for the occupants to crawl out of the car and it was found that no one had suffered any injury from the accident aside from the slight shaking up. It was most fortunate that the car was going at a moderate rate of speed at the time or they might have had more serious injury in the smash-up.

AN IMPROVEMENT OVER LAST YEAR

Business Men of Community Show a Greater Interest in Appearances of Their Business Houses

The present season has been one that has been filled with a great deal of improvement in the general appearance of the business section of the city and a greater majority of the buildings on Main street have been re-decorated and painted this year than any one season heretofore.

Last year there were six of the business houses to have their store fronts re-decorated and painted while so far this season there has been twenty to take up the good work and the painters have been kept busy looking after the work. Herb Cotton the singular painter and paper hanger states that he has already completed fourteen of these fronts and has three more to do before the present rush is over and this is certainly a splendid showing as the conditions have not been as favorable as they might be.

The live wire merchants of the city however believe that a little foresight in keeping things fixed up is the best policy in improving the general appearance of the city.

SUIT TO QUITE TITLE

An action entitled John M. Beck vs. James L. Craig has been filed in the office of James M. Robertson, clerk of the district court, and in which the plaintiff asks quieting of title to certain real estate in Cass County, W. A. Robertson appears as attorney for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Philip Schaefer, of Exeter, Nebraska, who has been here visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. P. Falter and family for a few days, returned this morning to her home.
