Building Your Character

The name of the bank with which you do business is one of the best references you can give.

A checking account stands for modern business methods, available liquid funds.

A savings account stands for good habits, thrift and ambition.

So not only does a bank account yield you monetary returns from your investment but it returns a dividend in good reputation.

Edward Murphy, of near Manly, was a brief visitor in Murray Tuesday while on his way to the county seat.

Scarlé S. Davis was pleased with the thrashing returns, which showed up a few pounds over 28 bushels to the acre.

Is your name on the Journal's subscription list? If not, it ought to be. What do you say?

Charles Herren went to Plattsmouth Tuesday, where he looked after some matters of business at the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. George Marple, of Weeping Water, were guests Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ada Ferris, of this place.

Homer Campbell and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Scarle S. Davis at their Maple Grove farm last Sunday for dinner.

Scarlé S. Davis and Wm. Sporer were among those thrashing Wednesday. They delivered their grain to the J. J. Pittman elevator.

Messieurs J. F. Thurman and Owen Will went to Nebraska City the fore part of the week for a visit of several days with relatives.

The best time to make your advertising pay increased dividends is when business is dull. What do you say, Mr. Business Man?

O. W. Virgin of Syracuse was in Murray last Tuesday looking after some business matters and was a guest of relatives while here.

John Harris and family drove to Plattsmouth Sunday, where they attended services at the Methodist church and visited with friends.

J. W. Edmonds was hauling cobs Tuesday. A. C. Long having shelled his last year corn crop, which was delivered to the Farmers elevator.

Mrs. Nancy Grimes, of Union, is reported as being very sick. Dr. B. F. Brendel was called to see her Sunday and also later during the week.

Grandparents Happy Last Saturday evening, Mrs. Jas. Hatchett, who has been at Havelock, returned home accompanied by her little daughter, they having been to visit the new son that arrived at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Vera Watson. Grandpa Hatchett is hearing his honors nicely and is able to sit up and take some nourishment as well as smoke a mild cigar.

Visited at Park A party of Murray people enjoyed a pleasant evening at Brown's park last Sunday, driving down for a delightful outing in the cool of the evening, and taking their supper along. Those going were Mrs. B. F. Brendel, Dr. J. F. Brendel and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Seybold and Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Crozier of Weeping Water.

Enjoyable House Party Miss Margaret Spangler was hostess at a house party held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Spangler, north of town, during the past week. Those present were Miss Alice Pollock, of Plattsmouth; Miss Velma Wood and Leland Wood, of Lincoln; Miss Gladys Lynn, of Elmwood and Miss Vera McDonald, of Nebraska City.

Two Misses Arrive Monday Two young ladies arrived in the vicinity of Union last Monday, coming from Palyland and looking for good homes, which they were both successful in finding, one with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Creamer and the other with Mr. and Mrs. John Christensen. Both families are delighted with the new arrivals and fortunate indeed are the little strangers to have found such excellent homes.

Purchases Automobile Miss Etta Nickles has purchased a new Chalmers car through a Lincoln agency and is looking forward to many pleasant days with it, as the season is not yet far advanced and all outdoors beckons to the motorist at this time of year.

Mrs. Barrows Doing Nicely T. S. Barrows visited in Omaha Sunday with Mrs. Barrows, who is at the hospital recovering from a recent operation for appendicitis. If she continues to improve as she has since the operation, she will be able to return home within a week or ten days at the most.

Showers at Frank Ronne Home Friends and neighbors of the newly married couple, Lee Heneger and Miss Mary Allen, whose wedding occurred about a week ago, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ronne Tuesday night for an evening of music and a miscellaneous shower for the newlyweds. The occasion was one of much merriment, and Mr. and Mrs. Heneger were the recipients of many useful gifts. In departing, the guests extended wishes of a long and happy life and declared the evening's enjoyment was one they would not soon forget. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wright and children of Murray.

Much Grain Moving Marion Worthman, J. H. Brown and Frank Reed shelled and delivered corn to the Farmers Elevator company last week. There is considerable grain, both corn and wheat, being sold at this time. During the past week the Farmers elevator received 14,000 bushels of wheat, while on Tuesday alone there was delivered at the same institution 6,000 bushels of corn. With the amount of grain going to market and the stock shipments, there should be a noticeable improvement in the money situation. True, there is much to be paid, and there will be none too much left after the overhead expenses are paid, but still business cannot help but be improved as a result.

Spent Day at Riverview Park John Berger, who has been visiting in Nebraska with his brother, Nelson, and his mother and two sisters, drove over for a visit in Murray and were joined by Henry Ost and wife, of near Memphis, J. H. Brown and family, Mrs. E. M. Steiner and her daughter, Mildred and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Berger and the entire party went to Omaha Sunday for a picnic at Riverview park, where a most enjoyable time was had. From Omaha John Berger accompanied his daughter, Mrs. Henry Ost and husband, to their home near Memphis for a week's visit.

A French widow and mother desired very much to marry a certain man who declined to marry her because she had children. If that was all that was holding him back, she reasoned, the problem was comparatively simple. She drowned one of her sons and the other says she attempted to drown him. Even after going to all that trouble she didn't get a husband.

A FUNNY STORY.

"Moo, moo," said Mrs. Cow, "I have a funny story to tell." And Mrs. Cow smiled a very funny cow smile.

Her big eyes looked at some of the other cows and she said: "Gather around me, Cows, and listen to my funny story."

So very slowly the cows got up and came over by Mrs. Cow, and listened to the story she had to tell.

"You know," said Mrs. Cow, "we give milk to the city people. Yes, the milk that we give is given to the city people."

"I don't know that I should actually use the word 'given' for I don't believe the milk is given away."

"But we give the milk away, and then the milk is sold to the city people."

"Of course we shouldn't expect to be paid for the milk we give, as we are given board and lodging (which is very apt to be out-of-door lodging) in return for the milk we give."

"I am not complaining when I speak of the out-of-door lodging for we usually like that kind best."

"And we are given excellent board and a lovely meadow for our home."

"Now, there are a number of us on different big farms who give this milk in return for board and lodging. Then the milk is sent to the city and the city people have it left in bottles by their doors in the morning."

"But the joke is that the milk company which sells our milk to the city people, tells all the city people that they are keeping tabs of, or looking after, 70,000 cows."

"That in itself isn't the joke. A joke should always come at the end of a funny story, or else it isn't a very funny story."

"No one wants their jokes in the middle of a story, or I've never heard of anyone who did."

"But I am coming to the end of my story, and I am coming to the joke."

"The joke is that even in the city they like to hear about cows. Isn't that a joke on them? They like to know that their milk comes from fine healthy cows who eat right and who are well looked after, and who are watched over by excellent farmers and inspectors and by cow doctors who see that we live in healthful surroundings."

"They like to know all this, and so the milk company tells the people all this."

"But they tell them by writing it in notices or advertisements in the newspapers."

"I do think it is a funny joke to think that men and women who are away from the country and who rather think they're very much superior to cows have come to the conclusion that it is interesting to read in the evening paper about the 70,000 cows and how they are being looked after."

"Not only do they read about society in the city papers, and not only do they read about the money which can be made or lost as the case may be, but they read about cows, good, every-day cows. That's a joke on them! They thought they could leave cows alone and have their city life without a thought of cows, but they found they wanted our milk in the first place, for the city people drink a lot of milk."

"And now they're anxious to hear about us, very anxious to hear about us."

"They can't get away from the country and the cows. Ha, ha, ha!"

"I heard of some housekeepers who went to a school which taught all about housekeeping," said Miss Cow. "It shows that people aren't so superior to animals and little creatures after all. They must ask us for help, and they must learn about our ways."

"I'd hardly call cows little creatures," said Mrs. Cow. "Moo, moo, I'd hardly do that."

"I was speaking of us as animals, and of the bees as little creatures, moo, moo," said Miss Cow.

"I see, moo, moo, I see," said Mrs. Cow.

"You have big enough eyes to see with, too," said Miss Cow, grinning a slow, cowlike grin.

Alas, for Example.

Father—I hear, my boy, that you have lately told your mother several falsehoods. This grieves me to the heart. Always tell the truth, even though it may bring suffering upon you. You will promise me?

Boy—Yes, father.

Father—Very well. Now go and see who is knocking at the door. If it's the landlord say I'm not at home.

SUFFERS MISFORTUNE

The trip of Rev. A. G. Hollowell and family toward the west on their vacation outing seems to be marred by a number of unfortunate incidents that have held them back several days on the journey. When near Hastings the car was repaired and when they reached Kearney, the sister of Mrs. Hollowell was taken sick and it was necessary to remain there until Saturday before the trip could be resumed.

The auto party then cranked up the faithful Ford and continued on their way to Gillette, Wyoming, and their friends here have so far received no more word as to their journey, but are trusting that the party has been able to lose the jinx that seems to have followed them.

Picnic at Cedar Creek Last Evening Is One of the Most Pleasant Social Events of Year

Last evening the members of the Y. M. B. C. of the First Methodist church decided to seek relief from the torrid atmosphere of the city in the cool and pleasant scenes near Cedar Creek and 45 of the young men were loaded into cars at the church at 6:30 and taken to the scene of the festivities near the sand pits just north of Cedar Creek.

The preliminary arrangements had been looked after by the committee composed of Jess Perry and George Brinklow and they had made careful canvass of the available cars and had ample room for the members of the party when the signal to start was given. Messrs Perry and Brinklow together with Ward Whelan and L. H. Cushman were also drafted on the refreshment committee at the picnic grounds and their efforts aided in completing this important part of the program.

The festivities were staged in the grove just north of the east lake and here the members of the party prepared a fine large campfire over which the venies were roasted preparatory to being transformed into sandwiches and with the ride in the fresh bracing air the members of the party soon made deep inroads on the store of good things provided for them.

Bathing served as the chief amusement of the evening and all of the party came provided with their bathing suits and soon the waters of the lake presented an animated scene as the members sported in the cool and comforting waters.

When the joy of bathing had been enjoyed for some time the jubilant members of the party gathered on the shore and enjoyed a real "sing" with all kinds of pep and the songs of yesterday and today were given with great animation and spirit by the jolly bunch and it was unanimously voted that of the many pleasant occasions that the class have enjoyed together this was one of the most delightful.

When the good old man moon was shedding his peaceful rays over hill and dale the jolly party returned to the cars and strated homeward feeling somewhat tired but also delighted that they had been able to enjoy an occasion of this kind and trusting that there might be many more in store in the future.
