You doubtless know the old tale of the lad who asked his father what Fortune says when it knocks the once at every man's door, and received this reply—"Son, let's see your bank book." Now, the moral of this story is more applicable than today.

It's the man who saves that forges ahead. What class are you headed for? Open that account with the Nehawka Bank today.

That Auto Lens Law The recent law passed by the last legislature covering the use of prescribed auto lenses and which is intended to make the driving of cars at night as safe as in daylight, was sponsored by A. E. Sturm, the Cass county representative and already its provisions are proving a boon to the drivers of the state.

The number of accidents resulting from the new high powered electric headlights and fast driving made some measure of relief imperative and the new law seems to fill the bill. Among its other provisions, is one prohibiting the use of spotlights. This is also covered by the spotlight never was used much for any legitimate purpose, many drivers turning it into windows at night or into the face of approaching motorists. Safe and sane drivers of cars all over the state will welcome the new law in its entirety, including the spotlight provision.

The Ice Question Vexing The problem of an adequate ice supply for the summer season is one that presents itself most forcibly to the people of Nehawka as well as many other towns throughout the country. The general shortage of this year but serves to increase the grievous condition. Time was in the not far distant past when ice houses were filled and preparations made for the impending hot weather, but the advent of the artificial ice making machinery and the comparatively mild winters of the past few years have made people more prone to trust to the resources of summer.

In conversation with a local citizen who is in the habit of putting up his individual supply of ice for the summer, he stated that one is required to have the ice house, that would cost in the neighborhood of $100, then he must pay from $40 to $50 each season for having it filled, and in the summer handle the ice from its place of store to the refrigerator himself. His idea of relief is through the storing of sufficient to supply the needs of the town, or for a number to go together and put up enough for their combined needs.

As the situation now exists everyone is out of ice, the more urgent needs being met by importing the artificial brand from either Nebraska City or Plattsmouth, and then only a meagre supply can be obtained due to the plants at both places being taxed about to capacity in furnishing their own patrons. In the meantime business languishes for lack of ice, and on that brought in the cost becomes almost prohibitive.

The time is ripe for a proposal looking toward a community storage house and the forming of an artificial lake near the Weeping Water, from which adequate ice could be cut to supply the needs of next summer in this vicinity. The cost would not be great compared with the advantages, and if this course is not pursued the next and only solution lies in the erection of an artificial ice plant here.

In this connection it may be said that such a plant, with a cold storage room operated in connection might prove both successful and profitable. Fruit from the commercial orchards in this vicinity could be successfully stored by the growers right here at home, and released as the prices warrant, thus giving the growers the advantage sought by the commission men when they buy and ship the apple crop to points where cold storage facilities are available. In any event it is high time to begin considering the ice problem along some line that will bring relief next year.

Ship Car Load of Mixers The Sheldon Manufacturing company last week shipped to points over the county a car load of their celebrated concrete mixers. In addition a consignment of several went out for Benno Ayres, South America. The Sheldon mixer is one of the best on the market and is selling at a price that makes it greatly in demand all over the country.

The Grain Proposition Here While other places over the county have suffered on account of the local elevators to handle the grain, the warehouses here have been able to accommodate all that was brought in, although there were times when sixteen or seventeen hours work a day were necessary to keep it out of the way. The heavy run of wheat is now over, and a general unloading of corn is looked for.

Will Move to Nehawka The house Nicholas Opp moved to Nehawka last fall and has been having overhauled and rebuilt is nearly ready for occupancy. As soon as the finishing touches are put on the place will move his family here from Union, where they have been compelled to reside for some time on account of the scarcity of houses here.

Work with Nehawka Friends Everyone living here should have a direct interest in Nehawka. The Nehawka Bank, which is the financial institution of Nehawka, is ever on the alert to advance the best interests of the community and you can do no better than work in conjunction with them to that end. Co-operate by keeping a creditable balance in the bank, then when you need their assistance you will find the institution ready and willing to aid your enterprise.

Will Engage in Business Truman Tysor and Wayne Ackley, two salesmen who have been with the Sheldon Department store for some time, resigned last week, and their places have been filled by Messrs. Merrill Sheldon and Chester Stone. Mr. Tysor is returning to his old home at Riverton, Iowa, where he will engage in business for himself, while Mr. Ackley will remain in Nehawka for the present at least.

IS NOT TOO LATE TO CONVERT INSURANCE

New Time Limitation for Reinstatement of War Risk Insurance Has Been Announced.

A six months' additional period of grace is now being allowed former holders of War Risk Term insurance who have allowed their policies to lapse.

An earlier ruling allowed reinstatement only up to July 1, 1921, in the case of insurance which had lapsed before July 1, 1920. By the new ruling—Treasury Decision 67—the reinstatement period is lengthened to January 1 next.

The new decision specifies that term insurance which has lapsed or been cancelled may, regardless of how long the applicant has been discharged, be reinstated or reconverted (or converted) to United States Government life insurance at any time prior to January 1, 1922, under conditions substantially as follows:

1. In all cases the applicant must tender his application at least one month's premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated (or reinstated and converted), one of these premiums to cover the month of grace immediately following his lapsed and during which he was protected and the other as the unpaid premium on the insurance to be reinstated.

2. The applicant must also comply with the following requirements with reference to health:

(a) When application for reinstatement (or reinstatement and conversion) is made within three calendar months after the insurance has lapsed or been cancelled, including the calendar month for which the unpaid premium was due, the applicant need only make statement in his written application that he is in as good health as he was when his insurance lapsed, and no physical examination will be required.

(b) When insurance has lapsed or been cancelled more than three months, and yet within six calendar months, including the month for which the unpaid premium is due, the reinstatement or reinstatement and conversion may be made provided the applicant is in good health and so states in his application, and that he substantiates this statement by a short medical certificate made at the applicant's expense by a reputable physician licensed to practice medicine.

(c) After the expiration of six calendar months from the date of lapsed and at any time prior to January 1, 1922, insurance may be reinstated provided that the applicant is in good health and so states in his application and provided further that such application is substantiated by a report of a full medical examination, made at the applicant's expense by a reputable physician licensed to practice medicine.

Nineteen Thousand Acres to be Released in September—Many Will Try for Farms.

Mitchell, Neb., July 28.—Two hundred and twenty-two farms will be opened September 9 to homestead entry by soldiers of the world war, on the North Platte Irrigation project, Wyoming, and one week later, September 16, fifty-seven farms will be thrown open under the Shoshone project in the same state. About 19,000 acres of land are included in the two openings. For sixty days no one but soldiers of the world war will be permitted to make filings on those farms.

North Platte project was a vast range occupied by nomadic herds of cattle, but national reclamation has opened a marvelous change in that section. The landscape is now dotted with hundreds of prosperous farm homes, and a hundred thousand acres are producing valuable crops of alfalfa, sugar beets, corn and potatoes. Numerous towns have been established and railroads have extended their branches to connect the valley with the country's great markets. Dairying has become a profitable industry. More than $4,500,000 worth of crops were produced on the project in 1920. The Shoshone in the northwestern part of the state is in a region of great scenic beauty and has delightful and healthful climate and fertile soil. Detailed information concerning the farms and the method of obtaining them may be secured by writing to the Project Manager, U. S. R. S., Mitchell, Neb.

NORTHCLIFFE BARRED AT BRITISH EMBASSY

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Lord Northcliffe, the British publisher, now in the United States, in a statement issued here tonight said that "for reasons of which he is not aware," invitations extended him to attend a dinner there tonight had been withdrawn.

"Knowing the methods in India of Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary," the statement declared, "Lord Northcliffe is pretty certain that Lord Curzon has adopted those methods here."

The British publisher's statement conveyed the impression that the matter involved in the reported cancellation of invitations was an outgrowth of the controversy between Lord Northcliffe and Lord Curzon with regard to news rights in the British foreign office. Some after President Harding made his overture for a disarmament conference, the London Times, leading paper, published by Northcliffe, opposed the suggestion that Lord Curzon be appointed one of the British delegates to the proposed conference, and attacked both the foreign secretary and Premier Lloyd George.

This attack was followed by suspension of privileged rights enjoyed for years by the Times in the obtaining of news from the British foreign office.
