ONE OF THE PIONEER BUSINESS MEN DIES

John Waterman, Familiar Figure Here in Business for Fifty Years, Passes Away

From Tuesday's Daily.
Last night one of the pioneer business men of Plattsmouth passed to his final reward—John Waterman, who has for the past year been in very poor health and whose condition in the last few months has been quite critical owing to the infirmities of his years, he being some eighty-two years of age.
John Waterman was born in Albany county, New York, March 3, 1836, and grew to manhood in that state where his father, H. A. Waterman, was engaged in farming, and in 1860 John Waterman departed for the west to seek his home in the newer portion of the United States and located at Ottawa, Illinois, where in 1862 he was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Clark, and the family later removed to Buda, Cass county, Illinois, where they resided until March 2, 1870 when they removed to Plattsmouth, Nebraska, where Mr. Waterman and his father engaged in the lumber business, under the firm name of H. A. Waterman & Son and which continued until the death of the father and the business was then continued under the name of John Waterman up to a few years ago when failing health compelled the retirement of the veteran lumber dealer and since which time he had led a retired life at the home. Mr. Waterman was the chief mover in providing Plattsmouth with a first class modern theatre that was erected in the eighties on the site now occupied by the building where the Journal, H. M. Soennichsen and William Holly now have their establishments, and this theatre, the Waterman opera house, was considered one of the best in the state. It was destroyed by fire in 1892 and the present building erected on the site.

A gentleman of the greatest courtesy, Mr. Waterman will be missed from the life of the city in which he was for fifty years an active figure and his many acts of kindness to all with whom he came in contact will long be remembered. He leaves to mourn his death two daughters, Mrs. Ida Wagner, Miss Alma Waterman, both residing in this city and one grandson, Earl Wagner of Detroit, Michigan. The wife passed away a number of years ago.

The funeral services will be held at the late home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 and the body laid to rest at the Oak Hill cemetery.
In the sorrow that has come to them the daughters and the grandson will have the deep sympathy of the entire community and of a large circle of old friends on many years standing.
A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man an unhappy slave. For impure blood and sluggish liver use Burdock Blood Bitters. On the market 35 years. $1.25 a bottle.

STORM AT UNION BRINGS MUCH GRIEF

High Water From Weeping Water Creek Causes Tourists Trouble In Getting Through

The heavy rains of Friday night and Saturday in and near Union has caused a great deal of annoyance and grief to the automobilists that came through that portion of the country and also to a large number of the residents of the vicinity of the overflowed Weeping Water creek. There was 3½ inches of rain on Friday night and Saturday and Sunday added an additional inch to the flood water that swept down from the hills surrounding the Weeping Water valley and the result was that the bottoms west and south of Union suffered a severe overflow. The road from the village west to the bridge near the pumping station on the west was covered by several feet of water and the farmers were kept busy towing autos through the small sized lake to the higher land in the town and from where the parties could continue their journey. Some 200 cars were reported as being brought in the town in the time of the overflow.

South of Union a number of the farm houses were surrounded by water and the home of John Armstrong had six inches of water on the floor of the lower rooms while between the house and the Missouri Pacific tracks the water was deep enough to float a horse with ease. The homes of W. H. Porter and Stephen Copenhaver were also sufferers from the high water and the result was that they found much difficulty in getting in and out of their homes. Tom McQuinn lost a number of valuable hogs through the effect of the high water which was the worst for years.

The home of H. L. Hansen was unroofed by the storm Friday and the whole interior of the house was water soaked and the plastering as well as a large part of the furnishings of the house were soaked by the water.
The best results are obtained from the carefully written ad placed in the printer's hands in time to permit of artistic "set-up." Don't neglect your advertising or compose it hurriedly if you would get the greatest value for the money you expend.
