FINE PIECE OF MACHINERY

From Friday's Daily.

This afternoon the L. C. Sharp Co. of this city shipped to Minneapolis, one of the fine and latest types of butter cutting machines, which this company has placed on the market and which will be on exhibition at the national dairy show to be held in the Minnesota city next week. This buttercutter has been built here in the local shop especially for the exposition and is finished in the most attractive way. It has been enameled in white with gilt stripings and the cutting part of the machine has been finished in nickel, making it a very beautiful machine in every way and one well worthy of the Sharp factory. The buttercutters turned out here have been recognized over the country as one of the best types of this line of machinery and one that gives the greatest satisfaction wherever it has used. The machine is certainly a great advertisement of one of the leading industries of this city.

FINE LITTLE SON

From Friday's Daily.

This noon when Herman Reichstadt, the shoe repairer, returned from the city he found awaiting him a fine little ten pound son who had arrived at the home at 9 o'clock this morning. The mother and little one are doing nicely and Herman is certainly proud over the happy event.

ADVISES THEY WILL REM-EDY HITCHING POST EVIL

Plattsmouth, Sept. 22.

Editor Journal: Some time since a complaint was made by a farmer that there were no hitching posts in town. We beg to advise you that as soon as the paving is done at the alfalfa mill, a full line of posts will be placed west of the mill along the shady bluff—good posts with substantial chain.

Also the mill company invites all farmers who wish to park their outfits to drive in the vacant lot opposite the mill, make yourselves at home and don't forget the big alfalfa mill across the street erected for the benefit of the farmers and community in general, the finest equipped mill in the west—all new method machinery designed and built right here in Plattsmouth by the L. C. Sharp Manufacturing company. Drop into the machine shop also and see the finest plant in the west. Everybody welcome at any time.

We want to exchange ideas with our farmers. We like to exchange ideas. If we exchange dollars, we both have a dollar, but if we exchange ideas, we both have two ideas. There is nothing like getting together and getting acquainted.

HONOR THE FLAG OF YOUR COUNTRY

Hats off and Honor to the Living Representation of the Goodness of Your Homeland

When you see the Stars and Stripes displayed, stand up and take off your hat.

Somebody may titter. It is in the blood of some to deride all expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the street and stagger drunken in public places, and the bystanders will not pay much attention to you; but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God or if you should stand bareheaded while a company of old soldiers marches by with flags to the breeze, some people will think you are showing off.

But don't you snarl! When Old Glory comes along, salute, and let them think what they please! When you hear the band play "The Star-Spangled Banner" while you are in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up, even if you arise alone; stand there, and don't be ashamed of it, either!

For of all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none other so full of meaning as the flag of this country. That piece of red, white and blue means five thousand years of struggle upwards. It is the full-grown flower of ages of fighting for liberty. It is the century plant of human hope in bloom.

Your flag stands for humanity, for an equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course, we haven't arrived yet at that goal; there are many injustices yet among us, many senseless and cruel customs of the past still clinging to us, but the only hope of righting the wrongs of our bosoms by the sight of that flag.

Other flags mean a glorious past, this flag a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it is the flag of our children, and of all children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow. It is not the flag of your king. It is the flag of yourself and of all your neighbors.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come, as you see it flying from the masts of ships on all the seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worthier emotion. Reverence it as you would reverence the signature of the Deity.

Listen, son! The band is playing the national anthem—"The Star-Spangled Banner"! They have let loose Old Glory yonder. Stand up—and others will stand with you.

CASS COUNTY MAN DIES AT OMAHA FRIDAY

SHERMAN RAINEY PASSES AWAY AT HOSPITAL FOLLOWING A SHORT ILLNESS.

WAS FIFTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

Leaves Wife and Six Children, Aged Mother, Eight Brothers and Four Sisters to Mourn

The death of Andrew Sherman Rainey, one of the well known residents of Rock Bluffs precinct, occurred last evening at the University hospital in Omaha, where the deceased had been for the past week receiving treatment for his illness that was in the nature of a paralytic stroke affecting the lower portion of the body and from the effects of which he gradually grew worse until death came to his relief.

The deceased was born May 6, 1866, in Mills county, Iowa, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson Rainey, were old settlers, and when ten years of age came to Nebraska with the parents, settling at Plattsmouth in 1877, and has for the greater part of his lifetime resided in Cass county. The father of the deceased passed away April 2, 1890.

Mr. Rainey was united in marriage in this city in 1897 to Miss Maggie Matthews and to this union six children were born, who, with the wife and mother survive to mourn the passing of this good man. The children are Harry, John, Edna, DeForest, Jackson and Bessie. Besides the immediate family, the deceased leaves the aged mother who resides in this city, eight brothers and four sisters, as follows: John, of Pacific Junction; Richard of Thurman, Iowa; Mrs. Nora Mapes, Westfield, Iowa; W. H. and J. P., of Plattsmouth; Mrs. Edna Ingham, of Alden, Iowa; Mrs. Ida M. Munn, of Elba, Nebraska; Loren of Oklahoma City; Wood, of Plattsmouth; Floyd of Shell Lake, Wisconsin; Ellisworth and Ann, of Plattsmouth.

The body of Mr. Rainey was brought here this afternoon on No. 24, and was interred in the home of W. H. Rainey in this city, where the funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

CASS COUNTY GREAT PLACE FOR POULTRY

A. B. Rutledge of Nehawka Writes on Method of Selecting Fowls For Best Exhibits.

We are all very well aware of the great live stock industry in Cass county. Nowhere, perhaps, will better quality or greater numbers be found in all branches of live stock breeding than is scattered over the fertile hills and farms of our county.

There is a variety of poultry which wish to call the attention of the people because of its connection with the farm, city and village life of our county. The poultry industry has outgrown its swaddling clothes and towers as a giant among the agricultural pursuits of our county and state. It is not today a mere side issue, but has become one of the specialty lines of farm pursuits. Exclusive poultry farms are being established rapidly with greater promise of success. Government and state demonstration farms are taking a leading part in all branches of poultry raising. Farmers and city people are fast taking up standard bred poultry and working with their favorite breed or breeds.

Not everyone is familiar with the meaning of Standard Bred poultry, hence the writer will try to enlighten those who care to know more about Standard Bred poultry, especially those who are breeding one or more of the many varieties of our domestic feathered tribe with a view to maintaining the characteristics and requirements of the Standard.

The organization of the American Poultry association was effected at Buffalo, N. Y., in February, 1873, by delegates from different state and county associations, prominent breeders, fanciers and other interested persons from different sections of the United States and Canada. At that time the fundamental object of this organization was to standardize the different varieties of domestic and ornamental fowls, and to that end, a complete Standard of Excellence for all varieties then recognized, was formulated and adopted which was recommended as the guide for judging all poultry exhibitions.

The American Poultry association has since greatly broadened its scope until now it is the recognized and authoritative method employed in judging all classes and breeds of fowls.

The rules of judging and scoring according to this Standard of Perfection are not known to many other than those whom we term the "Chicken Fanciers." The fancier is familiar with the standard requirements of his fowls and breeds them along these lines, according to his ability to interpret the Standard, hence we see the uniformity of color and breed characteristics in all the many varieties and breeds of chickens, geese, turkeys, ducks, etc.

Realizing that there are some people who would like to exhibit their poultry at the Cass county fair next week, we are more sure of making a creditable showing, the writer will lend his aid in helping them select the birds that will give credit to the show and their owners. To enable those who desire to bring their best birds, it will be necessary to choose those free from disqualifications, because a judge will not place a ribbon on a disqualified bird.

For Barred Plymouth Rocks the disqualifications are: Positive enamel white in ear lobes, red feathers in any part of plumage, two or more black feathers in primaries or secondaries of wing, or main tail feathers, legs other than yellow—dark spots not disqualifying, stubs of feathers on legs, toes or feet, comb other than single, badly lopped or twisted comb.

White Plymouth Rocks: Shanks and toes other than yellow or dusky yellow, positive enamel white in ear lobes, black or other colored feathers in any part of plumage, combs other than single, badly lopped or twisted combs, stubs on legs, toes or feet.

White Wyandottes: Red, buff, or positive black in any part of plumage, shanks and feet other than yellow, positive enamel white in ear lobes, comb other than rose.

Buff Wyandottes: Positive enamel white in ear lobes, legs and feet other than yellow, stubs on legs, feet or toes, comb other than rose.

Single Comb Rhode Island Reds: Positive enamel white covering more than one-fourth of ear lobe, one or more entirely white feathers showing in outer plumage, shanks and feet other than yellow or reddish horn, badly lopped or twisted comb, stubs on legs, toes or feet.

Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds: The same disqualifications apply, except the specimen must have a rose comb.

Buff Orpingtons: Positive enamel white in ear lobes, covering more than one-third the surface, yellow beak, shanks on skin, shanks other than white or pinkish white, comb other than single.

Brown Leghorns: Single or Rose Comb disqualifications are red covering more than one-third of surface of ear lobes in cockerels or pullets, positive white in main tail feathers, sickles or secondaries of wing, shanks and feet other than yellow, stubs on legs or toes badly lopped comb on male of S. C.

White Leghorns: Single and Rose Comb disqualifications are feathers other than white in any part of plumage, shanks other than yellow, legs and toes must be free from stubs, badly lopped or twisted comb in S. C. males, red covering more than one-third of ear lobes.

Black Langshans: Yellow feet or yellow skin in any part, comb other than single, badly lopped or twisted comb in either sex, outside toes not feathered to the last joint.

Mottled Anconas: Single or Rose Comb disqualifications are red in ear lobes covering more than one-half of surface, red feathers in any part of plumage, shanks and feet other than black, stubs on legs or feet, lopped or twisted comb in male.

Black Minorcas: Rose or Single Comb disqualifications are red in ear lobes covering more than one-third of surface, red in any part of plumage, shanks and feet other than black, stubs on legs or feet, absence of distinct bars across wings.

In addition to the disqualifications stated above, any specimen having crooked back, or breast bone, twisted wing, deformed beak, wry tail, clipped flights, plucked feathers, side sprigs on comb, squirrel tail, rose comb falling to one side, or so large as to obstruct the sight are all disqualifications, and no specimen of this kind should be shown. Bring only your best birds and let's show the world and Cass county a real poultry show.

Franklin.

NATION TO HONOR WORLD WAR HEROES

Harding Calls for Halt of Business at the Burial of Unknown Soldier at Arlington

Washington, Sept. 13.—The nation will pause for two minutes on Armistice day to honor the unknown dead of the great war.

Detailed plans for the ceremony at Arlington national cemetery on that day, when the body brought back from France is to be buried, were made public by the War department and include a proclamation by President Harding calling for the 2-minute halt at noon thru-out the nation, to be devoted to prayer and reverent memories for the dead.

Body to Lie in State

The body returned from France on the cruiser Olympia will reach Washington after nightfall November 11. It will then be escorted by a great official mourning party to Arlington cemetery, the line of march being guarded thru-out its length by troops.

The mourning party will include all living holders of the congressional medal of honor who may desire to come, one war veteran out of every 10,000 who served from each state in the great war; and officer and an enlisted man from each unit of the army and navy and representatives of the American Legion and other veteran organizations and of the various patriotic societies.

All Posts to Fire Salute

From American military posts everywhere in the world minute guns of mourning will sound from sunrise until after the burial ceremonies in Washington.

Plans for the ceremony were made public by Major General Harbord, acting secretary of war and chief of staff, in absence of Secretary Weeks and General Pershing. They were drawn up under General Harbord's supervision and provide with the detailed completeness of army orders in the field for every phase of the solemn ceremony with which the nation will pay its tribute to the men whose identity as well as whose lives were lost on the battlefields of France.
