PICTURE PLAY IS A TRIUMPH OF ART

De Mille Production "The Affairs of Anatol" Proves All that was Claimed for It.

From Tuesday's Daily
Those who saw the production last night at the Parmele theatre of the Affairs of Anatol, were unanimous in voting it one of the greatest pictures that has been produced on the screen and a triumph of the handiwork of Cecil B. De Mille, one of the geniuses of the modern photoplay.

The settings of the play are on a lavish and magnificent scale and with the usual De Mille detail carefully worked out so there is no note of luxury or magnificence overlooked in the background against which the wonderful array of stars work out the story of the play itself.

The Paramount company has arrayed its wonderful collection of stars in the one play that makes it a feature seldom seen and the notable in the cast alone is something that is seldom seen. As "Anatol" DeWitt Spencer, Wallace Reid has the chief male character of the play and as "Vivian" his wife, Gloria Swanson is given the opportunity of some splendid work and a display of beauty and wonderful costumes that add to the artistic touches of the play.

In the roles of the young farmer and his frivolous wife Monte Blue and Agnes Ayres give some very forceful acting that holds the close attention of the audience and into their lives come disagreements and finally the fickle Anatol, who eventually proves the unwitting means of their salvation. Bebe Daniels, cast as "Satan Synne," presides over the lavishly arranged "Devil's Cloister" and also is the cause of additional trouble for Anatol of the tender heart. The role of the "jazz girl," as played by Wanda Hawley, is a very entertaining part of the performance and gives this beautiful actress splendid opportunity to display her ability and also an array of the most pleasing costumes amid the lavish and beautiful surroundings.

As the Hindu mystic Theodora Kooloff is up to his usual finished standard as an actor and his part is given in a flawless manner throughout. Polly Moran, Raymond Hatton and Julia Faye also have minor parts in the performance that give them an opportunity of showing their ability on the screen. As the friend of Anatol, who attempts to smooth his matrimonial seas, Elliott Dexter is most pleasing.

The management of the Parmele is showing this picture in the second week of its release from the producer and at the usual house prices, while almost every theatre in the country has raised the admission to care for the extra cost of the big production, and Messrs Moore and Clويد are deserving of the highest praise for giving this wonderful picture to their patrons at the usual admission prices and should have the support of the amusement loving public of the city in their efforts.

MAY LAUNCH SCHOOL OF BOXING HERE SOON

Kid Graves of Omaha in Plattsmouth to Arrange for Starting School for Boxing Instruction

The one time welterweight champion boxer of the world, Kid Graves, formerly a resident of Plattsmouth, was a visitor here Monday for a few hours investigating the probabilities of opening a school of boxing here. Graves was the welter title holder four years and has been connected with the sport for nearly sixteen years, over two years of which he was the chief of the U. S. army boxing instructors and inspector general for the commission on training camp activities, so it may be judged that he is a competent instructor and should do well here.

In commenting on the matter, Graves said he would guarantee that when one completed his course of 25 lessons, he would be capable of defending himself in any company.

The course will take about fifteen weeks and the cost will be less than in any city in the country where boxing instructors are in operation. His will be the only academy in the state of Nebraska and it is likely that when he opens up for business, he will have pupils from other parts of the state as well as local talent.

No definite location has been decided upon, as yet, but two or three places are in view for the school. Graves will be in town again Thursday afternoon to enroll any pupils that may care to take up the course. The terms will be $5 down and $5 per week until the course is paid for at $45 per course.

FINE LITTLE SON

From Monday's Daily
This morning at an early hour, the stork made a flying visit to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Sandin in this city and left in their care a fine young son, who is of the regulation weight and with the mother is doing very nicely. The occasion that has brought a son and heir to the Sandin home has more than pleased the chief of the fire department and he is stepping very high as a result of the event.

NOTICE TO POLICY HOLDERS

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Platte Mutual Insurance company last evening, a new business policy was adopted, whereby in the future the amount of any one risk shall not exceed $1,500, and in the business district not closer than every other place of business. Under those conditions it was considered that Mutual insurance can prosper and give good protection without making assessments. The Platte Mutual has been writing insurance in this city for the past twenty-five years and during all that time had only one assessment, notwithstanding the rate for insurance was about half that of the Old Line companies, hence the patrons of the local company have saved largely on cost of their insurance.

It is a home company and all the money paid for insurance is kept at home and deserves the patronage of everyone who is interested in seeing the company prosper. Boost. A. J. TRILEY.

FUNERAL OF MRS MEISINGER

From Tuesday's Daily
Yesterday afternoon the funeral services of the late Mrs. Jacob Meisinger was held from the St. Paul's church of which the deceased as well as her husband had been devoted members during their lifetime. Rev. H. Kottich, pastor of the church, spoke briefly of the life of the departed and extolled the virtues of her christian life that characterized her entire lifetime and aided in producing a priceless heritage for her family and the friends with whom she had been associated. The choir of the church sang a number of the old and well loved hymns during the service. At the conclusion of the service the body was tenderly borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was laid to rest beside that of the husband.
