Thanksgiving will be along soon.
 A man can laugh at his blunders usually has good credit.
 A rich man's biggest problem is what to do with his son.
 Jealousy is a confession that, if you were tempted, you'd fall.
 Faith would have an easy time if doubt didn't camp on our trail.

Los Angeles is getting a lot of costly advertising that she never ordered.
 Most people think they would have made bigger success at something else.
 Every man is that he is because of what he has done or what he hasn't done.

Thousands must die to supply a reason for putting up a big monument for one man.
 Furthermore, if a man and his wife are one, how is it that they have two opinions?
 Grover Bergdoll won't stay long in Switzerland. They have compulsory service there.

"Publicity doesn't stop divorce," says a sociologist. Well, divorce doesn't stop publicity.
 Those two westerners who were sick enough to rob a circus side show should join one.

Oscar Underwood is none the less a democrat because he can "tote" fair with the opposition.
 Nowadays there's no use in their turning the other cheek; you'd get just as much paint on your hand.

Present-day women's fashions have allowed us to see that a woman's dress is never next to nothing.
 Lemine's announcement that he is tired means that the Russian people are harder to work than they used to be.

Rats cost farmers over two hundred millions of dollars a year. Through the destruction of grain, poultry and buildings.

If Charlie Chaplin is knighted while he is in England, his coat of arms should show two feet rampant on a field of gold.

The girls will not take the men's remarks about bobbed hair too seriously. It merely is the subject of the day, as the ouija board was not long ago. Incidentally, what has become of the ouija board?

Some matches must be made in heaven; they won't start a fire.
 Don't expect a girl to share your lot if it is mortgaged for a car.
 Nobody cares what the world is coming to—just so it does come to!
 Our place among nations of the world seems to be in the stomachs.

Another way to force Japan to disarm is to give her wooden ships.
 Learn from the clock; it passes the time by keeping its hands busy.
 Some boys are glad to get back to school; others can't make the team.
 One reason why tobacco chewing has lost favor is because there are fewer open fire places for disposal of the by-product.

Our idea of a man who doesn't cut much ice is a driver who saws a hundred-pound block into three of fifty pounds each.
 The commonwealth of Alabama has our sincere sympathies. Gov. Kilby has just called the legislature in special session.
 It has just about gotten so in this country that if a dutiful wife laughs at her husband's jokes he thinks he's a humorist.

The woman who centers all her interest in maintaining a permanent wave in her hair is not likely to be a permanent wife.
 To all those who are offering us bonds and stocks for "October investment" we beg to say we have decided to buy a fall hat.
 About the only way for that Kentucky church to enforce its ban on automobile spooning would be to ban automobiles and spoooners.
 This is one year in which Nebraska has paid mighty little attention to politics. But look out for next year! It's going to be a humdinger.
 Speaking of lower prices, you can get a mighty good straw hat now for a dollar. Bathing suits are also being quoted at figures astonishingly low.
 In Russia the dollar is worth about forty thousand rubles. Anyhow, the soviet government goes on the theory that it's great to feel rich on a dime.
 Kissing being a noun both proper and common, this brief compendium gathered from the most reliable sources should prove invaluable. Be prepared!
 We yield to nobody in our admiration for the scientists, but the man of science has not been born who can devise an acceptable substitute for hot buttered biscuits.
 Missouri boasts of a 3,600 car-load watermelon crop during the past summer. Yes, but it's mighty hard to quench the thirst of a man who grows up on beer with a mere watermelon.
 Judging from their published photographs, "Fatty" Arbuckle had some tough-looking sisters at that rum party. A man with so much money ought to have succeeded in getting together a better looking bunch.
 If the government is determined to make all banquets "dry" events it at least ought to have a heart and supply the guests with sufficient drugs to put them in a state of stupor while the orators are working.
 If the suggestion is carried out that all secret societies be investigated along with the Ku Klux Klan, the wives of certain eminent "joiners" are going to have a good deal of fun finding out what their husbands do at the lodge.
 The two debating societies in another town have organized for the session and are casting about for subjects. If they want a real hot one, here it is: "Resolved, that a Married Man who does not Carry Life Insurance gets Better Treatment When Sick, than a Married Man who does Carry Life Insurance." Go to it, boys.

Last year we were all crazy to spend our money—and now we admit it.

Adam was the first and only man to fall for "the only girl in the world."

The squirrel hunting season is open. When in the woods don't act like a nut.

The average man thinks the only thing that could live on his salary is a germ.

Bryan says he will never run for office again. Now we know what excited Mars.

Reformers won't be satisfied until they shut up everything except their mouths.

No, Roscoe, Governor Small, of Illinois, was not arrested for impersonating a statesman.

A treasury report says the average man has $250 in the bank; but the report can't be verified.

China has decided to set her navy to catching fish. It is hoped that the result will be a net gain.

The difference between movies and vaudeville is that at the former the audience does the talking.

Congress cost its hundred and odd million constituents 18c last year. But nobody considers it a bargain at that.

John Barleycorn is the world's most expensive outlaw, and he is growing more costly with each passing day.

It is all right to be merry, but the public will not be satisfied until Congress takes the jokers out of the tariff bill.

Medical beer may never come, but hopeful New Orleans has located an island of salt just off shore, anyhow.

Unemployment among freight cars is decreasing rapidly, and within the next sixty days we will have the usual complaints about car shortage.

They made a mistake in Arbuckle's nickname. It would be more appropriate to call him "Fat Head" Arbuckle. If there was ever a man who has been an easy mark for his friends, Arbuckle belongs in that class.

A New York woman is asking $5,000,000 for "keeping silent about marriage." She is putting the amount low, when you consider what torture it must be for a woman to keep silent, and especially about marriage.

No one regrets the departure of Rev. Hunter, more than we do. During his two years stay in Plattsmouth, we learned to love him, for his many fine traits of character. Benevolence was one of his chief characteristics, and the sick, and the public were not long in finding this out. While the writer lay ill for several weeks on what many thought our death-bed, Brother Hunter was a frequent visitor at our bedside, giving by his presence, cheer for the future. His noble bearing was of that spirit which awakened in our heart a love for this rising young pastor, a love that never can be erased. We are not the only one that deeply regrets the departure of this model christian young man, for all good citizens revere him as a gentleman who was alert to his duty of doing good in the community. We will miss him, yes, we will miss his genial countenance in many ways, and being a young man, we look to a bright future before him. He has the good will of all good people of this city. His work has been that of good in many ways. He is a fine orator, a true believer in the work to which he has been called, and we hope to see the day when he will arise as one of the greatest pulpit orators in the Methodist church conference. Gothenburg is fortunate in this appointment, and the church people of that city will find him a noble gentleman of pleasing appearance and an orator that can fill the pulpit as it should be filled. We say in conclusion Goodbye, Brother Hunter, and may you live to a ripe old age in your chosen profession of doing good to the world's people.

PLEASANT BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Last Sunday the mother, sisters and brothers of Mrs. John Kaufmann surprised her on her 23rd birthday by going to her home to spend the day celebrating the occasion. The guests brought well filled baskets and a delicious noon day repast was spread. After everyone had partaken of a hearty dinner the afternoon was spent with music and social conversation and it was a late hour before the members of the party departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Kaufmann many more happy returns of the day.

Those present on this occasion were Mrs. Minnie Kaffenberger, Julius Hilliker and family, George Steehr and family, John Kaffenberger and family, Adam Kaffenberger and wife, Fred Kaffenberger and family, Mike Kaffenberger and family, August Kaffenberger and family, Clarence Meisinger and family, and John Kaufmann and family.

A SUFFICIENT PROOF

Over 1,320,000 bottles of Triner's Bitter Wine left the shipping room last year. This figure is a sufficient proof that thousands and thousands are convinced of its reliability in case of poor appetite, constipation, headaches and similar stomach troubles. But the same reputation is shared also by all other Triner's remedies, and professional people do not differ in opinion. A physician from Texas wrote us March 31, 1921: "I have used Triner's Liniment and Triner's Antiputrin personally with gratifying results and the superiority in their manufacture places them in a class by themselves." And again on August 27, 1921: "I am highly pleased with results obtained from Triner's Angelica Bitter Tonic, which is being taken by my wife as a general systemic tonic after several weeks sickness with beneficial results."
Triner's Liniment, giving quick results in rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago, Triner's Antiputrin, an excellent gargle and mouth wash, and Triner's Angelica Bitter Tonic are sold at all druggists and dealers in medicines.
