Prohibition has a hard time with an inventive people.

You can't call the game of life just an account of rainfall.

Life is just on darn filling station after another these days.

It takes a lot of horse sense to maintain a stable government.

Just admit you can't and you'll have plenty of others to agree with you.

The only time some dancers are light on their feet is when they sit down.

Moonshine whiskey ages very rapidly, says a chemist. So do those who drink it.

As reformers see it, there's too much latitude in woman's dress and not enough longitude.

"Rum valued at $500,000 dumped into Chicago river," says a news story. Poor, little fish!

Harvard history students are singing their lessons. That's one way to get even with the teacher.

Secretary Mellon wants a tax on checks, but what the country really wants is a check on taxes.

The harvest moon is living up to its great traditions. Never before have we seen a finer moon.

So many people are busy being unemployed that it is extremely hard to get any work done.

Capital and labor would get along better if there weren't so many men trying to get capital without labor.

This is the season of the year the small boys turn lightly to thoughts of who the devil invented arithmetic.

"Kansas Miners Pay the Fiddler." What the Kansas miners should do is stop his pay. Then he'd change his tune.

Another thing that delays the return to normalcy is the theory that business is equipped with a half-starter.

Even in these dry times you occasionally see a man on a street car who is drunk enough to offer a lady his seat.

The government wants $5,000,000,000 for next year. So do we. But the difference is that the government will get it.

Congress has voted to protect home brewers from revenue agents. All they need now is protection from the undertakers.

Senator Moses informs the senate that taxation should be uniform and just. It is feared that Senator Moses has not been following the recent developments of the science of taxation, or he would know that the approved axiom now is that taxes need not necessarily be just so long as they are sufficient and the taxpayer is too stunned to protest.

At the present rate of exchange the salary of the president of Germany amounts to only $85 per month. No wonder there has been very little competition for his job thus far. The President of Mexico has issued a decree that jobless men shall ride free on the railroad trains. They have been doing that in this country for many years.

Senator Borah scores President Harding for his frank letter in which he said people should not expect too much of the disarmament conference. Mr. Borah says "the people should not be led to expect little or nothing of it." But the president may be wiser than the senator in this instance. It is a mistake to lead people to expect too much of any international conference. It might be well to fool the people this time by accomplishing more than they are perparing to expect.

Everybody should learn the Latin language. Just think of all the money you'd save on prescriptions.

The worst mistake some girls ever made was in quitting business college when they found out they were to be married.

Love is just one fool thing after another.—Little Rock Gazette. Maybe; usually love is just two fool things after each other.

Our civilization has progressed to the point where a mother no longer examines her child's head when it comes home from school.

Most mothers rock the cradle with their feet. Shall we therefore say, "The foot that rocks the cradle is the foot that rules the world?"

Of course it is all right for a girl to smoke cigarettes if they improve her mouth, but if she wants to look manish she should chew terbacker.

Personally, we have never craved riches, but some day we hope to have money enough to dress like the clerks in our popular haberdasheries.

One of the most uncalled for things we have ever heard of is the bulletin just issued by the government, entitled "How to Keep the Cellular Dry."

Ordinary expenditures of the government decreased 25 million dollars in September as compared with August. September, you know, was one day shorter than August.

The following outrage from the Atchison Globe may be somewhat mitigated by circumstances: "If the threatened railroad strike leaves a gulf between the food supply and the demand, the country may still be able to Ford it."

There's a reason for everything. The price of ice cream and sodas advanced because sugar went as high as 30 cents a pound. They have not come down in price with sugar, however, because—because—well because of the "shortage" in skirts.

Instead of growing deeper, the Bergdoll mystery is clearing up, with the disappearance of the investigation papers. Now, on finding the pot of gold, the searchers have only to look at the opposite end of the rainbow. There will be the papers.

Instead of sneering at congress for trying to place the taxes where they will alienate the fewest votes, perhaps we ought to be glad congress does so. There is no limit to what an aggregation of spendthrifts would do were it not for the restraining fear of votes.

About all the papers are accepting normalcy as a very good word and are using it. A newspaper man dug up the word "boom" and before long it had entrance in the most correct household. So we might as well take our medicine. Normalcy is here to stay, no matter what it means.

CASE IS DISMISSED

The $21,219.70 personal damage suit of W. Robert Good, an Otoe county farmer, against the Missouri Pacific railroad and R. B. Baker, a locomotive engineer, was settled and dismissed Monday afternoon. The settlement was made at Omaha, and the amount was not stated. The plaintiff was bound for Nebraska City April 1, 1920, with a motor truck loaded with hogs when the truck was struck and demolished by a Missouri Pacific freight train at a grade crossing. Good was not hurt but his truck was smashed and his hogs scattered along the highway. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had negligently constructed the approach to the crossing in such a manner that it acted as an obstruction, besides no warning bell or whistle was sounded by the engineer, R. B. Baker, the engineer, was made a co-defendant. The petition set out that he was running the locomotive at the time of the accident.

FINE LITTLE DAUGHTER

Last evening the stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaffenberger near this city and left in their care a fine little daughter, who with the mother is now doing very nicely. The occasion has brought much pleasure to the members of the family and Grandpa H. T. Batton of this city is feeling much elated over the advent of the little lady. Mrs. Kaffenberger was formerly Miss Nora Batton of this city.

What say! Going Buddy? Our post colors will be in the big parade at K. C.

A big time is promised both delegates and visitors. If you're going let us know at once, so we can get your reduced fare certificate.

It is probable the regular executive committee meeting of Wednesday night, November 2nd will be advanced to a week later on account of many of the officers and members being in attendance at the National convention.

The Women's Auxiliary has made arrangements to serve a chicken pie supper at the club rooms Armistice day from 5:30 to 7:30. The exercises at the high school begin at 7:30 and the entertainment at Eagles' hall at 8:30.

Carl Wohlfarth and John Wichman, members of the newly appointed "House" committee, have cleaned up the club rooms and mean to keep them in that condition. They are empowered to call out assistance from among the members.

The house burner has been fired intermittently during the past month. Soon it will be time to keep up a steady fire. The rooms are always nice and comfortable now, however, and afford a pleasant place for those who drop in to spend an hour or so during the day or evening.

The election of V. E. Tyler of Nebraska City by the state executive committee as an additional delegate to which Nebraska has become entitled, gives the first congressional district four representatives at the convention—one from Lincoln, Falls City, Nebraska City and Plattsmouth.

Nearly a score of the members who are interested in the success of the Legion are donating a year's subscription each to some popular magazine. As soon as these start coming in there will be plenty of reading material on hand. One comrade has already subscribed for the Daily Journal which is being delivered at the club rooms.

The Armistice day program is being rapidly worked out by Chairman Frank Smith and will include the formal presentation exercises of the state service certificates at the high school auditorium in the early part of the evening followed by a dance and social entertainment at Eagles' hall for all ex-service men and their friends. Detailed announcement will be forthcoming from the committee in a few days.

The special relief committee has secured the co-operation of the Red Cross chapter in providing coats and blankets, while the Legion will provide the quarters to accommodate the unemployed comrades who may be stranded here over night while on their travels in search of work. This does not mean that the bars will be let down to hoboes, for careful scrutiny of each case will be made by the relief committee, headed by Aubrey Duxbury, and worthy applicants will be met with lodging and something to eat.

SALVATION ARMY TO HELP SERVICE MEN

Turns Over Entire Staff in the State to Legion to Aid in Finding Jobs for the Needy.

In an attempt to solve the soldier unemployment problem in Omaha and points in Nebraska, the Salvation Army yesterday, through its secretary, H. E. Rouffis, offered the entire staff of the Salvationists of this state to the American Legion at the executive committee meeting of the Legion held at Lincoln.

The telegram sent by Mr. Rouffis, addressed to State Commander William P. Ritchie, is as follows: "You can count on the full co-operation of the Salvation Army in the state of Nebraska, especially in Omaha, in solving the unemployment problem among ex-service men."

"We offer our entire staff, and our industrial home for feeding and lodging all worthy cases. We will assist you in finding employment and work with your relief committee in every way possible. While the war is over, we do not feel our task has been completed until every ex-service man has been properly taken care of. Yours for service, H. E. ROUFFIS."

Walter Byrne, commander of the Douglas county post of the Legion, is enthusiastic over the offer.

"We are looking in every avenue to assist unemployed soldiers and the housing and feeding offer of the Salvation Army is very liberal and deeply appreciated. The Douglas County post will surely take advantage of this offer if labor conditions warrant. At this point, I might say that the Salvation Army is certainly worthy of support in its coming campaign for funds," said Mr. Byrne.

Edison's WITTY SAYING

Edison once was asked if he did not attribute his success to inspiration. "No," said Edison, "I attribute it to perspiration." Inspiration means in this case awakening, creation of thought; perspiration means sweating for hard work. It is a good many years since hard work was invented, and while thousands of men have tried to reach the goal of success without it—it still stands as the surest, positive way of meeting with good success. If asked about the main cause of the success of Triner's Bitter Wine, the late Joseph Triner would have given the same answer as Edison. Today Triner's Bitter Wine is a remedy known throughout the United States and Canada as the most reliable help in case of poor appetite, constipation, headaches and other stomach troubles. And every customer becomes its sincere propagator by merely stating the facts of sure help. Mr. Henry Niemeyer wrote us for instance from Larchwood, Ia., on Sept. 27: "One of our neighbors told me how Triner's Bitter Wine freed him entirely of his gases and sour stomach. Send it as soon as you can." Ask your druggist or dealer in medicines also about other Triner's remedies and their excellent results.
