

DAKOTA RECALL
TEST OF STRENGTH FOR NONPARTISANS

Independent Voters Will Attempt to Oust Leaders of Townley Organization Next Friday

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 24.—The Non-partisan league, Townley organization which has controlled North Dakota in executive, legislative and judicial departments of government since 1918, faces an acid test in the recall election to be held Friday. Curiously enough, it is the Non-partisan leaders who are called upon to defend a recall election, a theory of state government which was established in North Dakota only after strenuous objection by the faction now making use of it.

Lynn J. Frazier, governor; William Lamke, attorney general, and J. N. Hagen, commissioner of labor, are the state officials who will be ousted from office if the election is won by the Independent Voters association.

When the Townley league first captured the lower house of the legislature in 1916, it was opposed on the grounds that it would bankrupt the state, with its so-called visionary schemes, among which was a revision of the state constitution. The league scrapped the constitution and put in a new one.

The league was built upon the proposition that the milling and elevator interests, associated with North Dakota and Twin City bankers and the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, had robbed farmers by the use of grain grades.

L. V. A. leaders assert that their strength will be maintained in the cities and that they will carry several upstate counties, enough to defeat the league. League leaders are as confident that they will hold the country.

The Bank of North Dakota, thru which practically all the league enterprises, including the state mill, the home building association and state owned elevators, have been financed, is the issue around which the recall election is being fought.

Wm Jameson has been very sick for the past week. He was unable to take any nourishment from Thursday until Monday. He was able to be up and down stairs Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murty returned Thursday evening from their trip to Chicago, Des Moines and Ames, Iowa. Lloyd Wolcott officiated as cashier at the bank during Mr. Murty's two weeks' vacation.

On Sunday, Mrs. Hattie McCormick, a friend of forty years ago of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Clark, accompanied by her son Hiram and daughter, Mable and C. W. Clark, of Union, drove to Weeping Water and spent the day at the Clark home. They brought well filled baskets and the day was spent in talking over "old times" and eating chicken. Mrs. McCormick was the mother of Mrs. Seymour Reed, of Weeping Water.

Wm. F. Cooper met with a serious accident Wednesday night. Near E. L. Norris' farm he ran into the side of a bridge. He was thrown into the windshield, sustaining a cut across the back of his right hand, which severed the tendons of three fingers and badly bruised his right shoulder. The car was badly wrecked. He went to Omaha Thursday and is taking treatment at the State hospital, hoping to regain the use of the three fingers. A cloud of dust obscured his vision, causing the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Joehim and family drove to Washington last Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. Joehim's brother, Reinhard Scheel and family.

Mrs. Frank Schlater, of Platts-mouth arrived Monday to be with her sister, Mrs. William Ossenkop, during the funeral of her foster-father, M. D. Rabby.

Rev. George Jung, formerly pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church southwest of town, now located in Kansas, was here visiting his daughters, Mrs. John Rohrdanz and Mrs. John Hill and families and also his old friends and members of his former congregation the past week.

Albert Meisinger, accompanied by his wife and little son Eugene, was here the latter part of last week visiting his sisters, Mrs. Charles Heim and Mrs. Andrew Schoeman and families. Their home is in Davenport, Iowa, and they drove through to visit his parents in Ppillon, but made stops along the way to visit other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. August Ossenkop drove down from their ranch near Occeto last Sunday for a visit with Mr. Ossenkop's mother, Mrs. Margaret Ossenkop and other relatives and friends. They made the trip in a day, starting about nine in the morning, which is making pretty fast time. George Ossenkop, who has been out in that vicinity on a hunting trip, returned home with them.

The many friends of Mrs. Martin Sjogren will be pleased to know that she was able to have the cast removed from her arm which she had the misfortune to break about six weeks ago. She accidentally broke her left arm at the wrist and it caused her considerable suffering for a time, but it has healed nicely and she is beginning to be able to use it freely again.

Office supplies of all kinds handled at the Journal office.

RUINS OF EGYPT YIELD AGED PAPERS

Documents Written as Early as 7 A. D. Unearthed and are Brought to the United States.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 24.—Prof. Francis W. Kelsey of the University of Michigan has just returned from two years' leave of absence, part of which time was spent in Europe.

Professor Kelsey has brought to the United States one of the most important collections of ancient documents yet discovered. It consists of more than 120 legal papers, dating from the reigns of the Roman emperors, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula and Claudius, together with a few fragments. The documents are all dated, therefore, in the lifetime of Christ or of the Apostles.

They represent a part of the files of a record office in or near the city of Tebtunis in Egypt, and were discovered about four months ago. They are written on papyrus, chiefly in the Greek language, only a few being in Demotic. They were probably covered with sand soon after the record office fell into ruin, and with few exceptions are perfectly preserved.

The earliest document is dated in the year 7 A. D. It contains the signature of a woman who agreed not to bring any claim against her brothers. The next earliest, also dated in the reign of Augustus, is a contract of common law marriage.

Among the other documents are contracts of sale, covering both personal and real property, farm lands and vineyards, as well as houses. There are also leases, agreements regarding loans, a contract of indemnity, receipts for wages, a receipt for dowry, official orders, petitions to public officials, tax receipts, accounts and documents relating to the transfer of ownership of slaves and part of a register of deeds.

From ten to fifteen years of steady work will be required to properly interpret and explain these documents in their relation to the life and history of the Roman empire in the time of the Apostles.

We have decided to discontinue our local store. In order to conduct a satisfactory business on the usual low Kinney profits, the volume of sales must be greater than we can expect in a city the size of Plattsmouth.

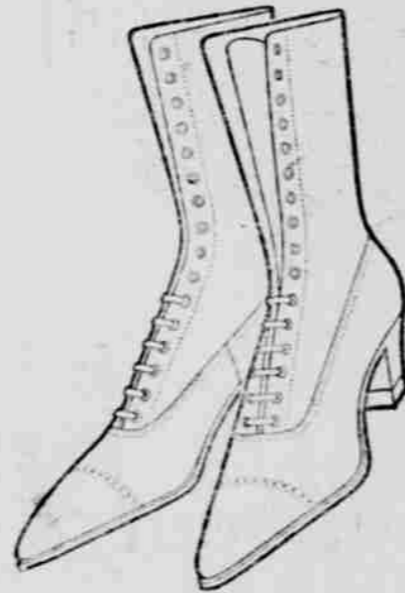

The policy of our organization is "Small Profits" but "Large Sales." Therefore, we will not increase prices in order to make money on small sales. We would rather move than undermine this policy that has developed 100 big stores from the original one small country store.

Our store at Omaha will be able to look after our good customers in Plattsmouth and all who are interested in RELIABLE FOOTWEAR AT LOW PRICES. Buy now at our Plattsmouth store. Big reductions for quick clearance. Later buy at C. R. Kinney Co., Inc., 207 No. 16th street, Omaha. It will pay you.
