Delegates from M. E. Sunday School to County S. S. Convention at Plattsmouth last Thursday and Friday were Mrs. Lee Faris, Mrs. Mougey and Fay Hansell.

Mr. D. B. Porter gave two ducks to the Rev. W. A. Taylor last Monday which he took at the hunting. They were greatly appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Taylor of near Nehawka were looking after some business in Union last Monday and also visited at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Black.

Attorney C. L. Graves was a visitor in Plattsmouth last Monday taking the early morning train, being called there to look after some legal matters at the court house.

The ladies of the Baptist church held a very interesting meeting at the basement of the church last evening which was one worth while and greatly enjoyed by the ladies.

The sermon for the coming Sunday at the Baptist church will be on the subject of a "Warless Nation" in accordance with the plan to keep in line with world disarmament.

The scholars and others interested were greatly disappointed and are looking for the time when they have a social to take the place of the one which was to have been given.

Charles Hathaway will in the future look after the dry business of Union having begun the work last Monday and will bend every effort to give the best of service and satisfy all customers.

Mesdames Z. W. Shrader and A. F. Sturmes were in Union for a short time last Monday while changing trains for Plattsmouth where they went to visit with Mesdames Thomas Sullivan and A. W. Taylor.

Palmer Applegate, who is working in Lincoln in a garage, was a visitor in Union last Sunday as the guest of the wife and baby at the home of Dean Austin. They will expect to move to Lincoln in a short time.

Reports from the bedside of Mrs. Nettie Stanton is that she is getting along nicely now and has been removed to the convalescent department of the hospital and is looking for the day when she will be permitted to return home.

W. B. Banning and O. W. Finney were out last Monday morning early looking for the festive duckling but it seems that in their portion of the country near Frank Hugh, there were none of the festive tribe and they had to come home and purchase steak for their dinner.

Following attended Eastern Star meeting at Plattsmouth last Wednesday: Rue Frans and wife, Mrs. L. R. Upton, Mrs. F. Lyon, Mrs. Joe Banning, Mrs. John Lidgett, Mrs. O. L. Easter, Mrs. Mary Beck, Mrs. A. L. Becker, Mrs. Fannie McCarroll, Elsie Taylor, Nettie McCarroll and Gladys Hall.

Get Many Ducks
Sherman Austin, Ira Clark and D. B. Porter went last Sunday evening to the Missouri river where they established a camp and remained during the night and a portion of Monday and were rewarded with a line of ducks which they were able to give to their friends. They returned home just afternoon Monday and presented the ducks to their many friends.

Enjoyed a Coon Hunt
W. L. Stine, Willis Eaton, Dee Hostetter, Rubeen Eaton and Santa True and De Witt Surface were looking after his coonship last Saturday evening and made the woods ring with their laughter and shouts as well as the howling of the dogs. They got one coon and feel well repaid for the trouble as the rood time more than balanced all the work.

Attended the Convention
Union was well represented at the Sunday school convention which was held at Plattsmouth last week on Thursday and Friday. There were from the two schools here a large delegation who greatly enjoyed the meeting and assisted in making it a success. Those from the Methodist church being Mrs. E. J. Maugay, Misses Fay Hansen, Elsie Taylor, Mrs. Lee Harris and Mr. J. D. Cross. From the Baptist church there were Mrs. Elizabeth Easter and her daughter, Miss Laura, Mrs. Jennie Frans and Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Miller.

Will Not Serve Mail
In accordance with a recent order in the postal department bearing number 6403, which revokes the power of the postmaster to require the carriers of the rural route to serve mail on Sundays and holidays when the mail is not carried to the country, the practice which has prevailed heretofore, will be discontinued in the future. The new vogue of refusing to serve the mails to rural customers will go into effect on Sunday, November 6th.

School Notes.
Mrs. L. R. Upton was a visitor on Tuesday afternoon. She put in most of her time in the grammar room, and high school.

This week closes the first quarter of the school year. Grades are averaged, examinations given and report cards made out. Parents are asked to give close attention to their children's report cards. The pupil's standing in his school work can easily be noticed.

State fire day comes on Friday, November 4. A proclamation of McKelvie calls special attention to the day which the Legislature of Nebraska has set apart as State Fire Day. Everything possible should be done to save ourselves from the awful destruction of life and property by fire.

Certain work has been allotted to the different days for general exercises. Parliamentary Law was practiced on Monday; Geraldine Roddy is chairman and Virginia Harris, secretary. Tuesday morning, Miss Tobin conducts work in spelling of common words. Miss Neumann gives drills in Penmanship on Thursday.

She believes there is a chance for the improvement of all in writing a better hand. Miss Hollister leads in singing on the closing day of each week.

Had Excellent Time
Many of the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church met at the hospitable home of A. L. Becker and wife and enjoyed the evening as guests of Misses Mary and Ethel Becker having a most delightful time with the Halloween season, and with the many delightful games which were played and sumptuous dinner which the hostesses served made the evening one long to be remembered.

Attended the Eastern Star
Last Tuesday there was a large crowd of the Union members attending the meeting of the Order of Eastern Star at Plattsmouth there being among the number three candidates who were the mystery of the order. Those to take the degree were Mrs. A. L. Becker, Misses Nettie and Angie McCarroll and Mrs. W. M. Barritt. Others to attend from Union were Miss Mary Becker, Fannie McCarroll, Elsie Taylor, Mesdames Joe Banning, M. Lynde, John Lidgett, Olney Easter, L. R. Upton and Mr. and Mrs. Rue Frans.

Must Be Good Corn
The farmers are telling how easily the new corn shells when it is gathered and in the elevating of a load of corn sometimes as high as two bushels of shelled corn run back from the elevator. This is an indication of an excellent quality of grain and all think that the quality is far better than last year.

NEARLY 2,000,000 PURE BRED GATTLE IN U. S.

Is 3 Per Cent of Total Number on Farms, Says Census Report—Beef Breeds Lead.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The department of commerce thru the bureau of census announces the following figures from the 1920 census of agriculture for the United States.

The 1,981,514 pure bred cattle in the United States on January 1, 1920, according to the fourteenth census, included 1,064,912 cattle of beef breeds and 916,602 cattle of dairy breeds.

The pure bred beef cattle were distributed among the several breeds as follows: Aberdeen Angus, 108,324; Devon, 1,194; Galloway, 61,929; Hereford, 405,580; Polled Durham, 61,755; Shorthorn, 416,995; all other beef breeds, including animals reported as pure bred with breed not specified, 63,944.

The 916,602 pure bred dairy cattle were distributed according to breed as follows: Ayrshire, 30,447; Brown Swiss, 3,130; Guernsey, 79,445; Holstein-Friesian, 528,621; Jersey, 231,834; and all other dairy breeds, including animals with breed not specified, 38,078.

Among the beef breeds the most important were the Shorthorns and the Herefords. Of the 416,995 pure bred Shorthorns reported, 69,560 were in Iowa, 39,093 in Illinois, 32,777 in Nebraska, 32,419 in Minnesota and 10,517 in Missouri.

Of the 405,580 Herefords reported, 70,021 were in Texas, 40,894 in Iowa, 38,695 in Kansas, 32,609 in Missouri, and 27,418 in Nebraska.

Of the 528,521 Holstein-Friesians reported, 114,662 were in New York, 80,845 in Wisconsin, 48,652 in Penn., 38,327 in Ohio, 32,702 in Michigan, 25,124 in Illinois and 22,830 in Minnesota.

Jerseys in Ohio
Of the 231,823 Jerseys reported, 23,824 were in Ohio, 18,718 in Texas, 13,411 in New York, 11,936 in Pennsylvania and 10,708 in Missouri. This breed is more widely distributed perhaps than any of the other breed. In many of the southern states, in particular, the number of Jerseys exceeds the number reported for any other one breed of cattle.

The reports of previous censuses did not show the numbers of pure bred live stock, so it is impossible to make comparisons with earlier years. It is interesting to note, however, that the whole number of pure bred cattle reported for 1920 (1,981,514) constituted 3 per cent of the 66,652,559 cattle on farms in the United States on the census date.

The total number of pure bred cattle on Nebraska farms is 82,047. The total number of beef breeds is 74,174, by far the vast majority of the state, and includes 4,840 Aberdeen Angus, 411 Galloway, 2,418 Herefords, 3,420 polled Durham, 32,777 Shorthorns and 5,508 other cattle, reported as pure bred with breed not specified.

There are 7,873 cattle of the dairy breeds in the state, including 7 Ayrshires, 38 Brown Swiss, 348 Guernsey, 5,368 Holstein-Friesian, 1,275 Jersey and 770 of other breeds, reported as pure bred with breed not specified.

TWO LESSONS OF THE WAR

National Defense Structure Being Projected in Country's Reorganized Army.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Two lessons of the world war, learned at heavy cost, are sharply emphasized in a war department bulletin on to be issued giving the first official picture of the new national defense structure projected in the reorganized army of the United States. One lesson comes direct from the battlefields of France. It is that efficient staff work is vital to modern military operations, and with it goes the corollary that staff night.

The other comes from the war time din and confusion of the centralized training camps at home. It is that efficient mobilization of the nation's fighting strength can be carried out only as a decentralized process thru agencies set up in times of peace.

Realization that these lessons must be worked into the new military policy if perilous delay and costly confusion which preceded past mobilizations were to be avoided has marked the effort of the war department. The bulletin shows that it has attempted to write regulations under the revised national defense act that would furnish a clean cut scheme for war mobilization without violating national traditions against militarism or creating machinery that would impose heavy burdens in peace times upon the tax-payers.

Far Reaching Military Effort
The project undertaken probably is the most far reaching military effort the nation has ever attempted in peace times.

The foundation work has been done. All over the country decentralized machinery is being set up capable, its designers believe, of getting the nation on a war footing with little delay and confusion. Yet it is felt that the nation at large and even the most important links in the new defense chain, the regular army, the national guard and the officers reserve corps do not appreciate fully what is being done.

Col. John McA. Palmer, the officer assigned to aid congress in framing the legislation making it all possible and who has devoted himself to a study of the subject, was called upon to furnish the document and his work is to go to all parts of the new army as a means of preventing misunderstanding.

Colonel Palmer points out that at the conclusion of previous wars, the United States scrapped all it had learned in battle and demobilized without any attempt to carry costly lessons on to younger generations for their protection and aid in time of war. Veterans of the civil war, schooled in soldier craft, skilled in staff work and the handling of mighty forces with minimum confusion in movement and minimum losses in battle, went back to civil life, he says, and lost all touch with military matters. When the war with Spain came, their knowledge was lost to the men of 1898. It was necessary to rebuild again from the ground up, and 1917 saw this waste repeated, the bulletin asserts.

Welding Three Organizations.
The purpose of the new scheme of welding the regulars, the national guard and the organized reserves into the army of the United States in peace times is defined by Colonel Palmer as follows:

"It is primarily the object of our new law to perpetuate the framework of the organization developed in the world war so that its tremendous cost can be funded as a permanent investment for all time."

Had such a system as is now well advanced toward establishment been evaded after the civil war, the officer adds, "in 1898 more divisions than were needed for the war with Spain could have begun their expansion within twenty-four hours after the declaration of hostilities."

"Mobilization in 1917," Colonel Palmer continues, "would have proceeded as a decentralized progress upsetting the economic life of the nation. It would not have been necessary to spend millions for great concentrated training camps or to overburden the railroads with unclassified personnel and material in order to organize, and train, and equip, and provide officers all at the same time. Such a national organization must have saved months in time and millions in money."

Colonel Palmer points out that Stonewall Jackson one of leaders on either side in the civil war entered the contest with knowledge of what staff work meant. He had studied Napoleons troop orders and in the first battle of the war, Colonel Palmer says, "showed that even raw troops can stand like a stone wall if the prevalent rawness does not extend to the craftsmanship of the commander."

The best results are obtained from the carefully written aid placed in the printer's hands in time to permit of artistic "set-up." Don't neglect your advertising or compose it hurriedly if you would get the greatest value for the money you expend.

ENTERTAINS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS
From Wednesday's Daily.

The cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whittaker on Gold Street rang with merriment and frolic last evening, when their daughter, Miss Marvel Whittaker entertained the boys of her Sunday School class of the Christian Church at a Halloween party. For the occasion the living room of the Whittaker home had been appropriately and attractively decorated in the Halloween colors, black and gold.

During the evening the boys were greeted by a ghostly form. The boys indulged in a few hours of Halloween frolic, games and various stunts, which had been planned by their Sunday School teacher and which afforded them plenty of amusement and pleasure and made the time simply fly.

During the evening delicious popcorn, apples and homemade taffy were served to the boys by their teacher and which was likewise most thoroughly enjoyed. On their departure the boys extended their warmest thanks to their teacher for the delightful evening afforded.
