ROAD IN DISPUTE

The village of Manley is more or less stirred over the question of whether or not one of the streets of that village should be closed and it is now the leading topic of discussion in the dispute that has arisen between the village and Harold Andrus. It seems from what can be learned of the controversy that some ten years ago the street was fenced in by C. M. Andrus since deceased and up to a short time ago it remained as the property of Mr. Andrus and was then opened up as a street. A few days ago the residents of the village awoke to find the street closed and a sign placed there to deter traffic. This was done by the order of Harold Andrus, heir of the Andrus estate. It is stated, and the matter will probably be given a hearing in the district court to determine the matter of right ownership.

home in Omaha occurred the death of Clay Tyler, for many years a well known resident of Plattsmouth, following an illness of some six weeks. Mr. Tyler underwent a surgical operation five years ago and since that time has been very poorly in health and his condition has gradually grown worse until he was finally compelled to remain confined to his home. He was nearing his seventieth year and has for the past four years made his home in Omaha where his children are located. To mourn his death there remains the aged wife and five children. Mrs. T. P. Pine, Mrs. Arthur Delaney, Sidney and Orin Tyler of Omaha and Noah Tyler of Sioux Falls, Iowa. He also leaves a large number of grandchildren.

SOON IN SHIPSHAPE FOR ARMS MEETING

Washington About Ready For Initial Session—Advisory Committee Meets 3 Days in Advance.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The advisory committee of twenty-two selected by President Harding to act with the American big four at the armament conference will be assembled in Washington three days in advance of the conference opening to give its opinion on the initial steps of policy to be taken by this government. A call for a meeting of the committee on next Wednesday, November 9, was issued today by Secretary Hughes, and at the same time it was revealed that high officials expect the committee members to play an influential part in shaping the government's course from the beginning to the end of the negotiations.

A "reactionary agency" was the way the committee was described in high official circles today to illustrate the extent to which it will function in reflecting public opinion on the problems that come before the conference. It was indicated that some questions might be submitted directly to it for study before being considered all by the big four, while in other cases sub-committees or advisers would be asked by the principal delegates to render opinion on details.

Altho the committee members, unlike the four principals, will have no diplomatic standing, a special commission for each was assigned today by President Harding authorizing them to "advise and assist" in shaping the American policy. They are, however, given no power of negotiation like that which goes with the ranks of ambassador conferred by the president on Secretary Hughes and the other members of the big four.

Premier Lloyd George hopes domestic affairs will be adjusted so as to permit him to leave within a fortnight for Washington to attend the armament conference. Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, today informed Secretary Hughes.

From Saturday's Daily. This morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ault, brother of the bride, in the south portion of the city, occurred the marriage of Miss Emma Ault and Mr. Orin Elkins, both of Glenwood. STORY OF CHURCH MISSION PRESENTED

"The Pageant" Which was Given at St. Luke's Church Sunday, Repeated Last Night.

From Saturday's Daily. The story of the work of the church mission in St. Luke's parish was told again last evening at the church when the beautiful and impressive "Pageant" was presented by the members of the parish, representing the various societies of the church. In the different characters were found the representatives of the church, the parish and of the different women's societies of the parish. The work of their organizations in the past and the present while the church school of the parish represented the future.

The work of the pageant was one that showed much thought on the part of those taking part in it. The author of the presentation, Mrs. J. S. Livingston, as the work of preparation has been a very difficult and involved the most minute study of the church work for a great many years past in order to make it as full and complete as possible. So pleasing has been the presentation and such an impressive manner of giving to the church membership and the public the facts relative to the church work, that numerous requests have been made for the use of the story in other parishes of the church and parishes in New York have expressed a desire to present the pageant in their churches.

A SAFE TEST!

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Plattsmouth people. Ask your neighbor!

E. M. Buttery, 10th and Walnut streets, Plattsmouth, says: "It did not require very long use of Doan's Kidney Pills to prove to me that they are fine. A pain would catch me through my back so I could hardly raise a shovel of coal. There was also, at times, a lameness across my loins. I had reason to believe that these troubles were caused from a disordered condition of the kidneys and hearing Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got some. They gave me quick relief and the relief warrants me in speaking of the remedy in the most favorable terms."

Mr. Buttery gave the above statement June 11, 1906, and on May 12, 1920, he added: "It has been thirty-two years since I have had the kidney trouble which I told of in my former statement of 1906. My cure is a permanent one but I still think Doan's Kidney Pills are fine and I am glad to recommend them to others." Price 50c at dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Buttery had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

NED OPELT, PIONEER NEBRASKAN, IS DEAD

Helped Found Town of San Francisco Now Listed as One of the Missing in Nebraska.

Ned Opelet, one of the last representatives of the old time French Indians who helped to make early history in southeastern Nebraska, a member of a family well known in Lincoln, was buried the other day at Brownville. He was 78 years of age. The Opelet family was related to the Roubidoux family, who founded St. Joseph, and were engaged in the fur business and were traders with the Indians.

When Nemaha county was first settled the family came up the river with Captain Holland, of St. Louis, and they founded the town of San Francisco, whose site was located in what is now the McCandless fruit orchard. The Opelets built a brick hotel there. The town never flourished and soon fell into decay, but in plowing the fields where the place formerly stood, bricks of the old hotel structure are turned up to this day. In 1850 the family moved to Brownville. They were there when the civil war broke out and Ned Opelet was one of the first to enlist in the Brownville Union Guard company, which was organized June 8, 1861. Later he became a member of the First Nebraska cavalry and engaged in the memorable fight with the Indians at Plum Creek, and in other border skirmishes with the Indians.—St. Joseph Journal.

ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION

Over the county the matter of the petition in regard to the abolishing of a number of the newer county offices such as the county agent, county highway commissioner and county assessor, seems to be attracting a greater or less attention from the taxpayers and voters. The proposition to change the office of county agent has brought forth probably more comment than that of any other and the friends of the system now in vogue as to the spreading of the agricultural teachings and modern farming methods offer many good reasons why the office should not be abolished in answer to the petition. The matter it seems, however, is one that the farmer is more vitally interested in than any other person and as they have the large part of the taxes of the county to pay they ought to have the say in regard to this office and if they desire an agent they should be allowed that privilege as was the evident intention of the legislature when the law was created.

The petitioners are also after the highway commissioner but the question of abolishing this office seems to be in some doubt by the action of the county boards. In the event that the office cannot be abolished the petition asks that it be consolidated in the office of the county surveyor. The Louisville Courier in their issue this week takes the stand that is representative of the larger part of the residents of the county, in stating that the farmers should be the best judge of what they want in the way of a county agent or otherwise, and it is safe to say that almost everyone in the cities and towns of the county feel the same way about the proposition.

RECEIVES BAD NEWS

A message was received here last evening by Mrs. Anna Gaster announcing the fact that her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Burke, formerly Miss Frances Wittstruck of this city, is very seriously ill at the Sacred Heart hospital at Spokane, Wash., and that her recovery was the matter of grave doubt at the time the message was sent. The friends and members of the family are anxiously awaiting word from the bedside of the lady, trusting that she may be able to rally to her present condition and be restored to her former good health.

FIRE CHIEF BOOSTING GOOD MOVEMENT HERE

Real Cleanup Being Pushed by Chief Sandin of the Fire Department Over Business Section.

Starting yesterday as an observance of the Fire Prevention day program, the business section of the city is being given a real thorough overhauling in the way of the removal of ashes and other debris from the rear of the business houses on Main street.

Chief of the Fire Department Sandin, is in charge of the work and yesterday had a number of workmen working all day in the task of hauling off the rubbish and while the job was not thoroughly completed the teams were kept on the go and the rear of the various business houses certainly presented a much more attractive appearance and also doing away with many of the causes that might lead to serious fires.

It is hoped that it may be possible to provide a system whereby all the ashes and other rubbish that accumulates can be removed each week as soon as the general cleanup is finished and this will be one of the objects to which the chief and members of the fire department are working. With the centralized effort in this line all of the downtown section of the city could be kept in the best of shape and cost divided uniformly among all of the property owners.

A great deal of credit is due to Chief Sandin for his untiring efforts in the way of fire prevention in the city and he should have the support of all of the community in his good work.

Assistant Fire Marshal Ed Hayduk of Lincoln was here yesterday and addressed the schools in the afternoon on fire prevention and as well inspected the city, praising the work of cleaning up the town and condemning a number of old fire traps that have been a menace around the business section of the city.

FOUR STATES ASK FOR LOWER RATES

Kansas, Arizona, North Dakota and Nevada Want a Reduction on Freight Rates for Grain.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Four western states, Kansas, Arizona, North Dakota and Nevada, applied to the interstate commerce commission today for a reduction on intrastate and interstate rates on wheat and coarse grains of approximately 16 per cent. The application is the first step taken by states in the western intermountain and Pacific territory to bring the general level of intrastate rates down to line with the reduction in interstate rates ordered by the interstate commerce commission on the same products two weeks ago.

The general interstate reduction left intrastate rates higher than the through rate. Under the commission's interpretation of the various provisions of the transportation act the commission assumed the authority over intrastate rates to the extent of making the last general rate advance applicable to all rates. The commission's general decision of two weeks ago overlooked the state rates, however, that were raised in the general advance. The four states named asked that the commission reopen the grain case and clear the records to the extent of putting both intrastate and interstate rates on the same basis.

It is likely that other states in the western territory will join in the action to make it possible to reduce all state rates to the extent of the reduction ordered by the commission on interstate rates.

CASS CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Hog Cholera
Hog cholera seems to be raging in many parts of Nebraska. It will continue to do so unless all hogs that die are burned. The state law says we must burn all hogs that die from any contagious disease. Let's all cooperate and keep Cass county free from hog cholera.

Worms in Chickens
Chickens that droop around and have pale combs and wattles are likely to have worms.
TREATMENT: Shut the flock up and give them no feed for 36 hours beginning at night. The second night that the flock is shut up, put to soak one gallon of wheat or oats, preferably wheat, for every 100 birds. Soak the wheat in 3 quarts of water in which one tablespoon of concentrated lye was dissolved. The next morning feed this to the birds.

Hot Lunch
Pa warms the milk for the little calf. Ma heats food for the little chicks; The cat a hot dinner at noon time too. But my lunch is as cold as bricks. AFTER We have a good lunch at our school now— Cocoa or soup as hot as the dickens. We fill up our cups as we pass along. They've decided now, we're as good as the chickens.

Which will your school be this winter, "Before or After?" Now is the time to plan for one hot dish which will supplement the cold dish brought from home. The equipment needed for the hot lunch at school is very simple and inexpensive. As you, as a parent, going to contentedly eat a hot noon day meal, while your children eat a cold and often times partly frozen lunch? "In fitting patterns over form before I cut material, I seem to accomplish more in a day."
"Will save the price of a pattern many times."
"I can get better results from the form than without."
"Yes, because it is so like my own form."

"It has been much easier for the seamstress to use the dress form and not have to wait until convenient for a personal fitting."

DEMOCRATS SEEING THINGS

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 2.—In an address tonight Senator Harrison of Mississippi, declared that the democrats "see victory in 1924 in the air and the principles for which Woodrow Wilson fought vindicated."

"Yesterday I attended a meeting of the democratic national committee in St. Louis," he said. "The meeting was one of the most harmonious experienced by the democrats. Every one in attendance worked with an object in view—harmony—and they got it. The selection of Cordell Hull as national chairman met with the approval of every democrat in attendance. The democrats are militant. They will present a united front from now until the national election in 1924. They see victory in the air, and the nation will yet see the principles for which Woodrow Wilson fought vindicated."
