Stone and family, D. C. West and family, Walter Wunderlich and wife, they all enjoying the meeting very much.

Entertained at Weeping Water

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Gorder entertained at their home in Weeping Water, Messrs and Mesdames Henry Wessell, Wm. Schlichtemeier, J. W. Murdock, J. E. Mulaich of Omaha, John and Wm. Baier at a Christmas dinner and to say that they all enjoyed the occasion would be putting it but mildly, for Mr. and Mrs. Gorder are masters in the art of entertainment.

At the St. John Home

On Christmas day the family were gathered around the festive board and all enjoyed the occasion to the full. There were three of the occasion Mrs. H. F. St. John, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nutzman and Miss Hope St. John who is home from school for a week.

They are Hedging Some

Yes that is there are some places where there are hedging going on and the way it is working. An order has been received that after January first, 1935, the service of the mail clerk will be discontinued, from the Lincoln Union line. This means that there will be not mail routes between those towns. The intermediate placed cannot in the future send registered letters or packages direct to the other towns but the pouches containing registered mail, will have to be sent to one of the terminals, Union, Lincoln and from there dispatched to the station designated.

Family Were all at Home

At the new home of A. F. Sturm were gathered last Sunday the entire family and coming from four different places, Ralph S. Sturm, who is in the ranch business lives near Big Wells, Texas, from the far south, Victor from Harvard, Justin from Yale, and Mr. and Mrs. John O. Veiser, Jr., from their home in Omaha. This completed the household and they enjoyed the meeting at the home of the parents. Only for a very short time did they remain for they are all having to go to their different homes at the call of business. However, they all enjoyed this coming together on this happy Christmas day.

Methodists Have Good Time

The Methodist church and Bible school put on a cantata and excellent program last Friday at the auditorium, where they enjoyed the splendid entertainment and which was shared by the people of Nehawka and the surrounding community. With the other features which were attractive was the Christmas tree which delighted the hearts of the fittle folks and the older ones as well.

Entertained Many Friends

On Christmas day Frank P. Sheldon and wife entertained at their home many of the relatives and friends of Nehawka and other places and at which a most enjoyable time was had by all present.

Nice Christmas Present

Nelson Berger and sisters accompanied by Frank Resnick, agent for the Brunswick phonographs, were in Omaha Thursday. They brought back with them a fine phonograph, which makes a very nice Christmas present for the family.

Doing Some Excellent Work

Dr. J. F. Brendel, the Murray physician, is having much practice here and at Union, and since the illness of his father, Dr. B. F. Brendel, is kept on the go most of the time. Dr. Brendel is an excellent physician and in demand a greater portion of the time. He has to have a driver now, for he is so busy that he cannot look after the car himself and so has Warner Leonard, who worked for him and father for some four years. This enables Dr. J. F. Brendel to do more work than it would be possible for him to do otherwise.

The Family Enjoyed the Meeting

The family of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Fulton were together last Sunday, Christmas, and enjoyed the occasion greatly. Mr. and Mrs. Fulton were joined by their daughter, Mrs. Kingston and husband with their children from just out of town, while Mrs. Albert Stoll and daughter arrived a few days since from their home near Wayside and this completed the household circle.

Notice—United Brethren

The Nebraska State Hygiene and Welfare campaign are holding a community mass meeting Sunday, January 1st at 11 a. m. at the M. E. church in Nehawka. Subject, "Prevention—the Welfare Day." Speaker, Dr. Frank G. Wilcox of Kansas City, Mo. This is a national movement to stem the rapid rising tide of crime—to save our homes and our schools and churches—in short our youth life.

No civic or religious organization can afford to ignore this great program with tea for preventing crime. All are urged to come, but especially the fathers and mothers.—John R. Simpkins, pastor U. B. church, Nehawka, Nebraska.

School Notes

The Freshmen are reading Silas Marner in English.

The English Literature class are discussing Macbeth.

The language classes have been writing Christmas stories.

All the teachers are going home for the Christmas vacation.

The first grade is taking up the tens in order in number work.

Velma Munn spent Wednesday evening with Clara and Mary Ahrens, Troy Linville and Ida McFarland, were not able to be in school Tuesday.

School will close Friday for the Christmas holidays, taking up again after New Years day.

The grades have been using their opening exercise period for practicing their Christmas program.

The second grade is doing good work in spelling and are taking up the Roman numerals in numbers.

Some of the Third and Fourth grade brought their Christmas decorations and all have enjoyed them.

Leroy Ketch left school Tuesday afternoon; he is suffering from a sore throat and cold. We hope that he will return soon.

The Third grade has now finished reading the third book of "The Progressive Road to Reading" and are now reading "Pianocchio" for sight reading.

The grades are giving their Christmas program Friday afternoon. They have a Christmas tree set up in Miss Scott's room, but will hold their program in Miss Graff's room.

The High school voted to give presents to each other, limiting the gift to the value of fifteen cents or less. Names will be exchanged Friday.

The Sodomore class will give a short program Friday morning.

School was dismissed early Wednesday afternoon so that the scholars might enjoy the movies put on by the Masons. They undoubtedly enjoyed themselves and also the candy that was so generously given.

The Sunny Side girls' club met with Dorothy Sturm Thursday after school. The girls had planned to walk but Mr. R. C. Pollard was kind enough to take most of them in his car. They held the regular business meeting and then worked on Christmas gifts. Several musical numbers and reading furnished a little entertainment. Mrs. Sturm served a delicious luncheon. The girls were taken to their various homes in cars furnished by R. C. Pollard and Melvin Sturm.

GOVERNOR HAS NO RIGHT TO APPOINT

Attorneys Insist that Legislative Vacancies Can be Filled only by People of Represented.

If Governor McKelvie goes ahead with his extra session and attempts to fill the six vacancies in the house and senate by appointments, he is likely to encounter a court hurdle.

Attorneys are apparently unanimous in declaring that the governor cannot under the clear provisions of the law, deprive the people of the various districts of the rights they possess thereunder to choose their own representatives.

Senators Cronin of Holt, Davis of Douglas and Gannon of Burr are all in the federal marshal's service and out of office, while Senator Dutton of Custer cannot represent his old district because he now lives in another.

Representative McLeod of Colfax is dead and Representative Reed of Logan is now a resident of Lincoln.

The governor's opinion that for all the legislative will be called upon to do for the remainder of its legal term, which means at the special session, it is not worth the cost of holding special elections in the districts, which would mean elections in nineteen different counties.

He would rather let money be appointed representatives.

There are attorneys, however, who insist that the people have a right to choose their own representatives, and that right can neither be abrogated or waived, except as the law provides. The law's intent is that all vacancies occurring at a time when they can be filled without delaying the legislature in its action shall be filled by the voters and not by appointment. The law is that the governor may appoint only if a vacancy occurs during or ten days before a session begins.

Good Advice

Take Chamberlain's Tablets as soon as you have finished your supper and they will produce a gentle movement of the bowels on the following morning. They will also improve your digestion and make you feel better in every way. Weyrich & Hadraba.
