

SUMPTUOUS FUR FABRICS IN NEW MIDWINTER SUITS

THE weavers of fur fabrics, making cloths in imitation of pelts, have reached the pinnacle of success, and are looking about for new worlds to conquer. They are continuing to make fur fabrics so like some natural skins that it is difficult to tell them apart, but they are also making novelties in furry materials to be used, as other cloths are, in suits. These fabrics are rich and warm, beautiful for midwinter, and above all, have the charm of novelty. It is only a step in advance to use imitation fur in suits, making skirts as well as the coats of this fabric, and that step has been taken by the designer of the very handsome model illustrated here.

The glossy, black fur fabric used for this chic suit is a close imitation of broadtail and it would be a case of allowing the nose to run much in the way of decoration on it. Therefore the designer has allowed only a little elaboration in the narrow silk braid that is used with small silk buttons for making the coat fastenings. The skirt is plain and narrow and the story of the coat is equally brief. It is an ingenious, short affair, rather snug about the hips but loose about the shoulders, and it fastens in a diagonal line from throat to hem. It is lapped over to the left at the bottom, fastening with a group of small buttons and silk cord and has a similar fastening at the top. The three-quarter-length sleeves are finished with bands of fox fur and a choker and muff to match equal the suit in richness. Altogether this ensemble deserves to be called superb and the coat and fur will further their usefulness by being worn with other skirts of plain cloth or with one-piece frocks.

MANY NOVELTIES APPEAR
AMONG PRETTY FURBELOWS

THE holidays bring out numberless pretty furbebows—some of them presenting claims to usefulness, many of them frankly frivolous and merely ornamental, but all of them enchanting. These accessories are beloved of the eternal feminine, for they add the telling touch of elegance, or perhaps a hint of splendor, to apparel that might be uninteresting without them.

This particular season finds emphasis put on strands of beads, handkerchiefs and ornamental combs for the hair, shopping bags, earrings, bracelets, charms and ornaments (to be worn on ribbons and cords), fans and corsage flowers. But these are only a few of the things made to enhance the beauty or please the eyes of women who love to surround themselves with beauty. There are as many small furnishings that are ornamental as there are dress accessories.

Among bags, besides those of leather, there are very attractive ones of silver mesh, in several styles and innumerable ribbon bags on metal or shell mountings, or closed and suspended by ribbons. These ribbon bags are usually made at home and are of many degrees of richness, the stores providing ribbons and mountings for making them in great variety. Among bracelets there are bright-colored, flexible novelties of bone and of mother of pearl in colors. They are made in sections linked together with gold and having gold floral designs on the sections. Braided bands of silver or strands of pearls with rhinestone clasps are among the new bracelets.

Bandeaux for the hair are made of ribbon, tinsel cord, tiny flowers and rhinestone bands, and there are many combs set with white or colored crystals. But the newest things in combs are those that are covered with small, brilliant feathers, like that shown in the picture. For corsage ornaments large artificial flowers are used or grapes in gold or silver, and there are metallic and composition girdles in endless variety for wear with straight-line frocks.

The most captivating of corsage flowers are those that conceal a tiny box of compact face powder, furnished with a power puff, beneath their stamens or petals.

OF ST. LUKE'S SCHOOL

Little Folks Belonging to Church School Give Christmas Treat at the Public Library.

Last evening the auditorium of the public library was filled with a delighted audience of parents, relatives and friends of the little folks belonging to the St. Luke's church school who gathered to enjoy the excellent program that had been arranged and which was carried out in a most delightful manner by the little folks.

The charming manner in which the various numbers were given reflected the greatest credit upon the persons taking part and on those who had assisted in the training of the children and certainly in no way could the entertainment have been improved upon.

The opening number was a piano duet by Misses Ursula Herold and Violet Begley in which these two young ladies showed themselves very skilled musicians, and the program also marked by a very skillfully given piano number by little Miss Vesteta Robertson, that pleased everyone in the audience.

There were a large number of recitations given by the little folks. Master Jimmie Begley contributing "Hang up the Baby's Stocking" in his usual pleasing manner. Hilda Johnson gave as her number "Christmas Gifts," while Vera Johnson offered "In Bethlehem," which was most pleasing and one of the big hits of the program was the "Three Marys," Mary Cole, Mary Falter and Mary Rosenbergs, in their clever act, "Different Customs," was offered by Hallie FINDER, and "Bethlehem" by Lorine Windham. Mamie Mendenhall also gave a most delightful number as did also Jack Egenberger, Ruth FINDER and Patricia Egenberger, and in these recitations the young folks showed much adeptness.

Three of the boys of the school, Jimmie Begley, Marshall Cole and Edward Egenberger offered a most beautiful hymn, "We Three Kings," which was in keeping with the Christmas spirit. Four of the girls of the school, Genevieve Hatt, Anna May McMane, Laura Grassman and Ruth FINDER also presented a very enjoyable dialogue, "Why We Celebrate Christmas," which was given in a very clever manner.

The vocal solos given showed unusual talent on the part of the little folks and especially that of Betty Ann McCarthy, who is of very tender years. The soloists of the evening were Marion Fricke, Hallie FINDER, Jackie Davis, Laura Grassman, and too much cannot be said for the charming manner in which the little ones rendered their numbers.

The St. Katherine's chapter of the church school gave a special number, "Baby Jesus," that was received with the most marked approval.

The closing feature of the program was the play, "To Find Santa Claus," in which a number of the little folks participated and won the enthusiastic approval of the audience. At the conclusion of the program, Santa Claus, the friend of the children, appeared and from his bounteous load found a great for everyone of the children and in this role Percy Field made a rollicking St. Nick.

PLEASANT FAMILY • GATHERING SUNDAY

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lohnes Near Cedar Creek is Scene of a Most Happy Surprise.

One of the most pleasant family gatherings this winter took place last Sunday, December 18, when a large number of relatives assembled to give Mr. and Mrs. William Lohnes of near Cedar Creek a rousing surprise in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. Well filled baskets of everything good to eat were brought in and the surprise was complete, although Mr. and Mrs. Lohnes soon recovered their usual composure and gave the guests a hearty welcome.

Mrs. Lohnes was formerly Miss Carrie Ahl, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ahl, one of the pioneer families of Cass county, and highly respected and prominent in all its affairs of the community in early days. Mr. Lohnes is the son of John Lohnes, also a prominent farmer of this county. The wedding of the young couple took place at the home of the bride, December 18, 1901. Rev. George Jung, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of Herington, Miss Maggie Stehr was the bride's attendant while the groom was attended by his brother, Edward Lohnes. They settled down to housekeeping on the old Isaac Wald farm near Cedar Creek, now owned by Mr. Lohnes, and they have spent all of their married life on this place. They have three fine children, two sons and one daughter. They are Raymond, Howard and Esther.

Mr. and Mrs. Lohnes are splendid citizens, industrious and thrifty, excellent neighbors and have all the qualities to endear themselves to their large circle of friends and acquaintances and the Courier joins with them in extending heartiest congratulations and best wishes for many more happy years, filled with success and good health.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ahl, Mrs. Mary Raoss, Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Hennings and family, and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Ahl of Jewell. John Lohnes, Mr. and Mrs. George Lohnes and family, Miss Lella Duff, Harry O'Brien, Henry Larson and Miss Ina Warren of Cedar Creek. Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Thompson of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Waldast and family and Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Pollard and family of Greenwood. Andrew Waldast and Miss Ethel Minnick of Lincoln. Floyd Edeson of Nelich, Miss Brown of Mynard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Troop, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Born of Plattsmouth.

The day passed in much merriment and pleasant conversation and before departing for home, another meal was served in the evening and Mr. and Mrs. Lohnes were showered with gifts and good wishes for their surely long remember the delightful occasion.—Louisville Courier.

CASS CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Dress Form

A very interesting meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Jumper, near Wabash. The women of the club held an all day meeting and five dress forms were made. Mrs. Herman Specht and Mrs. Carl Richert are leaders in the community. The women voted to meet again for an all day meeting and make more dress forms. A very fine dinner was served at noon which was enjoyed by all present. We hope more of the ladies will become interested and join this group.

Selection and Remodeling Clothing

The ladies near Elmwood met at the home of Mrs. R. D. Fentiman, Wednesday, December 21. In the morning two dress forms were made. A fine cafeteria dinner was served at noon and in the afternoon a demonstration was given on testing out commercial patterns and how to use the dress form in making sewing easier. Selection of clothing was also discussed and styles suitable for stout and slender women was the main feature of the afternoon. Each woman was anxious to know what styles she should wear and in all cases the reason for same was brought out. This club planned to meet in January and the project planned for the next meeting will be a health meeting and later they expect to take up Course III, Short Cuts in Sewing.

Mrs. Debes Derner is project leader for the health work. Mrs. Harry Arnold is leader for selection and remodeling clothing. Mrs. Howard Capwell is leader for dress form. This club has made twenty forms. A very fine wideawake club.
