It's similarity that breeds contempt.

Patience is a splendid virtue—in others.

Fortunate is the liar who loses his reputation.

The dressmaker's work is a matter of form.

Wonder if these grammar sharks ever heard an owl "whom?"

While misery may love company, company does not love misery.

Any man who wants but little here below has it above his ears.

Many a man looks run down because of the bills his wife runs up.

These talking movies won't be popular because they drown out the audience.

St. Louis thieves who stole a minister's silverware must have enjoyed his service.

In spite of all these expert predictions that business will get better, it will.

It is easy to tell a lie but sometimes it is hard to square yourself by telling another.

Wise, indeed, is the husband, who, knows his wife is right, can keep the fact to himself.

It is interesting to learn that a congressional bloc is formed by putting heads together.

It looks like the submarine question is going to blow up the disarmament conference.

If Japan is allowed to keep that battleship-Matan, we ought to be allowed to build a Jefferson.

No man ever worries half as much about his inability to pay his debts as the man he owes do.

Every German child born owes 40,000 marks, so you can't blame the little fellows for kicking.

Sensation of the opera season is a fellow named Chaplin. But imitators of Charlie get monotonous.

"Why have women no mustaches?" asks a Detroit woman. Nobody ever saw grass on a race track.

Pictures of spring bathing suits almost bear out our forecast that they wouldn't be belts and suspenders.

You can tell we are at nation of idealists. The heroine in a movie may be poor and ignorant, but she always has shapely ankles.

Human nature is the thing that makes some men imagine they have a perfect right to work less themselves and at the same time work others more.

President Harding having pardoned Debs, it will be next in order for him to instruct the war department to destroy the list of slackers and draft evaders.

The heading swords into plowshares won't make the world entirely safe because there will still be fools who will try to beat trains at railroad crossings.

Beware of the man who smiles when he is angry; he's dangerous. And beware also of the man who looks glum when he is glad; he's probably a humorist.

It is explained that most of the deaths from drinking in New York New Year's celebration were caused by bad liquor. Still, those killed by good liquor are just as dead.

One of the principal reasons why the glad Christmas spirit doesn't last much longer than a week is the printed knowledge of the saving you could have made if you had waited until after Christmas to buy your gifts.

It doesn't matter so much whether it was he or she who made the proposal of marriage. The mere matter of bringing up the subject is nothing compared to the momentum which carries it through to the honorable finish, and we guess everybody knows who furnishes that.

A few months ago when there was so much talk of knickerbockers, people began to wonder how women's apparel could be distinguished from men's. But a dispatch from Paris makes it clear, no matter what direction the fundamental of style may take. The Paris dispatch says men's fashions will be exactly opposite to women's—the men's clothing will be tight and the women's loose.

But she goes on to explain that the man who is making use of our cleaning, steaming and pressing services is keeping his clothes in much more presentable condition than when he got acquainted with us. And it doesn't cost much, either.

The longest sentence in the world is "I pronounce you man and wife."

The fellow who makes the tree does not always get the most fruit.

An exchange, kindly explains, that apocalypse is a word, not a disease.

"Blocs" of various kinds seem to be quite the fashion in congress these days.

Proposal of joining Canada to the United States was made as early as 1778.

Hindenburg's bed has been sold for $35. Now Germany only needs $1,499,915.

"Australia leads world in wool producing." U. S. leads the world in wool-gathering.

Dr. Lorenz restored the speech of an actress, so he has been asked to return to Austria.

Too eager a search for profits means an evil growth in business from time to time.

Now the stingiest man in Plattsmouth is collecting Christmas Seals for next Christmas.

About $3,000,000 worth of honey is marketed annually by the bee keepers of Missouri.

Looks as if the "far-flung possessions of the British" should have been flung a little farther.

Some people will do anything for the dough. For instance, a St. Louis thief stole 100 barrels of flour.

Business is far too powerful a weapon of public welfare to be allowed to become incrustated with abuse.

The 200,000 quarts of champagne drunk in Paris Christmas did not come up to our chamboozes.

"Banker Say 1922 Outlook is Bright." It could not well be otherwise, looking out from under 1921.

Think how much of one's life is wasted putting a useless "W" on such words as flow, know, throw, slow, bow, etc.

Find a man who has no pride and you have found one whose past is inglorious and whose future is without hope.

The Dutch do not want to borrow money from us for fear our loan will diminish their prestige in the West Indies.

"Agenda" is interpreted in Washington as "things to be done." Probably a synonym for "China" in the Japanese vocabulary.

Those press stories about floods in Arizona cause us to fear that we will soon be reading stories about sun-strokes among Eskimos.

THINK IT OVER

Are you interested in your business? Are you full of pep? Have you faith in the future of your town? Are you willing to keep on pulling and working and boosting for the community and county in which you live? Or have you slowed down? Have you begun to carry about with you a long face and greet people who solicit your business with a frown? If you fall in the latter class you need a vacation. Your business has got the better of you. You are down and out and need to get away where you can think matters over and decide on a new plan of attack. You can adapt your changed business to the changed order and make good. The question is do you know how? Or if you do not know how, are you willing to put on the job a man who does?

YOUR 30 SLAVES

Take away all our machinery and steam and electrical power, and it would require 3,000,000,000 hard-working slaves to duplicate the work done by Americans.

The use of power and machinery gives to every man, woman and child in our country the equivalent of 30 slaves.

This is figured out in the latest bulletin of the Smithsonian Institution.

Why envy the noblemen, back in ancient Egypt or Bagdad, with 30 slaves toiling for him?

He had swift running slaves bring him fish from the ocean and birds tongues from the mountains.

Today with a few dimes, you can get a tin can of shrimp brought from Japan, a package of dates from Syria, a bag of nuts from Brazil, sardines from Norway.

Your slaves—machinery and power—bring them.

For a few cents you can buy enough matches to start 1,000 fires. When the ancient nobleman's fire was doused by rain, he shivered in the cold until slaves made a blaze by friction or brought fire brands from afar.

Plenty of old settlers, now living, can recall the days before matches, when they ran a mile from the nearest neighbor's with a shovelful of blazing coals.

Your real wealth is measured, not in money, but in the number of things you obtain to eat and wear, the ease with which you get them, the comforts and conveniences of your home, methods of transportation and amusement.

It is only a few centuries since even the richest kings had no sewers, running water, rapid transportation or any of the commonplace things that brighten the lives of all today.

Each year adds to our comforts and conveniences.

A few years ago, only the richest men in town had autos. Now there's an auto for every twelve Americans.

Henry Ford is experimenting with a mixture of glue, cotton and formaldehyde. He expects to make a powerful building material out of these.

If he succeeds, he'll stamp flivvers out like doughnuts.

That seems like a dream. But it is merely typical of the processes of mass production that have given the average person luxuries that were denied the kings of antiquity.

Measured in ancient standards, we are all kings today, with the slaves of electricity, steam and machinery toiling constantly for us.

TRIES CONTEMPT CASE

From Tuesday's Daily.

This afternoon District Judge J. T. Begley departed for Auburn where he will sit with Judge Raper in the district court there in hearing a contempt case growing out of the Neal murder trial there a few weeks ago.

At the trial of the case it was claimed that one of the members of the jury made remarks concerning the case that in the opinion of Judge Raper made the man subject to contempt of court and the trial was stopped and the case laid over until the next term of court. The juror will not be placed on trial for the charge of contempt of court.

BIG DEMOCRATIC MEETING

U. S. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, one of the stars of national capital legislative affairs, will be the principal speaker at the Jefferson day democratic feed to be held in Omaha Saturday evening January 14th.

Senator Hitchcock of this state will speak also, and so will ex-congressman Dan Stephens of Fremont. Both the Nebraskans and the visiting lawyer are familiar with the conduct of affairs at Washington and will give the crowd an interesting history of what has happened under G. O. P. control of government.

The doors of the affair are wide open. Every man who wants taxes reduced can come and will have the strong and warm right hand of fellowship extended to him, so the Omaha committee makes plain, Herbert S. Daniel will be on hand with tickets for the affair hours before.

BOX SOCIAL

Come and bring your friends and enjoy the program and box social to be held at the school house in district No. 5, Friday evening, Jan. 13th. Ladies please bring boxes.
