A word of explanation. I have been asked by one of the reliable manufacturing concerns of whom I am a regular customer, to help dispose of 1,000 garments that this mild and pleasant season has left them overstocked with. For your benefit I have allowed them to ship me 300 garments to be sold even cheaper than I could buy them, and for the benefit of my customers and to solicit some new ones, I will offer this entire stock to the buying public; also some of our own with the original price forgotten. Remember this wonderful assortment will go fast and I ask you to come early, and see them at least. What is left will be shipped away Sunday, February 19th.
