WEALTHY MEXICAN MAY REGAIN ESTATE

Gen. Luis Terrazas, Known as Croesus of Republic, Wins in First Round of His Fight.

El Paso, Feb. 27.—Gen. Luis Terrazas, sometimes known as the "Croesus of Mexico," has won the first round of his fight with the government to retain possession of his vast estates in Chihuahua. It was announced at the office of Federal Judge Fernando Gomezales Medina in Jaurez today. The general and his attorneys entered suit in federal court in Jaurez to thwart the attempt of the government to parcel out his vast estate in Chihuahua. The papers specify the Babicora estate between Casas Grandes and Chihuahua City, but include generally all other holdings of the general, totaling about six million acres. The court issued a temporary restraining order under which the government will not be allowed to proceed with the division of the estate. It was explained that Judge Medina was moved by the showing that former President Porfirio Diaz awarded General Terrazas his lands in return for patriotic services for assisting in the movement to expel the French under Maximilian and in fighting Apaches. The matter will come up for hearing March 4, it was announced. Guillermo Porras, attorney of Chihuahua City, and A. J. McQuatters, New York capitalist, were the leaders in the movement under which the vast estate of General Terrazas would be purchased and parceled out to small land farmers, it is said. The purchasers were to be financed thru a land and banking corporation known as the American-Mexican land development company.
