READY FOR WAR ON THE RATS AND MICE OF THE CITY

This Part of Clean Up Week is Important and J. C. Brittain Secures Valuable Hints.

In the extermination of the rat pest as a part of the clean up campaign the residents of the city who have suffered through the depredations of these unwelcome visitors, are growing much interested. Councilman Jack Brittain is head of this committee in the campaign and has looked over the work of the Omaha health department in the campaign in that city and finds that they have made great progress in the handling of the rat question. The Omaha authorities have found that the following receipt is the most effective in getting rid of rats with the most satisfactory results: One of the cheapest and most effective poisons for rats and mice is barium carbonate. This mineral has the advantage of being without taste or smell. It has a corrosive action on the mucous lining of the stomach and is dangerous to larger animals if taken in sufficient quantity. In the small doses fed to rats and mice it would be harmless to domestic animals. Its action upon rats is slow and it exits possible the animals usually leave the premises in search of water. For this reason the poison may frequently, though not always, be used in houses without disagreeable consequences. Barium carbonate may be fed in the form of dough composed of four parts of meal or flour and one part of the mineral. A more convenient bait is ordinary oatmeal with about one-eighth of its bulk of the mineral mixed with water into a stiff dough. A third plan is to spread the barium carbonate upon fish, toasted bread (moistened) or ordinary bread and butter. The prepared bait should be placed in rat runs, about a teaspoonful at a place. If a single application of the poison fails to kill or drive away all rats from the premises it should be repeated with a change of bait. WRITES TO OLD FRIENDS

The Journal has received a letter from William Neville, one of the well known old timers of Platts-mouth and Cass county, and who is located at Chehalis, Washington, and in which Mr. Neville renews his subscription to the Old Reliable and as well sends greetings to the old friends in this city. Mr. Neville was attracted by the appearance of an article in the Journal relative to the Platts-mouth Sporting club, an organization of several years ago. Mr. Neville is one of the few remaining members of the organization and states that he still has the old double barrel shot gun with which he used to make the records at the club meets and he states that he still gets out occasionally and shoots with the younger men and has been able to hold his gun in competition with the other shots of his present home.

DISTRICT I. O. O. F. MEETING A LARGE ONE

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE HAVE ARRANGED A VERY ELABORATE PROGRAM.

From Wednesday's Daily. One of the greatest gatherings of the members of the I. O. O. F. that has been held in this part of the state has been scheduled for next Saturday in this city when Platte lodge No. 7 of Platts-mouth are the hosts to the other lodges in this district No. 7. The committee in charge of the event have been working hard on the proposition and have arranged a program that will provide something of the greatest interest for the visiting brothers of the order from the start to the finish of the gathering. The district is composed of the various lodges of the county and will include Weeping Water, Avoca, Greenwood, Nehawka, Louisville and Elmwood as well as Platts-mouth. The meeting will convene at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the lodge rooms in the I. O. O. F. building on lower Main street and will be opened by the grand lodge officers and will be followed by a school in instruction conducted by the grand master and others of the grand lodge officers of the state who will be present at the meeting. From 4 to 5 o'clock the third degree of the order will be conferred by the staff of Omaha lodge No. 2, in their usual impressive and snappy manner. At the close of the lodge work at the hall the representatives will adjourn to the M. W. A. hall on sixth and Pearl streets where the ladies of the Bud of Promise lodge No. 40, Rebekahs, will serve the banquet to the Odd Fellows and their guests. The ladies of this order have long been famous for their enjoyable banquets and this event will be no exception to the rule. In the evening the public is invited to join in the meeting to be held at the Coates hall and for which a very elaborate program has been arranged by the committee. The gathering will open with the singing of "America" by the audience led by the Presbyterian quartet and will be followed by the address of welcome delivered by Mayor C. A. Johnson. District Deputy Grand Master C. G. Bailey of Elmwood will make the response to the welcome of the city executive and these will constitute the formal opening of the very interesting program. Miss Thelma Hudson will sing "I Shall Meet You" and this will be followed by the address of Grand Master Lew F. Etter of Omaha who speaks on "Odd-fellowship and Oddfellow Home." The male quartet composed of Messrs. Clويد, McClusky, Westover and Minor, will give one of their excellent numbers and will be followed by Grand Patriarch J. W. Brown who speaks on "Patriarchal Odd-fellowship" and Miss Hazel Clugey, who will give a reading, "Camera Clicks," which she was given the gold medal for at the declamatory contest held recently in Omaha. The Rebekahs will be represented on the program by Secretary Emma Talbot who speaks on "Rebekah Oddfellowship." Two of the pleasing musical numbers will be the violin solo, "Legends," by Bohm, played by Mrs. A. D. Caldwell, as well as a vocal solo by Edna Marshall Eaton. Mrs. Christine Coughlin will be the accompanist for the two ladies. Past Grand Master Sam Greenleaf of Omaha will speak on "Fraternity and will be followed by a musical offering by the quartet and orchestra. The evening program will close with an exhibition drill by the members of Omaha canton, under the command of Brig. Gen. James H. Short of this city. The evening will close with a dance for the general public at the hall.

OUT ON STREET AGAIN

From Wednesday's Daily. This afternoon Robert Brewer, who has been sick for the past seven weeks suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, was able to be out on the streets and enjoy the sunshine. Bob has been spending five weeks of his illness in bed and consequently is quite weak from the effects of the long siege. It is a great pleasure to the many friends to see this popular young man able to be up and around.

BECAUSE YOU DEMANDED IT

On the first day of March, 1920, over two years ago, this theatre decided upon a one price policy for all productions, large or small. During that time we think you will agree with us we have shown some of the biggest of them at prices of admission which you could not find in any other theatre in the United States. It has been our desire to stay with this policy indefinitely, even though we barely made expenses, even the big ones. During the past year, however, we have been asked time and again by many of our patrons to show D. W. Griffith's masterpiece, "Way Down East." We have been anxious to do as our patrons demanded, but have been unable to secure a contract from the producers that would enable us to show this stupendous photoplay at our regular admission. We have finally signed a contract for this picture but at such a high figure that we will be compelled to charge 25c for children and 50c for adults including war tax and show it four nights. If we have a large attendance each of the four nights we will be able to have a small profit left for our efforts. We trust that our patrons will realize that this production is well worth the extra admission as many of you no doubt have paid two or three times the above amounts to see it in Omaha. We, ourselves, paid $1.65 per seat to see it. "Way Down East" is without a doubt the greatest picture the master of the screen, D. W. Griffith, has made since "The Birth of a Nation." It is eleven reels in length and takes at least two and a half hours to show. The dates of showing "Way Down East" will be announced in the near future. Watch for them. PARMELE THEATRE CO.

A Good Start makes the day. If your first move is into one of those Vassar athletic union suits, you're commencing right.

They are loosely cut to save discomfort and irritation. This fabric is sheer and crisp for assured coolness. The kind that does not cling or stick to you. And they wear only as a well fitting garment can. They are ahead of the ordinary garment for the reason the back is taped instead of "Knit" and they don't tear out.

You pay no more for this feature— $1, $1.50, $1.75 and $2 "Buy It in Platts-mouth!"
