Dry cleaning makes his suits spill and span according to Dainty Dorothy

"It don't take a man long to bag his pants at the knees, and to make a finely tailored suit look thoroughly disreputable—that's the man of it," avers Dainty Dorothy.

But she goes on to explain that the man who is making use of our cleaning, steaming and pressing services is keeping his clothes in much more presentable condition than when he got acquainted with us. And it doesn't cost much, either.

CORPS OF CAMERA-MEN MADE GRIFFITH PICTURE POSSIBLE

Fortified at Every Point of Vantage During Filming of Thrilling Scenes on the River.

One hardly realizes in seeing the D. W. Griffith picture, "Way Down East," to be shown at the Parmele four days next week, commencing Monday, that only a corps of intrepid camera men could have made possible the taking of the wonderful scenes of the breaking up of the ice floe, it was possible for the camera men, as on an ice floe, she drifted rapidly to a seemingly inescapable doom.

Lillian Gish really was in great danger at the moment when she was rescued from the falls by Richard Barthelmene and it was not until she had "function" properly, there might have been a real tragedy to record instead of the mimic drama of a broken life, healed by love, as shown in "Way Down East" on the screen. Of course, had the camera men not been so patient and during the breaking away of the ice on an ice floe, it was possible for the camera men standing on a bridge to get "long shots" and to keep at the task of photographing the oncoming human figure so pathetic among the mass of floating ice. Then there was necessity of getting "close ups" of some of the men with cameras clambered across the masses of ice to positions of vantage and at once set up cameras. No time was to be lost and the photographers were so intent on their work that they never noticed the breaking away of the ice on which they were standing. Two instances of this kind were noted by people on the bridge. However, the men at the camera crank were game and kept on turning. A bend in the river sufficed to bring the floe near the breaking away of the ice on a scurrying and a rush that did not end until man and machine were on the shore.

It has been a matter of conjecture as to the method pursued in photographing Miss Gish and Richard Barthelmene at the brink of the falls. For this undertaking great preparations were made and the first thing necessary was to make a resting place for cameras. Below the falls a flimsy bridge of logs was erected from rock to rock and on this, in a precarious situation the camera men turned the reel until the last foot of film had been utilized. Theirs was not a spectacular service but it was fraught with danger and required iron nerves.

"KEEP IT UP!"

With the advent of Spring Clean-up week it is also opportune to note the large number of home improvements, as well as new homes and business buildings that are being carried out by enterprising citizens of the county. The new Plattsmouth State bank building and the new Herold apartments are two of the more important construction jobs under way. But there are a large number of homes being remodeled, several new ones built and many being improved in appearance with the addition of a new coat of paint, screened in porches, etc.

OLD TIMERS TRIM HIGH SCHOOL NINE IN EXCITING GAME

Business Men's Athletic Club and High School Team Clash in Five Inning Contest.

From Thursday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon the members of the business men's athletic association and the high school baseball team tangled on the local lot with the result that the old timers were the winners by a score of 12 to 7, and in a game that was won by the club members in the first frame of the battle when they piled up a total of ten runs.

The members of the athletic club were rather doubtful of victory on arriving at the grounds when they looked over the slantiness of their opponents as compared with their own massive array of heavyweight players, but a few moments workout was sufficient to put the old timers back in form, and despite a little hoarseness, the voice of Claude Smith had all in five of the most strenuous innings that he has had for some time and agreed that it was much harder work than selling cars. The keystone sack was occupied by Captain Kuykendall and his service there was even superior to that of the lightning center, although he too occasional-ly went out. At the second sack Henry Schneider performed in great shape and is today at least 100 pounds lighter as the result of the exercise there as well as his base running. Jess Wargus was at short with a Smith at third base and DeWolfe Harris and Rev. Calvert in the outer garden.

For the high school Eddie McGuire did the catching and Harold Mullis opened in the box, but was so badly damaged by the hard hitting pitcher that he retired in favor of Frank Gradoville, who held the old residents to a very few scattered hits. The "Cub Bear" was at first base, and at second and third the redoubtable Dwyer twins, Howard and Harry played a fast and furious game. Alfred Calvert, Chase and Krejci were the ones chosen for the outfield.

In the opening inning, McGuire secured a walk as the first man up, and was followed by Mullis and Weber, who both fanned out. Frank Gradoville then laid down a three sacker to right that registered McGuire and the inning closed with Dwyer striking out.

The business men were all in when their half of the first closed and with bated breath they dashed around the bases almost at will and from the grandstand the sound of their puffing was quite audible and had the game lasted through the nine innings we fear that there would have been some one of the boys missing this morning. For the heavyweights, Smith, Schneider and Kuykendall, surprised the natives with their base running and soared down to second with speed and grace and thoroughly demoralized the bewildered high school bunch. For the opener Kuykendall and Schneider led with hits, getting two apiece, while Doolan, Wolf, DeWolfe, Harris and Calvert each secured one. Smith held the record for three passes to first in three innings and Wargus was unable to secure a hit although he had a safety on first in the opening inning.

ALFALFA MILL IS IN THE MARKET FOR FEED TO GRIND

Plattsmouth Manufactory of Alfalfa-Maize Fed for Cattle Want 500 Tons of Alfalfa.

The fact that the alfalfa mill of this city is on the market for 500 tons of alfalfa should be very pleasing to those who have kept this growing institution under their observation. This demand for the alfalfa is an indication of the growing popularity of the feed among the cattle owners of the country who have studied the problem of modern and economical means of feeding. The company here is shipping to St. Louis and Buffalo their finished products and which have been recognized in that country over as one of the best possible means of securing the best stock feed at the lowest cost. The growing demand for the alfalfa also is a reminder that the farmers of this locality can find a ready market here for their alfalfa and should be glad that there is more put in on the farms as the market here is a steady one that can handle much more than is grown here at present.
