METHOD OF NAMING REAVIS SUCCESSOR NOT DECIDED ON

Lincoln, June 5.—Governor McKelvie, before leaving for Omaha, where he will deliver an address before the Lions club, announced that he had today received the resignation of Congressman C. F. Reavis, effective yesterday.

Governor McKelvie declined to state what decision had been reached as to the method of filling the vacancy, as a result of his conference with Attorney General Davis. The conference is said to have been called to discuss the advisability of calling a special election for the purpose of naming a successor to the congressman.

COURT HOLDS LABOR UNIONS AMENABLE TO ANTI-TRUST ACT

Decision in Coronado Coal Case Declares Organizations May be Prosecuted and Sued.

Washington, June 5.—Deciding the celebrated Coronado coal case, the supreme court held that labor organizations, although unincorporated, are amenable to the Sherman anti-trust act and that under it such organization may be prosecuted for restraint of interstate commerce.

The court also held that labor unions may be sued.

Chief Justice Taft, in announcing the decision, did not indicate any dissent.

The case which presented the questions passed upon by the court, was an appeal by the United Mine Workers of America, district No. 21 of that organization and its officers, 27 local unions in that district and their officers and 65 individuals, some of the latter not members of any union, from a decision by the United States district court of Arkansas, approved by the circuit court of appeals, holding them guilty of violating the Sherman anti-trust act during the coal mine strikes in Arkansas in 1914, and imposing damages of $200,000, which were trebled under the anti-trust law.

The effect of the decision will be to set aside the damages, because of the finding that the acts which caused the destruction of property were not in fact for the purpose of restraining interstate commerce.

COURT HEDGES IN LIQUOR CASE

Washington, June 5.—The supreme court today announced it would not decide at this time whether expert testimony as to the alcoholic content of liquor must be given to permit conviction on a charge of possessing or dispensing intoxicating liquors. Al Veseky was convicted in the United States district court for southern California on two counts charging him with maintaining a place for the sale of intoxicating liquor and with having sold such liquor. The circuit court of appeals sustained his conviction notwithstanding his contention that it was necessary for conviction to produce expert evidence that the liquor sold was intoxicating within the meaning of the law.

PRESIDENT PAYS TRIBUTE TO HEROES OF "LOST CAUSE"

Joins Veterans of Confederacy in Honor of Comrades Who Had Gone on Last March.

Washington, June 4.—The president of the United States, himself the son of a union veteran, joined with gray-clad, gray-haired veterans of the confederacy who stood with bowed heads at the graves of the comrades of "the lost cause" today in Arlington cemetery to pay annual tribute of love and remembrance to those who had gone on the last long march.

Standing beneath the drooping folds of the Stars and Stripes, President Harding uttered a prayer of gratitude for a reunited nation, whose foundation, he said, had been cemented by the blood of confederate and federal alike.

Mr. Harding was not on the program and his appearance was a surprise to the crowd which had gathered for the ceremony in the confederate section of the cemetery.

To the sons and daughters of veterans Mr. Harding added a word of tribute.

"Speaking as the son of one who fought in the union cause," he said, "I want to say that I have only gratitude, commendation and the sincerest tribute a man can utter for their sons and daughters who have lived in the greater aftermath and ably assisted in turning dissent into union, turning discord into concord and reclaiming for posterity all those things so essential to the welfare of this republic."

Tribute to the spirit of the veterans and sons of the gray in turning defeat into rebuilding and unity was spoken by the president, who declared he wished to pay "the greatest tribute to you of the gray," and his tribute was one for the man who bore up as a loser.

"It is easier to forgive and forget if you are on the triumphant side," said Mr. Harding, "but it takes a bigger heart to forgive and forget if you have gone down to defeat in the lost cause. I would like to see more of this fellowship and comradeship which marks a united America."

WHEAT PROSPECTS IN THE SOUTHEAST ARE VERY GOOD

Fields That Looked Bad Last Month Will Make at Least an Average Crop—Fruit Good.

Lincoln, June 5.—Wheat in the southeast quarter of Nebraska which had been destroying rapidly up to May 22, will make a crop fully up to the average—possibly better—according to A. E. Anderson, in charge of the federal bureau of markets and crop estimates for Nebraska.

"Rains continuing for nine days up to June 1 made a wonderful change. Corn is excellent and there is a good stand. Delay in sowing oats may cause only a fair crop—one that will ripen too fast in hot weather," Anderson says.

"Small fruit and tree fruit prospects are the best in years in the south and alfalfa are looking up. In fact, just completed has ranged from fair to very good.

"While in the southeast little abandonment of wheat is reported, many fields had to be replaced in the southwest. Drought, heavy fall, winter and spring killed the crop in many places, notably in Kearney, Adams and Buffalo counties. Wheat in these counties was replaced with barley and corn.

"In Deuel, Cheyenne and Kimball most of the winter wheat fields were cut and alfalfa are looking up. The wheat yield will not be noticeably affected. Wheat is fair in other southwestern counties.

"Northeastern counties, however—strange as it may seem—need moisture. Corn is in good shape but cuts and alfalfa are looking up, particularly in Boyd, North Platte, Knox and Keyapasa counties."

TIME IS GETTING SHORT TO FILE FOR OFFICE

This week and next are all that remain for the filing of nominations for the various state and county offices to be voted upon at the primary election July 18th.

Saturday, June 17th is the final date, and unless more become imbued with running for office than have heretofore the primary election will be a rather tame affair in Cass county. Those who have filed appear to be concentrating on one or two offices, with candidates for the other places confined to one from each party, who are thus assured of the nomination, and will not get any thrills until it comes time to fight it out in the fall campaign for election.

Over the state generally the same condition exists with respect to the various county offices. One reason for this is pointed out in the fact that the salaries of these servants of the public are feeling to brag about, and few people feel disposed to spend their money campaigning for an office of this kind.

READ ADVERTISING THAT INTERESTS IS ADVICE OF EXPERTS

And Don't Worry About Whether the Advertisement "Pays" the Man Who Has It.

In an advertising message on advertising, one of the largest New York advertising agencies recently explained to the public how advertisements should be read; and incidentally furnished a clue to advertisers as to how their advertising should be presented.

"You can't read all the advertisements you see," their announcement says, "but there are some you can profit by reading. A few simple rules may help you to select the right ones:

- "1. Read only advertisements that does not tell you something that you are better off for knowing, turn to one that does. There are plenty of them.
- "2. Do not believe anything that does not sound true. The best merchandise and the best bargains are usually described in temperate language.
- "3. Do not read any advertisement that is hard to understand. If a man cannot describe his goods or service in simple language, he should hire someone who can.
- "4. Read occasionally an advertisement of something that you think you know all about. It's often possible to get a new idea from an old advertisement.
- "5. Read all the advertisements you see that talk to you in terms of your needs. Then if you buy the article you can be sure you needed it.
- "6. Don't worry about whether the advertising pays the advertiser or not. If advertising didn't pay, the advertisers would all have quit long ago."
