INCREASED CROP YIELDS PREDICTED IN JUNE REPORT

Department of Agriculture Forecasts Fourth Largest Wheat Crop in History.

Washington, June 8.—Larger indicated crop yields due principally to splendid growing conditions thus far this season promise more abundant production this year than harvested in 1921, especially in wheat and oats.

The Department of Agriculture's June crop report issued today and based upon the condition of crop June 1, forecasts a winter wheat crop the fourth largest in the country's history, with a total of more than 897,000,000 bushels. During May indicated production increased 22,000,000 bushels, of which 11,000,000 bushels was credited to Kansas.

The spring wheat crop will be 49,000,000 bushels larger than last year's, with a total of 247,000,000 bushels, placing the country's total wheat crop, winter and spring combined, at 855,000,000 bushels, or 60,000,000 bushels more than was produced last year. Production of oats forecast at 1,295,000,000 bushels, or 244,000,000 bushels more than last year's crop.

Apples, peaches and pears are more abundant this year. Last year's crop having been curtailed by frost. The apple crop is almost double what it was last year, but not so large as the 1920 crop.

An apple crop of 179,800,000 bushels was forecast, compared with 98,000,000 bushels last year and 223,000,000 in 1920. Peach production was estimated at 53,229,000 bushels and pear prospects were said to "indicate about a normal crop of around 15,000,000 bushels."

Large increases were forecast for practically all apple producing states. New York leading with an indicated yield of 30,000,000 bushels.

HARRISON TWITS THE OPPOSITION

Says News from Iowa Primary Anything but Gratifying—Old Guard Snowed Under

Washington, June 7.—The administration and republican senate leaders were declared by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, speaking in the senate today, to be attempting to keep the newspapers from "printing news" in connection with the results of primary elections and the fight being waged on the tariff bill. The senator asserted that the administration was "harassed" by the election news, which, he said, had shown "overwhelming" victories for anti-administration candidates in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Iowa.

With reference to the Iowa results where Senator Brookhart was nominated as the republican senatorial candidate, Harrison said that "it is no wonder that the news is 'unwelcome' at the white house," and added that those who ran on avowedly administration platforms "got well shown" as to the state sentiment.

The Mississippi senator declared that "the old guard, the machine politicians, were licked in Iowa" and that it did not bode well for the republicans. Referring to Senator McCumber's statement in the senate in criticism of some newspaper articles dealing with the tariff, Mr. Harrison said that it likewise showed the temper of the republicans and that it could be interpreted in no other way than as disclosing uneasiness among the majority party.

NATURE TELLS YOU!

As Many a Plattsmouth Reader Knows Too Well

When the kidneys are weak, Nature tells you about it. The urine is nature's index. Infrequent or too frequent passage. Other disorders suggest kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys.

Plattsmouth people testify to their worth. Ask your neighbor! M. Landerback, contractor, painter and paper hanger, Locust street, Plattsmouth, says: "I had lumbago and kidney trouble. I believe the turpentine fumes from the paint was responsible for it. I could hardly bend or lie and I couldn't even turn in bed without help. I had no control over my limbs and when I tried to walk, I could not lift them, just had to scuff along. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were highly colored and passed with a burning sensation. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and before finishing the first box, which I got at Fricke & Co's. drug store, I felt better in every way. I used three or four boxes and the gave me fine relief. I had another little attack this spring, but I went to Doan's the first thing and they straightened me out again in quick order."

UNION HEAR CRITICIZES HARDING'S LABOR POLICY

Says Workmen Bitter Against the Heavy Hand of President and G. O. P. Administration.

Cincinnati, O., June 7.—The government as an employer was taken to task by James O'Connell, president of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, who in his report to the department's annual meeting, complained of certain acts of officials, including President Harding, as hostile to labor.

"The policy of the administration towards curtailment and economy he said, 'has been used with such tremendous force against the employes of the government as to make workmen feel great bitterness and resentment for the heavy hand that has been laid upon them by the president and his administration.'"

The government, Mr. O'Connell asserted, should be the model employer, but he added, efforts of labor officials "to maintain some sort of standard conditions of employment" has been of limited success. The government officials, he continued, "have been wholly unresponsive, and in many instances pointedly antagonistic."

The report of Mr. O'Connell to the metal trades meeting covered numerous subjects in addition to what he said was the government's attitude toward labor. He urged that government mechanical departments, which he said had closed on account of suspension of naval preparations, should be placed at work manufacturing various articles needed by the government. Such a plan, he asserted "would reduce to the minimum the possibility of peace-time profiteering on the part of the government contractors."

Widespread unemployment, Mr. O'Connell continued, had caused a loss of membership among metal trade unions and had added employers in reducing wages.

HIGH COURT OF THE LAND IS ASSAILED BY GOMPERS

Labor Leader Interprets Colorado Decision as Negation of Rights of Unions to Strike.

Cincinnati, June 9.—Protests of organized labor, as voiced here today at preliminaries for the annual convention next week of the American Federation of Labor, centered against the supreme court, the congress and state legislatures in general.

Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, in addressing a club of business men, interpreted the supreme court decision in the celebrated Colorado coal case as a negation of the right to strike, and declared that organized labor would appeal to congress for new legislation setting aside the decision.

Will Not Dodge Fight In criticizing the supreme court, Mr. Gompers said that he expected to be "taken strictly to account" for his utterances, adding that "I do not run away from a fight."

"But, it has come to a pretty pass," he continued, "when an American citizen can no longer discuss and criticize the decision of the court. Any one, if he feels so disposed, can criticize even the president of the United States or the United States senate or congress. Pray of what flesh are the members of the supreme court that they are above criticisms beyond that of the president of the United States?"

Delegates to the meeting of the metal trades department of the federation, by unanimous action, assailed congress and state legislatures as enemies of labor, and declared for labor's active preparation in the fall campaign in an effort to elect its friends regardless of their politics.

Unions Liable In his speech Mr. Gompers said the Colorado decision made international unions, endorsing strikes, liable for damages, and he asserted this meant the unions must withstand "constant litigation or get out of business."

"If you compel men and women, regardless of conditions," he continued, "to work against their will, you have re-established slavery. Some people seem to think now is the time to take advantage of the working people, reduce wages and break up their organizations and under the 'open shop' weaken or destroy the unions."

In this connection, he warned against "driving the bargain too hard," asserting that a "day of reckoning will come," and adding that the organized workers are the "greatest stabilizing force" in the country. Referring to rail union chiefs, he said they prevented strikes, which he said had been desired by the union members generally and he contended with the expression of a hope for the time when employers and employees would solve their problems at the conference table.
