THE SPIRIT OF GOD

And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.—Ephesians iv, 30.

The nights are cool.

Picnics are now in order.

When will congress adjourn?

This year is half gone. So is the 1921 gloom.

Petitions for candidates will soon be out of date.

About the easiest thing to grow in a garden is tired.

Young folks never hate to face the music if it is jazz.

The oldest Christian church is at Echmiarzen, Armenia.

Australia has 1,000,000 tons of surplus sugar this year.

Opportunity is the one thing that has to keep on knocking.

It is easy to preach contentment when you have all the cake.

Divorce is increasing rapidly in England, especially among the poor.

Mathilde McCormick's wedding plans continue to be as uncertain as the price of gasoline.

The British have issued a blue book on Genoa. Now watch the Russians issue a Red book.

The membership of the Ku Klux Klan seems to be greatly on the increase. Well, what of it?

In London, women are wearing live canaries on their hats. Birds of a feather flock together.

The lady on the new peace dollar has her mouth open, and she looks natural in other ways, too.

They claim gold has been found in Florida; but it may be just some tourist with his mouth open.

When a man says he knows you like a book you have an index to his ignorance that is very binding.

SELFISH GAIN

What things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ.—Philippians III, 7.

Biting off more than you can chew is better than going hungry.

One of the best things a man ever made is a living for his family.

Gold fish make fine pets because they never get under your feet.

The Goblin that will get you if you don't watch out is the weeds.

Reducing freight rates is hard on those who have to seek a new excuse for high prices.

New York will build a 32-story hotel for bachelors only. Bachelors usually live high.

Doyle has liquor in his spirit world. At last the table rapping mystery is explained.

A new comet has been found; but, like everything else new, it is several million years old.

When a cynic sees a man helping a lady cross the street, he wonders where her husband is.

The bride who killed her husband on their honeymoon probably saw him before he shaved.

Mr. and Mrs. De Valera of Ireland have twins. It seems that his troubles never come singly.

There are only 16 machines printing currency, while over 16,000,000 machines are spending it.

The fellow who has been hating to carry out the ashes has begun hating to cut the weeds.

The phone official says only one in 113 uses the phone correctly; but he may mean successfully.

Don't treat your husband like a dog. Dog days are coming and he may get mad and bite you.

A woman has just as much right to bob her hair as a man does to wear white socks and low shoes.

There is nothing harder than to convince yourself that you have a right to do something you can't afford to do.

How we detest the man who becomes involved in a scandal and does not appear to care in the least what we think about him.

The people of this community are all playing put and take. They put on their light underwear one day and take it off the next.

John Bunyan said that "Religion is the best armor a man can have, but it is the worst cloak." You must prove your faith by your work.

Congressman Reavis has resigned. Now who will fill the place? John H. Morehead after the 4th of next March. But what about the vacancy?

Among other things that seem to be missing is that die hard group in the British house of commons. Did they die hard or decide to get well?

Young men seldom read the society items, we are told, but many older men read them regularly to find out what their wives and daughters are doing.

If taxpayers are not alert to their interests they will get another legislature that will give them another lot of good-for-nothing laws including another "code."

Probably none of the suffragettes ever talk about making mud pies when they were little girls, for fear their sisters in the cause will suspect them of being effeminate.

It may soon be possible to send photographs by radio, but it is hoped no one will ever take them by radio. Radio snapshots might then usurp the position now held by love letters that are read aloud in court.

While the country is being overrun by bandits and bank robbers the people should favor such an organization as the Ku Klux Klan. They never have harmed a straightforward, honorable and upright citizen—but it is the evil-doers they are after.

THE MANIA FOR SPEED

Fast trains are a modern convenience, of course, but they serve to illustrate our most common mania—the desire for speed.

We drive our automobiles at a breakneck speed not content unless we can pass the other fellow and set a pace equal to that of the limited passenger trains.

It is our social life as well. The other day we overheard a couple of youth on Main street discussing a girl with whom one of them was acquainted, but the other was not.

"Is she fast?" he asked.

And that, sad to relate, is the recommendation of too many of our girls of today—the ticket to good times, the entree to a fool's paradise, and finally the downward road to hell. If the girl isn't just a bit fast she has a hard time being popular.

Look at the modern dance. It never starts until after most folks are in bed, and when it is over the night has just begun for the dancers. They hop into their cars and turn on the speed. With never a thought to the end of the road or the pitfalls along its course, they speed up their parties and travel with the fastest sets.

The faster the set the greater the thrill—and the more exacting the price that must be paid in the end.

Nobody has ever accused us of being prudish, but it is high time that somebody pass out a few words to the mothers of Plattsmouth on the subjects of dress. The sky seems to be the limit with our young girls.

Not contented with having their dresses to the knees, they are now wearing them above the knees, and some of the costumes with which they adorn themselves are downright startling.

The short skirt is all right. It makes the emancipation of women but, like all other things, it ought to be within the realms of reason—short, but not too short. Besides, while the girls of Plattsmouth may not realize it, they are wearing "em longer now. Go to New York and while you may see a few of the extremely short skirts on Sixth avenue or Broadway, you certainly won't find them on Fifth avenue, the thoroughfare of refined, well dressed people. They are no longer the fashion.

However, we started to discuss speed, not short dresses, albeit skirts are a manifestation of speed. Permit just one more observation.

When you stake your money on speed, regardless of what form it assumes, you are gambling with death—and death is a mighty unpleasant thing. It's one game you can't beat.

When you seek speed just remember that every shock leaves you weaker.

And when you start to travel with a fast set, get your life insured, have your grave dug, and make arrangements with the undertaker. It will save your family a lot of trouble.

HONOR YOUR TOWN

Cities grow not great by stone, Or the wealth of lands they own. All the fame they rise to win Comes from men who dwell therein. Human hearts shape all renown; Be a credit to your town.

—Edgar A. Guest.
Are you a credit to Plattsmouth? the city in which you have cast your lot?

Are you doing anything to make it a better town in which to live? Are you putting forth an earnest effort to be the best man in your trade, business or profession in this community?

These are questions you should ask yourself every day in the year.

A city is judged largely by its citizens, and the standards they maintain.

There are good men and bad men in all communities, but it is only cities where the good outweighs the bad that are really worth while.

A little self analysis will help you a lot. Make up your mind that you will strive to be not only a better citizen for your own sake but for the sake of the city in which you live.
