WHEN HE MAKES HIS JEWELS

And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him.—Malachi iii, 17.

The tariff may be raising the price of wool suits.
They call it shortcake because it doesn't last long.
Lending money is a very fine way to improve the memory.

It takes two to start a fight; but that isn't why people marry.
Our idea of an endurance test is life under present conditions.

Many a June bride has already started filling in her scrapbook.
Saxophone players go in bands. It is dangerous to play one alone.

Another movie star is in trouble. As usual he acted without thinking.
Now comes the summer long feud with the screen door that won't stay closed.

He who drinks the chief ingredient of shellac will soon be finished himself.
In the last 800 years there has been 24 wars between Great Britain and France. This does not include the present one.

When the chronic grouch reaches his final home he'll have a right to feel that way.
Maybe church are usually on corners so people will have a chance to turn to the right.

The objections to vacation love affairs is some play for fun instead of playing for keeps.
It is amusing to see an old bachelor holding a baby, and doubly so if she is about eighteen.

Another nice thing about the radio solist is that you don't have to buy a dress for the concert.
Having busted Russia, Lenin and Trotsky hope by borrowing money to burst the rest of the world.

How much shall we tell our daughter? a worried mother writes. Not a thing. Not a thing—it can't be done.
"Pussyfoot" Johnson has declined to travel on American ships because they sell liquor. He uses British and French boats.

The breaks have been against us." Babe Ruth said in Cleveland. "We lost eight straight because we simply couldn't get going. Now I am suspended again." And the same afternoon the Yanks won a game.
Secretary Weeks finds "throughout the nation" a demand for a let-up on prohibition enforcement. Secretary Weeks' trip, on which he made this discovery, took him, we believe, in Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

Republicans would like very much to find something that would drive dull Careyway out of the senate. But he comes from Arkansas, a state where there is about as much chance for a republican to survive as there is for the proverbial icicle in the bad place.
A Harvard student has answered correctly every question put to him by thirteen of the institution's fiercest profs. What a disagreeable roommate that chap would make! One would have to go out of doors to permit himself the luxury of rhetorical mistake.

We don't care a tunk-a-dunk, as Lady Astor said, how short the women wear their skirts, but we would give several tunk-a-dunks to get just one crack at the heartless autocrat who decreed that men must wear coats in hot weather in order to appear respectable.
Mrs. Oleson, nominated by Minnesota democrats for the senate, says she is not going to count her chickens before they are hatched. If Mrs. Oleson stays in politics she probably will find it is a good idea to count her chickens frequently even after they are hatched.

DISABLED VETS GATHER FOR ANNUAL CONVENTION

San Francisco, June 25.—In Pullmans and boxcars, in impressive automobiles and in smaller and more popular vehicles, former fighters of the United States forces arrived in San Francisco today to attend the annual convention, opening tomorrow, of the disabled veteran soldiers of the world war.

The "heroes' special," bringing 240 men, mostly from Ohio, Illinois and Minnesota, arrived early today. Eleven heroes designated by their states as the greatest from their respective commonwealths as candidates for the "living hall of fame," which will be a convention feature, were aboard.

Rabbi Michael Aaronson of Hamilton, O., the "blind chaplain," also was one of the heroes' special's passengers. He is a national chaplain of the disabled veterans. His eye sight was shot away in the Argonne.

New Orleans delegates came in two boxcars and consisted of chevaux 8; hommes 40. They were fitted with bunks and cooking appliances. The Louisiana veterans said the travel was slow but comfortable.

MACCABEE LADIES MEET

From Wednesday's Daily.
Last evening the ladies of the Maccabee were very delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Oscar Howe, by Mesdames Howe and C. C. Howe, and the occasion spent delightfully in social conversation and at an appropriate hour very dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. The ladies departed for their homes at a late hour expressing their appreciation of the delightful hospitality shown them.
