SPOKE TO GOD FACE TO FACE

And it came to pass, as Moses entered into the tabernacle, the cloudy pillar descended, and stood at the door of the tabernacle, and the Lord talked with Moses. And the Lord spake unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend.—Exodus xxxiii, 9 to 11.

We don't think that the need for it is any greater now than in the past. The world never has had enough of it, and we admit that it is the most needed thing of the hour. But how, Do. ## MR. BRYAN ANNOUNCES PLATFORM ON WHICH HE'LL RUN

Former Mayor of Lincoln Announces Program on Which He Will Seek Demo Nomination.

In submitting my name as a democratic candidate for governor at the primary election, I do so with the assurance of many that my candidacy will prevent the injection of the liquor question into the state campaign and encourage a militant democracy to encourage its efforts upon tax reduction and business efficiency in state management.

The republican beneficiaries of high salaries and numerous political jobs cannot be expected to lower their own salaries or to abolish their own jobs.

I believe the taxes should be, and can be reduced.

I believe that the way to reduce taxes is to reduce the cost of government, and to be more specific:

I believe the code bill should be repealed.

I believe that the duplication of administrative heads, as now in force, has greatly added to the number of employees on the pay roll, lowered the efficiency of the service of the state government and is an imposition upon the taxpayers.

I favor placing the administrative and departmental work of the state back into the hands of the regularly elected state officials, as intended by the constitution.

I believe in a re-grouping of the various departments in the hands of the proper state officials where said state officials can be held directly responsible to the voters who elect them, and that the great army of useless employees now on the pay roll should be discharged as a matter of economy.

I do not believe that merely a "modification" of the code bill will purge the state's pay roll of superfluous employees. "Modification" enables candidates to straddle the issue and enables irresponsible campaign managers to promise political campaign workers an unlimited number of jobs that the code bill makes possible.

I am in favor of abolishing jockeying at the people's expense by the numerous state officers and employees on mileage books paid for by the taxpayers.

I believe that the cost of the new state capitol should be kept within the appropriation and that the very apparent profiteering in the bids for construction of the new capitol building should be handled without gloves.

I believe that the recently enacted revenue bill should be repealed or amended to prevent discrimination in favor of the bond holders as against the farmers and other owners of tangible property.

Recognizing the automobile as a necessity to all classes of citizens, I favor the reduction of the automobile license tax in proportion to the reduction in income of the farmers and wage-earners of the state.

These questions deal with the taxes and the peace of mind of the people, and until the unnecessary taxpayer is forced to take his hand out of the taxpayer's pocket, the taxpayer is in no frame of mind to consider other subjects.

I favor the provisions of the Shepard-Towner maternity bill.

I am a supporter of the primary system and favor doing away with the party circle, and am opposed to the four bills becoming a law that are to be voted upon under the referendum.

I am in favor of the repeal of, or amendment to the indeterminate sentence law and in favor of the modification of the rules governing the pardon board that permit and encourage weak officials to release from the penitentiary confirmed criminals without proper punishment.

Upon the prosperity and welfare of the farmer and the wage-earners depend the prosperity and progress of the state as a whole, and I will encourage and support in the future, as I have in the past, every legitimate effort to improve their condition and to facilitate their progress.

For references as to my business ability, or as to my devotion to the cause of the common people, I refer the voters of the state of Nebraska to the voters of the city of Lincoln.

CHARLES W. BRYAN.

LOIS BUTLER LEE IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Former Plattsmouth Girl Stricken at Her Work at Hollywood—Mother Leaves for There.

From Friday's Daily.

The message was received in Lincoln yesterday by Mrs. Charles M. Butler, formerly of this city, announcing the serious condition of her daughter, Miss Lois Butler Lee, the well known film actress, at Hollywood, California. Miss Lee has just finished an important part in the Rex Ingram production of "The Prisoner of Zenda," and has been afflicted with a spinal infection that made it necessary to have the lady removed to the hospital and placed in a plaster cast.

Mrs. Butler will leave at once to be at the side of her daughter. The many Plattsmouth friends of the Butler family will regret very much to learn of the condition of this attractive and talented young lady and trust that she may soon be able to once more grace the screen.

STATE MAY DO THE CONSTRUCTION WORK ITSELF

Inability to Get Contractors to Really Bid on New State House May Bring About This Action.

Harry Byrne, of Omaha, visited the state house at Lincoln Wednesday with information that contractors are likely to raise instead of lower their bids on the first section of the state house superstructure.

The capitol commission rejected all bids and called for new bidding on the ground that there was lack of competition not only on the entire section of the superstructure but on the twenty-six different portions of it.

Contractors were permitted to bid on any of the twenty-six different portions or upon the entire structure. Only one bid on the work in its entirety.

Mr. Byrne reports that contractors say they should not be expected to bid an amount equal to the sum of the twenty-six different jobs upon which tradesmen were asked to bid.

This he says will allow nothing for superintendence of the various jobs. At least 10 per cent ought to be allowed a contractor for his skill and for the use of his equipment and for the keeping together of a working force.

Otherwise, says Mr. Byrne, there is no inducement for a contractor to keep trained men on his payroll and to build up an equipment.

The contractors may be surprised if the state should decide to build the capitol on its own account without the aid of contractors," suggested Secretary L. W. Horne of the governor's office.

Mr. Byrne says the report that bids are likely to be higher the second time than at the original bidding is supported by reports that building material is going up rather than down.

His opinion is that the big contractors are now becoming so independent that they do not care whether they bid or not. Many big contractors relate to the high school on a per centage of cost or a flat fee for superintendence, the owner to buy and pay for all labor and material.

When a contractor is thus employed he superintends the work and is paid for his knowledge of the building trade and for managing men employed on the job. This eliminates the risk of loss by the contractor due to fluctuation of prices in material and labor, but holds the contractor down to a rather definite amount for his services.

The three million dollar technical high school building in Omaha was awarded to the lowest bidder on some such term, the school district to pay for material and labor and audit their own accounts.

At the recent bidding when all bids were rejected, Mr. McKelvie was quoted as saying the capitol commission might leave the present hole in the ground until such time as contractors show some spirit of competition.

REQUIRED TO GIVE BOND

For a number of weeks the state railway commission has been engaged in gathering information regarding the long distance motor bus lines operating in the state for the purpose of requiring the men or corporations owning the lines to give sufficient bond to cover any damage sustained by those who might suffer personal injury or otherwise acquire a cause of action against the operators.

The commission sent out to commercial clubs in the various towns queries as to the lines being operated out of there, if any, with the names and addresses of those owning the vehicles.

Information has been received in regard to twenty lines, seven of which operate out of Omaha and four out of Lincoln. It is believed that there are a number of others which have not been reported. The commission will require the owners of these common carriers to give a bond covering liability.

MANLEY NEWS

Last Monday, Mr. and Mrs. August Stander were visiting in Plattsmouth, driving over in their auto.

Michael O'Leary was attending the American Legion athletic show at Plattsmouth Tuesday evening.

Roland Coon was attending the American Legion's athletic show in Plattsmouth last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Ed Fleischman and family of Nebraska City were visiting with relatives in Manley last Sunday evening.

Edward Kelly was a visitor at Plattsmouth last Tuesday, being in attendance at the Legion athletic show there that evening.

Joe Maceney has been making good roads by working on one of the county graders recently and is making an excellent hand in that line.

The garage which is soon to be operated in Manley has been completed and is now ready for the man who is to run it, and will soon be in operation.

Robert D. O'Brien of Cedar Creek was visiting in Manley for a short time last Wednesday and while here was a guest at the home of Mike O'Leary.

Messrs and Mesdames Albert Seiker, Edward Seiker, Aaron Rauth and J. C. Rauth were guests last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Stander.

Miss Agnes Stander, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Stander, for some time past, returned to school last Monday.

J. L. Burns who is making his home for the present at Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Manley last Wednesday and while here packed the remainder of his goods for shipment.

Last Monday Mrs. W. D. Higgins and son, the Rev. Father Higgins, were called to Omaha where they attended the funeral of Mr. John McIntyre, a very close friend of the Higgins family.

Mrs. James Murphy who has been at Omaha, returned a few days since and reports that Mr. Murphy, who is in the hospital with a badly fractured hip, is getting along as well as might be looked for.

S. C. Keckler formerly of Manley and while here engaged in farming and conducting an elevator, but now making his home at Arriba, Colo., is visiting in Manley and looking after some business matters.

A team belonging to Mr. Earl Quinn became frightened at a piece of paper which blew against them, ran away from the lumber yard, making a circuit of Main street and stopped when one horse fell down near the Andrews home.

Mr. Eli Keckler was a visitor in Omaha a few days since, going to meet and bring to Manley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bauer, who had been called to South Dakota on account of the illness of a daughter, but who is at this time much improved.

A. H. Duxbury, of Plattsmouth, and withal an excellent young man, was a visitor in Manley last Wednesday looking after his political fences.

Mr. Duxbury, who is an attorney at Plattsmouth, where he has lived for the past fifteen years, is an aspirant for nomination to the position of county attorney on the republican ticket and was meeting the people here, making friends with all whom he met.

Visited Ak-Sar-Ben Den

Last Monday evening a number of the people of Manley and vicinity visited the Ak-Sar-Ben den at Omaha and enjoyed the occasion very much.

There were from here present on the occasion Ed Kelly, Hans Nelson, Joseph Wolpert, John Crane, Walter and Hugh O'Brien, Frank Earhart, R. Bergman and "Bux" Rowwell.

Picnicked at Capitol Beach

Last Sunday a number of the people of Manley, in their cars, went to Lincoln where they picnicked at Capitol Beach and were there joined by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Frost and their daughter, Ramona. There were present from Manley on this occasion, Messrs. and Mesdames R. Bergman, A. H. Humble, Phillip Shafer and Jesse Terryberry.

Some of the effects that follow the drinking thereof are best described in the following poem, the title of which has been very effectively named "Hooch:"

It was a nice day in October, Last September in July, The moon lay thick upon the ground, The mud shone in the sky.

The flowers were singing sweetly, The birds were in full bloom; Then I went into the basement To sweep an upstairs room.

The time was Tuesday morning, On a Wednesday just at night, I saw a thousand miles away, A house just out of sight.

The walls projected backwards, The front was round in back; It stood alone with two others, The fence was whitewashed black.

It was moonlight on the ocean, Not a street car was in sight; The sun was
