

ENJOY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Last evening Miss Florence Peacock entertained a number of her young friends at a most delightful picnic birthday party at the pleasant lakes near Cedar Creek. There were some sixteen of the young people in attendance and the event was one that will long be very delightfully remembered by those who were fortunate enough to be present. The guests were taken to Cedar Creek in cars and in the pleasant shade enjoyed games and other amusements as well as a very delicious luncheon that brought the evening to a close. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Hill Martin. Miss Florence Hodder of Council Bluffs was among those attending the party, being a guest at the Peacock home for the week end.

MANLEY NEWS

The Brann building had the windows blown out and broken by the hail.

The home of Mrs. Rose Kelly was twisted out of shape by the wind last Monday evening.

Aaron Rauth and family were guests at the home of J. C. Rauth and wife last Sunday.

Louis Stohman and Sophia Schlieffert both suffered the loss of cribs which were blown down.

The windows at the home of Mrs. Rose Kelly were all broken out by the storm of last Monday night.

The garage at the parsonage of Father Higgins was twisted out of shape by the storm of last week.

Theodore Harms had the roof blown off his shed at the store and the windows broken at his home.

The garage of W. J. Rau had the paint beaten off the boards on the side by the hail, and in some instances making depressions deep in the wood.

Mrs. Marie Evans and daughter, Wila, of Omaha, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rauth during the past week.

Miss Mia U. Gering, of Plattsmouth, candidate for county treasurer, was looking after her political friends in Manley last Thursday.

W. J. Rau and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rauth were visiting at Cedar Creek, where they went to visit the Boy Scout camp which is located there.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Mockenhaupt, of near Iwo, were visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mockenhaupt, of Manley, last Wednesday evening.

Daniel Bourke and Joseph Wolpert have turned foresters and have been busy cleaning up the debris of last Monday night's storm. They surely have made the town look better.

Miss Alice Bodkin of Kansas City, a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Humble, was visiting at the Humble home last week and on Thursday Mrs. Humble and Miss Bodkin were visiting in Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grace and daughter, Jean, accompanied by Mr. Grace's sister, Mrs. F. J. O'Connor, all of Omaha, were guests at the home of Father Higgins and his mother, Mrs. W. D. Higgins.

R. Bergman and family were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rauth at Saint Marys, Kansas, last Saturday and Sunday, returning home on Monday and found some very heavy roads.

L. R. Snipes, at a meeting held in Manley last week by the farmers, advocated the replanting of corn of the extra early variety known as 80 day corn, which would probably have an opportunity to ripen.

A large tree measuring over two feet in diameter standing in front of the pool hall was blown down across the front of the broom factory, lodging there, and exhibiting the strength of the gale which dislodged this monarch.

Among the places damaged and which will have to have new roofs or a portion thereof, are the lumber yard, Miss Mary Ann Murphy's home, the store of Theo. Harms, the Manley bank and the amusement parlor of Aug Krecklow.

Adolph Geise, who is a candidate for the nomination of sheriff on the democratic ticket, was a visitor in Manley last Thursday, meeting the voters and looking after his chances for election or rather nomination for the position. Mr. Geise surely has the size and strength for an executive officer.

Frank Stander and wife of Omaha were visiting in Manley and vicinity last week, and in conversation Mr. Stander said that he had received forty-two crops on the farms near Manley in the past forty-three years, and this was the first one to fail. Now this looks good for this portion of the county.

Robert E. Lister, who is a candidate on the progressive ticket for county clerk, accompanied by L. E. Elliott, were in Manley last Thursday posting notices pledging the progressive nominees to lower taxes. Mr. Lister was also looking after his political fences, he being a candidate for the nomination as county clerk.

Will Rauth and wife, who have made their home for a number of years past at St. Marys, Kansas, have been visiting to Manley, near where they lived for a number of years prior to going to Kansas. They will occupy the farm which they own between Manley and Wabash, and which has been farmed by Aaron Rauth.

Tex Wilson and E. J. Hill, of Plattsmouth, were in Manley last Thursday advertising the progressive party and nailing up posters as well. Mr. Hill was looking after his political chance, he being a candidate for nomination on that ticket for recorder of deeds. Mr. Hill is a member of the American Legion, being a past commander of the Plattsmouth post, and spent a number of months in the service overseas.

The windmill at the home of J. C. Rauth was blown down and after having what remained examined, he concluded to have an electric pump installed, and the contract therefor has been given to Chalmers Switzer, of Nebawka. Mr. Switzer is well qualified for the work which he has in hand, and when done Mr. Rauth will have an excellent device for furnishing his home with water.

Great Devastation Wrought

The worst storm which has visited Cass county in the past half century, left plenty of evidence in its wake at Manley last Monday evening. It required only fifteen minutes for a million and a quarter dollars worth of crops to be destroyed in Cass county, when the hail ruined about one hundred and twenty sections of growing crops, which the patient work of the farmer had created as an asset.

The storm, which originated in the northwest, entered the county at Greenwood and traversed the entire length, making its exit at Rock Bluff, on the Missouri river, and finding in its path Greenwood, Murdock, Manley, Murray and Rock Bluff, and a strip some four miles in width.

Beyond conception was the force which was required to carry this immense load of ice and water—more than a hundred freight trains could carry. At Manley it left a number of houses without roofs and the corn and oat fields beat into the ground, while the wheat, most of which was in the shock, was threshed out around the exposed edges, and beating it into the ground.

While the loss is appalling, the farmers with a spirit which seems unbreakable, though it is breaking some financially, are going to replant their land with the hope that they may be able to raise enough of a crop to tide them over until another year.

TO ATTEND MISSION

This morning Rev. H. O. Rhode, pastor of the Eight Mile Grove Evangelical church, departed for Leigh, Neb., where he goes to attend a mission festival to be held by the church there at which Rev. Rhode will deliver a special sermon. This able clergyman is well qualified to speak on the subject of mission work as his early career in the church was spent in the field of mission labors in the dark continent—Liberia, Africa—and for three years he taught the gospel in the heart of the dark-hued republic and was the only white man in forty miles and his earnest work was able to bring many to the Christian faith.

BUS MEN HAVE NO LIABILITY INSURANCE NOW

Insist that Companies Quote Too High a Rate For Them at Conference With Commission

The bus owners who testified Friday morning at the conference called by the state railway commission said that they did not carry any liability insurance because the rates quoted by the companies are too high. This rate is $300 a car per year for the first $10,000 and $100 a year for the next $10,000.

J. H. Shaner of Nebraska City was the lone exception, he carrying $30,000 on two cars for which he pays $1,025.

B. T. Jamieson, part owner of the line operating between Lincoln and Beatrice, said that they carried a $50,000 policy in the Aetna for three months at a cost of $105 for that period, but that after the company had examined the road and found the busses crossed five or six railroads the amount was cut to $15,000 and later cancelled because the provisions were not satisfactory to the insured. He said that all the agents quoted the same rate and referred to the same pamphlet. Not all of them wrote this insurance, but all agents offered to get it for them. These policies cover all risks, including liability to passengers for accidents.

Jamieson said he had had no accidents in the fifteen months he has operated, and that the only insurance he carries is compensation which covers the drivers only. Members of the commission pointed out, in questions and statements, the necessity for some protection to passengers other than the property or estate of the owners of the lines.

A. R. Rogers, who operates a bus line to and from hotels and depots and for town hire in Auburn, said he was quoted a rate of $350 a rig a year, and did not take the insurance because it was too high. He had had no accidents to passengers, and carries his own insurance with a caution to drivers to be careful. He has four rigs, two of them regulation busses.

An insurance man who heard some of the testimony stated to The Journal that the companies were not anxious for this business even at the rate quoted, because of the great hazard involved. Three hundred dollars, he said, would be a drop in the bucket to foot damages in one accident where passengers have the same right of action as when injured at the hands of any other common carrier.

Some twenty bus owners and operators were present at the hearing. Those who entered an appearance when the case was first called included: A. R. Rogers, Auburn only; J. M. McAvoy, Weeping Water to Lincoln; E. H. Chatterton, Weeping Water to Omaha; J. H. and W. W. Shaner, Lincoln to Nebraska City; E. E. Lehmen, York, Columbus and Norfolk; Henry Esser, Weeping Water to Omaha; F. H. Higgins, Nebraska City to Omaha; C. E. Hass, Omaha to Fremont; E. H. Peltz, York Grand Island and Hastings; B. T. Jamieson, Beatrice to Lincoln. Others present were: Mr. Hass is president of their organization.

In opening the conference Chairman Taylor explained that it was treading an unbeat path, and that the commission had no definite ideas to impress upon the bus men. It wanted to know their problems, discuss safety rules and regulations and talk over the question of liability insurance.—State Journal.

ILLIUMNESS AND CONSTIPATION

"For years I was troubled with illiunness and constipation, which made me feel like a man whose appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the bowels at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally." writes Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. Weyrich & Had-raba.

MEETING HELD AT MURRAY TO DISCUSS MEANS OF FACING BIG CROP LOSS.

From Saturday's Daily.

Facing the fact that their crops as well as the hard work that they put forth in preparing for the season's work, had been swept away in the storm of last Monday night, the farmers in and near Murray, to the number of 150 gathered at the hall in that place to discuss how they could best face the crisis.

County Agricultural Agent L. R. Snipes, who has taken a great interest in the plans of giving the farmers some relief from their losses, was in charge of the meeting and had with him Prof. Burr of the Nebraska state agricultural college, who is an expert on crop plantings and gave the members of the conference the benefit of his experience and training.

The lateness of the season has made the raising of another crop of corn out of the question and the majority of the farmers were of the opinion that a crop of soft feed or hay was all that they could secure from the lands swept by the hail.

Prof. Burr explained the points of the different crops suggested, sweet corn, ninety day corn and Kafir corn were suggested, as well as Sudan grass for pasture and hay and buckwheat for a crop as also discussed by the meeting.

Many of the old time residents of the territory who had been in this country during the great hail storm of 1883 offered the benefit of their experience to the gathering and to their remarks the younger farmers took careful note as this storm was of even greater extent than the one of this week.

Different members of the party offered their ideas as to the possibilities of crops and many urged the planting of millet for a crop for hay and pasture as well as feed and this idea seemed to take with many of the farmers in attendance.

The state representative urged the immediate planting of the crop and suggested that the new crop be planted between the rows of corn that had been destroyed to save time but in many cases this will be impossible and the farmers will have to place their new corn or feed crop in as quick as possible and in the manner that their land conditions will permit. It was reported that some seed corn of the quick maturing type could be secured at Nebraska City but as to whether this would be adequate to supply the demand could not be determined.

Everyone of the members of the community present was willing to put in some kind of a crop to save a little of the season's work if possible and to raise feed and pasture for their stock.

DEATH OF MRS. WM. KUNZMAN

Former Resident of Near Cedar Creek Passes Away at Home at Surprise, Nebraska.

The Cass county friends of Mrs. William Kunzman of Surprise, Nebraska, were shocked to learn of the death of this estimable lady at her home there after a lingering illness, on July 5, 1922, following an operation last February 28, which failed to relieve her sufferings or to prolong her life.

Her sister, Mrs. Henry Ahl, of Louisville, was with her at the last, as were the members of her family and other relatives.

Mrs. Kunzman was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Walradt, pioneer citizens of Cass county, in the vicinity of Cedar Creek. Her maiden name was Grace Keziah Walradt and she grew to womanhood in that neighborhood.

She was born July 13, 1865, and at the time of her passing she was 57 years, 11 months and 17 days old.

She was married to William Kunzman April 3, 1889, and they moved to Butler county and settled on the farm where they resided until her death. To this union five children were born, one dying in infancy. The four surviving children, who with the husband are left to mourn are Mrs. Harold Coleman, of Mitchell, Nebraska; Mrs. Albert Moore, of Hershey, Nebraska; Arthur and William, at Surprise. There are two surviving grandchildren. Six sisters and five brothers are left to mourn the passing of their sister. They are Mrs. Henry Ahl, of Louisville; Mrs. Mary Duff, of Cedar Creek; Mrs. Amanda Erickson, of Crete; Mrs. Ray Core, of Neligh; Mrs. Martin Leamy, of Creighton; Mrs. Herbert Baldwin, of Plainview; George, of Stanton; Andrew, of Lincoln; Chas., of Clay Center; Raymond, of Roca, and Levi of Greenwood.

Her funeral occurred last Saturday from the home and was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends and relatives. The relatives from here who attended, besides Mrs. Ahl, were Mrs. Mary Duff, of Cedar Creek and Mrs. William Lohnes of near Cedar Creek.—Louisville Courier.
