WENT INTO THE DITCH TO AVOID COLLISION

Mr. and Mrs. Osborn McNurlin autoed down from Central City and spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McNurlin.

The other side of Lincoln they had the misfortune to go into the ditch, but neither one of them with the exception of a few bruises, were hurt.

They were driving along with two cars coming toward them and never noticed a car that was backing out of a driveway. The driver didn't seem to notice them, but was looking the other way. Osborn said he thought he was going to hit the car square on the side, so took the ditch. The bank was steep so the car did not turn over, which was fortunate for them.

Osborn raises fancy Poland China hogs as a side line to his prosperous restaurant business and called on several Poland China raisers on his way down. He visited R. W. Porter fine herd and others near Avoca and Nehawka on Sunday. He will make an exhibit at the state fair this fall and expects to get some good premiums.

They returned home Monday afternoon.—Weeping Water Republican.
