THE LORD DELIVERED HIM

But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long suffering, charity, patience persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me.—II Timothy iii, 10 and 11.

The best substitute for brains is silence.

If the flapper keeps on there won't be anything to flag.

It is well to arise to the occasion, but not to go up in the air.

After mixing business with pleasure, business never looks the same.

Washington has stopped saving daylight and isn't saving anything now.

In spite of the fact that financial experts are saying business is better, it is.

If nature never made a mistake, we would like to know why is a mosquito?

We spend four billions yearly for fun and still some people never seem to have any.

It is said that people are getting better every day, but the nights are getting longer.

The world gets better. A woman lives with her husband 46 years before shooting him.

In Georgia a man was on the jury that gave his wife a divorce. That makes it unanimous.

The ex-kaiser's memoirs will be published in September. The melancholy days are coming.

It is permissible to eat onions in a restaurant. The bill will always take your breath away.

The easiest way to discover lost relatives is to die and leave a lot of unnumbered real estate.

The new tariff places a tax on cash registers, but is undecided about other musical instruments.

An Omaha boxer got a divorce because his wife beat him. She must be one of these clubwomen.

San Francisco has opened a plumbers' school. The first lesson should be "improving the memory."

"Adam and Eve" were arrested in the Maine woods for killing a deer. Eve probably tempted Adam.

Daugherty says he would not quit his job for a million dollars. Is the unemployed as bad as that?

Meanwhile, the thrifty moth is making reservations in blankets for the winter season of 1922-23.

A booster is a man who is successful at getting somebody else to do what he ought to do himself.

In Florida a lost aviator lived on grasshoppers for three days. Now he has no trouble dodging autos.

After looking over what congressmen have done, we wonder why they don't collect their life insurance.

In Detroit a man married a widow with twelve children. This puts the aviator who dropped four miles in second place.

Appearances are indeed deceiving. A man who habitually wore a plug hat and yet at heart he was decent and kind.

We heard a lady remark the other day, that she was more than proud of our boys, the way they had conducted themselves during this strike.

The Boston-Herald suggests that what the fighting Irish need is a diversion. If they could only get a tariff bill to argue, says the Herald, their trouble might vanish.

Italy is declared to be threatened with civil war, but these days the institution of government does not consider civil war anything like the reproach it used to. It's a sort of adjunct to government lately.

Blank books at the Journal Office.

A big wheat crop is predicted. Say it with flour.

A little thoughtfulness will accomplish much.

Some men are deliberate while others acknowledge they are lazy.

One nice thing about smiling, it keeps folks from observing your ears.

Cheer up. Only one person in every 300,000 is struck by lightning.

England wants American laws. We might give her some we don't use.

Wonder why people like to be in the front row every place but at church.

One fool bigger than a fool is a fool who laughs at his wife's last year's dresses.

Only way a vice president can get his name in the papers is by being born on a holiday.

The only time that you can mix business with pleasure is when it's a pleasure to work.

She hates to go to the mountains to see the scenery when she can go out to Cedar Creek and be the scenery.
