RAIL MEN APPEAL TO PRESIDENT TODAY

THREE BROTHERHOODS ASK A CONFERENCE WITH HARDING ON CONDITIONS.

ASK FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION

Jewell Leaves For Washington For a Conference With President Harding on the Situation

Chicago, Aug. 4.—B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, and William Johnston, international president of the machinists' union, left for Washington today, to have a conference with President Harding.

Mr. Jewell's departure was shrouded in the same secrecy as his trip of 10 days ago, when he laid the grievances of the striking shopmen before Mr. Harding. He received a message it was said, asking him to come for a conference immediately.

Mr. Jewell's second trip to see the president was viewed in union circles as indicative that further peace negotiations were to be opened.

Cleveland, Aug. 4.—Legislative representatives of three of the four railroad brotherhoods in Washington were requested by telegraph to arrange a conference between President Harding and the chief executives of the brotherhoods for the purpose of presenting to the president their views in connection with the present strike of railroad shop crafts.

A telegram was sent direct to President Harding by the three local chief executives of the brotherhoods asking for a conference.

The matter has been under consideration since Thursday by Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Engineers; W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; and D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, but because of failure to get a reply for joint action from L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and the other members of the "Big Four," it was decided to ask for the conference through the legislative representatives of the engineers, trainmen and firemen.

Seek Immediate Action

Mr. Sheppard was telegraphed tonight because of the serious situation hourly developing. It was decided to seek the conference immediately.

"If you decide to take similar action you can wire your legislative representative direct," the telegram said.

The telegram to three legislative representatives was addressed to H. E. Willis of the engineers, Arthur J. Lovell of the firemen and W. N. Doak of the trainmen, as follows:

"Cleveland, O., Aug. 4, 1922.

"Referring to our joint telegram this date, authorizing you to arrange conference with president. We have wired the president as follows:

"The undersigned have this day wired our national legislative representatives at Washington, instructing them to request a conference with you for the purpose of presenting to you our views in connection with the present strike of railroad shopcrafts which is daily developing into a more serious situation."

"SYDNEY,"

"LEE,"

"ROBERTSON."

Flood of Complaints

Another message to the three legislative representatives signed by the three chief executives, sent tonight, gives details for the urgency of the conference, made necessary by the flood of complaints received at headquarters regarding working conditions on railroads.

DANCING EXHIBITION LAST NIGHT WELL ATTENDED

Pupils of Miss Whelpley Give Dances at the High School that Is Very Pleasing.

From Saturday's Daily.

Last evening at the "gym" of the high school was held the result by the pupils of Miss Dorothy Whelpley of Fremont, in dancing and the occasion one in which the little folks participating covered themselves with the highest honors as they interpreted the various dances that they had been trained in by their instructor and the grace and ease with which the little ladies carried out their parts showed marked ability.

The solo dancing was by Catherine Flynn of this city and Lois Balduff of Fremont, both of whom were exceptionally clever in their parts. Little Miss Vestetta Robertson, in "The Song of the Robin," was very winsome and attractive and the "Clown Dance" by three little boys, Parmele Dovey, Tommie Patterson and James Robertson was one that was greatly enjoyed by everyone in the large audience.

The groups of little ladies in their beautiful costumes were a sight to please everyone with their fresh, childish beauty and the attractive colored dancing costumes and showed great skill in their rendition of the awakening of the flowers of springtime. Catherine Flynn appeared as "Spring," and the Flowers, Butterflies and Rose Maidens took their parts in the story of the dance. The "Flowers" were represented by Nadine Clويد, Mary Ann Rosencrans, Lois Jean, Dorothy Mason, Rose Mary Clويد, Inga Reichstadt, Dorothy Farmer, Bessie Halstead, Anna Margaret McCarthy (Butterflies), Margaret Shallenberger, Emily Lorenz, Maxine Clويد, Helen Jane West, Vestetta Robertson and Aurelia Reichstadt, while the "Rose Maidens" were Charlotte Fields, Bertha Schulhof, Louise Fogarty, Ruth Smith, Jane Dunbar, Catherine Flynn, Laura Grassman, Patricia Flynn and Alice Bullin.

A special number, "The Dutch Windmill," was also given by Jean Caldwell and Bernice Fogarty, which was very clever.

The entire entertainment was one that reflected the greatest credit on Miss Whelpley and her class and certainly shows the wonderful aid in the natural grace of the children, that the dancing lessons have given.

AUTO DRIVER AND FAIR COMPANION FALL ASLEEP

Car Hits Telephone Pole and Devotees of Festive Jazz Have a Rude Awakening.

At an early hour Tuesday morning an auto accident occurred on O street just east of Eagle which should prove a warning to young people who indulge too freely in all-night pleasures.

A young man from Hamburg, Iowa, who gave his name as W. M. Paine, and a young lady from Lincoln, whose name is withheld, were returning from what they said was a "two-nights" dancing spree, when she simply could not longer stay awake, and cushioning her head against the shoulder of her escort, forgot her troubles and pleasures.

The young man at the wheel resolutely stuck to his job, but finally forgot his responsibility, and the next he remembered they were both picking themselves up from an involuntary contact with a telephone pole. Perhaps Henry also got sleepy—at least he left the road.

The car was somewhat damaged, but run under its own power to town for repairs. The lady was pretty badly cut up, as was also her escort, but after first aid from Dr.

Longacre, they proceeded to Lincoln. In the afternoon the young man returned to Eagle on his way back to Hamburg, and seemed no worse for his experience.—Eagle Beacon.

PERKINS COUNTY CROPS ARE EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD

George Schoeman, Harry Henton, Rex Young and William Sporer, the latter two from near Murray, drove out to Perkins county last week. On their way out they stopped overnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Selver, at Buffalo, and report them getting along nicely.

They then stopped at North Platte and called on George Prater. "What 'en 'ell do you want?" was the greeting George gave them, but they knew him of old and had a most enjoyable visit. Mr. Prater sent his best regards to all his old friends in Louisville. Mr. Schoeman reports crops looking fine in Perkins county. Wheat is averaging about 20 bushels, oats fair and corn in excellent condition.

Mr. Schoeman has a quarter section of fine land near the town of Grant and is well pleased with the crop outlook. Mr. and Mrs. Henton returned by train. Mr. Young will not return until some time in September.—Louisville Courier.

GIVES ACCOUNT OF PASSING OF LITTLE ONE

The Steamboat Springs (Colo.) Sentinel has the following account of the death of little Doris Furlong, granddaughter of Mrs. W. A. Taylor and S. I. Furlong of this county.

"A pall of gloom was cast over Steamboat Springs Saturday by the news that Doris Furlong, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Furlong, had passed away. Grief was general throughout the community, for the little 6-year-old girl had been a favorite with all who knew her, for she had always radiated good cheer and happiness.

"The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Congregational church, and as a mark of respect to the bereaved parents, all business houses were closed, from 2 until 3 o'clock. The service was conducted by Rev. C. Upham with the reading of several passages from the Scriptures by Rev. Joseph H. Darling. Two appropriate selections were sung by a choir of girls of the Congregational Sunday school, and B. Bradley sang "Asleep in Jesus."

There were many floral offerings and the altar was banked with flowers. Many friends, from all parts of the county were present. The pallbearers were A. R. Brown, Ray Peck, W. E. Fitzgerald, James A. Brobeck, George Clatte and J. M. Kellogg.

Doris Furlong was born April 30, 1916, at Omaha, Nebr. She was taken ill two weeks ago, and last week Monday such serious conditions had developed that she was taken to the Steamboat hospital, where she was operated upon at once for appendicitis. It was found that the appendix had ruptured, and after a brave struggle for life, the little girl passed away, Saturday morning at 3 o'clock.

The parents have the sincere sympathy of all of the people of Northwestern Colorado in their loss."

PREPARING FOR ENCAMPMENT

From Saturday's Daily.

This morning Majors Pruyn and Bendel of the 17th infantry, motorized down from Fort Crook, accompanied by their ladies, and spent a few hours in looking over the city with which they were favorably impressed. The officers are preparing a series of training exercises for the officers of the Nebraska national guard during the coming encampment and which will be carried out in the territory adjacent to the city. The hills and valleys of this locality make a very pleasing spot for exercises of this nature and many problems can be prepared for the instruction of the guard officers that will be of much benefit. The two regular army officers have just recently arrived at Fort Crook from their service in the southwest and enjoy very much the change to the northern climate.

PLATTE RIVER PROJECT DRAWS ATTENTION

Noted New York Engineer Greatly Impressed With Possibilities of Power Plant Project.

The Platte river water power project that has been planned by a number of our people here and the initial steps of which have been taken to get under way, is commencing to draw the attention of the engineers of the country who have had experience in this line of work.

One of these engineers, M. J. Whitson, manager of the engineering firm of Stone & Webster of New York, one of if not the largest firm of constructing engineers in the country, was here this week looking after the lay of the land and making a thorough investigation of the Platte and the possibilities of harnessing the water supply to aid in the advancement of the residents of this part of the state.

That this firm is one of the best in the country can be appreciated by the fact that they constructed the Keokuk, Iowa dam and water plant and their praise of the Platte river power plant certainly makes them look even better to the parties who have been boosting the proposition.

The engineer was greatly impressed with the plans that have been made and made a trip right to the scenes where the proposed dam and plant to harness the waters of the river for commercial purposes have been laid. The amount of water and the fall of the river at this point were all greater than the engineer had thought possible and he readily believes that the project is one that can be made a great success.

This power plant project is one that would seem to offer one of the greatest opportunities for this part of the state to secure a great supply of power from the use of the river and at a very low cost compared with that of other companies that have to construct and maintain plants that are a great expense and which necessarily makes the cost of power much greater to the consumer.

With the endorsement of such eminent engineers as Mr. Whitson, it would seem as though the Platte river power project was one that should be a real benefit to this section if it can be put across. With a good water power plant in operation, the cost of light and power and other uses to which the power could be used would be very little.

An overseas style cap, in the shape of a large ear of corn, has been suggested by Lloyd Kain of Gothenburg, as the official Nebraska badge for the hundreds of ex-soldiers who will attend the national convention of the American Legion at New Orleans this fall.
