BUCKINGHAM DEFENDS ADDITIONAL CHARGES

Hearing on South Side Into Re-Weigh Charges Concluded Yesterday Afternoon.

At the concluding session yesterday afternoon of the hearing with regard to the re-weigh charge imposed by the Union Stock Yards company on all stock weighed and yarded out of the regular stocker and feeder division of the yards, Everett Buckingham, vice president and general manager of the company, defended the additional charge on the grounds that the revenue derived from such a charge was small and no more than justifiable for service rendered. "Full yardage charges for similar service have been in force at other markets for some time," he said, and we delayed adding the charge as long as possible.

ness carried on at the Omaha market during the past year were submitted. Explaining the term "marketing privileges," Mr. Buckingham went into some detail, going to the days in 1884 when the Omaha market was organized and tracing its growth up to its present tremendous proportions. "It is almost impossible to place a fixed value on 'marketing privileges,'" he declared, "for in the thirty-eight years I have been engaged in this industry it has grown step by step to its present high point of efficiency. It is a privilege," he continued, "for any man, whether he ships one animal or a trainload of fifty cars, to know that when he reaches this market a buyer will be there and his stock will be cared for without discrimination."

The committee, composed of Judge Payard T. Hainer, G. M. Dagger, John E. Ewing, and Miss W. N. Daish, expressed thanks for their cordial reception and treatment while at the Exchange. They will conduct a similar hearing beginning next Monday at Peoria. The re-weigh charge will be the nucleus of that hearing and it will at the Chicago hearing to open October 1.

Lower Interest on Farm Loans!

Perhaps you have a mortgage against your place. Maybe it is not due yet, but probably have an option or right to pay the loan in full when you pay the next interest.

If you are paying more than 5 1/2% now, don't wait for the loan to become due, but see me about a new loan before the next interest paying date.

STRANGE CASE IS UP FOR DECISION

Defendant in Foreclosure Suit Holds Note and Mortgage for Which Plaintiff Says No Payment

A case was before Judge Wheeler last week that possessed the elements for a basis of a Dumas story or a Wallingford scheme. C. E. Slump brought action to foreclose a mortgage on the farm occupied by James Noel. In the trial it developed that the defendant, Noel, has in his possession the mortgage and the accompanying note and the abstract of the land upon which Slump, the plaintiff, asked a foreclosure.

The defendant claimed that he had paid the mortgage in cash to the plaintiff. The plaintiff asserts that the first intimation he had in the matter was a notice through the bank from the defendant that he, Slump, should make of record a release of mortgage held against the Noel farm, insisting that he had received no money from any one in discharge of the mortgage. Mr. Slump started suit to foreclose.

Noel, the defendant, claims that he paid the obligation in cash to Mr. Slump one evening in a garage at Henderson. As evidence of this Noel shows his possession of the mortgage and the note. These papers were supposed to be locked in a safety deposit box at the Farmers National bank, Henderson.

Noel claims that he received most of the cash to discharge the mortgage from an uncle and presented correspondence showing that he met his uncle in the Kansas-City, Mo., Union depot and there received the money. It is claimed that the money was kept in the Noel home for some time waiting the date when the mortgage was due.

The case is one of the most peculiar that has ever come before Judge Wheeler for adjudication. He took it under advisement for a time.

OBITUARY OF MRS. RHODEN

Josephine Carper was born in Cass county, Ill., on November 4, 1861, coming with her parents to Weeping Water, Neb., in 1863, where she grew to womanhood.

She was united in marriage to Wm. A. Rhoden on November 24, 1881, at Weeping Water, Neb. They then settled on a farm near Murray, Neb., where three sons were born. A daughter was born later dying in infancy.

In 1891 they moved to farm near Elmwood, remaining there until 1919, when they purchased a farm near Wakeenau, Kan., where they have since resided.

Mrs. Rhoden passed away Sept. 12, 1922, at her home at the age of sixty years, ten months and eight days.

She was survived by her three sons Wm. H., LeRoy, and J. Sterling, a grandson, Chas. W., whom she cared for from infancy, besides eight other grandchildren, also two sisters, Mrs. C. E. Barrett who was with her during her last sickness, and Mrs. M. T. Turner, and six brothers, Alfred B., James M., J. T., H. V., and I. E. Carper.

Mrs. Rhoden preceded her passing away, dying on August 13, 1921. Mrs. Rhoden lived a devoted Christian life uniting with the church in 1890, while they lived at Murray, Neb., and on their moving to Elmwood, placed her membership with the congregation in that place. Her faith and works are known by those who knew her and has been cast until the end came.

Her body was brought to Elmwood to be buried by the side of her husband. Funeral services were held on Sept. 16, 1922, in the Christian church, where she had been a member; being conducted by J. F. Hay and at the grave the Eastern Star had charge of the service.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund, well fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, causing indigestion of constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live to a ripe old age. Weyrich & Hadabra.

FUNERAL OF MISS LAHODA

From Friday's Daily. The funeral services of the late Catherine Lahoda were held yesterday afternoon from the late home on Wintersteen Hill and attended by a large number of the old friends and neighbors. Rev. John Calvert, pastor of the Methodist church, conducted the services and the music was furnished by the choir from the church. At the conclusion of the service the body was borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was laid to rest.

If you have anything to sell, or want to buy, don't overlook a want-ad in the Daily Journal.

It's toasted. This one extra process gives a delightful quality that can not be duplicated.

ATTEND DIVISION REUNION

A great many of the former service men from Cass county and Plattsmouth have been in attendance at Omaha of the reunion of the 89th division, one of the first national army divisions formed in the World war and which was one of the first to cross the ocean to participate in the campaigns in France. The members of the division were formed from the men in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Colorado, who were called in the first selective draft in September, 1917. A large number from this city went sent to Camp Funston in the first part of September, 1917, and allotted to this division. Among these W. R. Holly, Emil Hill, John Miller and Carl Dalton served with the division until being discharged at the close of the war. Fred Newman, Clifford Fisher, Joe Stenik, Burale Rankow, Robert Wills, Albert Godwin, Fred Rutherford, James Biggs, James Carnik, Ed Bushus, Anton Rys and Charles Lahoda were also members of the division for some time but were later transferred to other organizations. Earl Walker, sent from this city to the division, was killed in a gas attack at the time of the entrance of the troops in action in France. William Powell, who now resides in this city, was also a member of the division.

LOAN ASSOCIATION ADOPTS SLIDING SCALE

In making the adjustment of the loss occasioned in straightening out the affairs of the Livingston Loan & Building association the directors and officers have arranged a sliding scale of the losses that will be necessary to meet and which will divide equally as possible the amount that will be made necessary to cover the loss. The shares maturing at this time will be extended for a period that will cover their pro rata of the loss and each year accordingly. In this way of placing the loss the burden falls on the earnings of the shares instead of being a direct assessment on the stockholders and while it will make a longer time for the older shares to mature at the regular rate of interest, all will receive their full amount at the end and the shares cashed in at their full value. Those who took out shares this year in the new series or that may hereafter secure stock in any series to be issued will not be affected by the scale for the losses as their shares will be handled as has been the custom and they receive their full amount at the end of the ten years.

RALPH LARSON AND BRIDE RETURN FROM HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Larson arrived home from their honeymoon trip to Colorado last Sunday evening. They left the day of the wedding by automobile, in company with the bride's cousin, Elmer Johnson, and wife and they spent a few delightful days sight-seeing in the mountains of Colorado. On their return trip, they stopped in Bayard for a short visit with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Jacobson and family. They report the Jacobsons well and prospering and they sent their best regards to their old friends in Louisville. They also stopped for a short visit with relatives in Aurora.

They found some wonderful roads, but on the return trip they had to detour considerably as the highways in many places are undergoing extensive repairs. In Colorado Springs they just chanced to see Paul Fitzgerald driving by, but were unable to attract his attention.

Mr. Larson and bride will go to housekeeping at once in the splendid rental property on south Main street, which is now owned by Andrew Schoeman who purchased it of his brother-in-law, Adam Rentschler. This house has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kahler, but they are moving into their fine new home this week.

The Louisville friends of Mr. and Mrs. Larson will be pleased to have this estimable couple establish a home in our midst and will renew their best wishes and congratulations.—Louisville Courier.

No Substitute Offered

Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety-nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, when the best medicine for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know from what their customers say of it, that it can be depended upon. DIES AT NEBRASKA CITY

From Thursday's Daily. A message was received here today by Mrs. James Higley and John Richardson, announcing the death of their nephew, Jesse Richardson, at his home in Nebraska City. This is the first intimation of the illness of the young man that the relatives here had received. The funeral will be held tomorrow at Nebraska City and Mr. Richardson and Claude Richardson and wife will motor to that city for the funeral services.

The deceased was some twenty-two years of age and leaves the wife and mourn his loss.

A Pronounced Success

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints, both for children and adults, has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival and as everyone who has used it knows, it is without an equal.
