GIVES A VERY PLEASING ADDRESS LAST EVENING

George A. Lee of Omaha Speaks on Modern Day Problems to Members of the Y. M. B. C.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Last evening the members of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Methodist church enjoyed a treat that was inspirational in the extreme in the address given by George A. Lee, former attorney general of the state of Washington, and who is now located at Omaha.

Preceding the address there was a half hour of song, Mrs. E. Wescott leading the young men in this feature of the evening the members of the class found much enjoyment in this diversion and at the close of the informal songfest, Mrs. Wescott gave a few selections that were very much appreciated.

Mr. Lee in the opening of his remarks disclaimed the origination of the thought of the address which he had heard from the lips of James M. Beck, solicitor general of the United States, at the convention of the leaders in the public utilities work in the nation held recently in Chicago.

One of the main thoughts of the address of the evening was that of the growing disregard for law in the nation and to support the argument that this was one of the growing evils of the day, Mr. Lee read a few of the figures in regard to the increasing number of arrests made and of the crimes committed in which there were no convictions made. One of the most striking of these was from Chicago with over 300 murders and only 44 convictions in the year 1921. The disregard for the constitution by the people of the nation was also shown by the number of crimes against the federal laws.

The general tendency of the day was that of disregard for the theory of earnest and hard work by the people and an orgy of pleasure in which all of the best and highest in life was overlooked in the mad rush of the young people of the present day. Of the things worth while he pointed out that in the great city of New York there had been no play produced that had lived beyond the hectic Broadway whirl of the dramas of Shakespeare had lived thru hundreds of years. The sensational jazz worshipping modern day public was slowly and surely undermining the foundations of the nation and if continued it would only be a question of time until the best of the national life was wiped out.

A return to the high ideals of the forefathers and an appreciation of the rights of liberty that the constitution gave was urged by Mr. Lee and with a true Christian viewpoint of the national life the speaker of the present day would in time be eradicated.

At the close of the address the members of the party were served with refreshments of pie and coffee by the rustling committee and which made a great hit with the bunch.

ALL STAR FOOTBALL TEAM TO PLAY IN OMAHA OCT. 22

On next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 22, the Omaha Olympic All Star team will meet the fast Atlantic, Ia., team in a football game to be played at the Western League park, Omaha.

The Olympics have secured the services of some of the greatest of college gridiron stars in this section of the country, among them being Tom Berry, captain and the greatest center ever developed at Creighton; Earl Walsh, last year a dashing half back for Notre Dame; Walter McKechnie, 190-pound half back of Washington State; Gene Leahy, wonderful full back of Creighton in '18 and '19; Wade Munn, last year of the powerful Nebraska eleven, at guard; Ole Paulson, giant tackle, former Great Lakes and Creighton man; Paul Shanahan, Central high; Mike Healy, Creighton; Bill Day, Georgia Tech, and numerous others of more or less note.

The Atlantic, Iowa, team has a record that would be proud of. They have held the championship of western Iowa for the past six years and have never been scored on by any team from Omaha in that period. For that reason alone Managers Corney and Shanahan have approached and secured the services of the above mentioned men and are confident that the Olympics will break the spell not only by scoring but by beating the Iowa outfit. Never the less a great battle is expected and the fans in this part of the country will witness a rare treat in the art of football.

SHOWS GREAT INCREASE IN THE STATE EXPENSE

Salaries are Two and a Half Times Larger Than Those of Pre-Code Era of the Democrats.

Lincoln, Oct. 17.—The state of Nebraska is paying two and one-half times as much in salaries to its employees as it did in the previous regime era, while traveling expenses are three and one-half times the aggregate cost to the state five years ago, as disclosed by a report of Finance Secretary Phil F. Gross and compared with the report of expenditures for 1917, prepared by the then auditor, William H. Smith.

The amount paid out during the fiscal year of 1916-17 for wages was $1,584,414.80. During the year just past the same item amounted to $3,828,896.85. In round numbers, the increase is $2,244,482.

An even greater contrast appears in the figures on traveling expenses, including telephone and telegraph bills. In 1916-17 the amount was $94,787.78, while in 1921-22 it had increased to $338,947.64.

Traveling rates have been cut from 2 cents and 3 cents to 1 cent and 1 cent, in the five years since the first record was compiled. Under the code administration, however, this item, instead of showing a corresponding decrease, has increased by about $5,000 or 18 per cent.

State taxes for 1915 to 1918, inclusive, including the war period and preceding the enactment of the code law, totalled $15,000,000. For the next four years, under McKelvie, state taxes have been levied to a total amount of $33,000,000.

ODD FELLOWS MEMBERSHIP SHOWS GAIN OF 293 FOR YEAR

Lincoln, Oct. 17.—The membership of the grand encampment of the Odd Fellows of Nebraska is now 5,109, a gain of 239 for the year, according to reports filed with the state convention now in session here. About 3,000 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are present for the general conventions of each department. There are 20,000 members of the Odd Fellows order in the state at the present time.

A brisk fight is on for the position of grand secretary, a paid office. I. P. Gage of Fremont, who held it for 30 years, died recently and a dozen candidates have lightning rods already erected. Louis H. Gage, his son as assistant, is in the list.

The Eight Mile Grove Lutheran church has just received a very beautiful oil painting of "Receiving Christ," a copy of one of the old masters which was prepared by one of the leading artists of Minneapolis. The painting is placed as one of the altar decorations in the church and is the gift of the young people's society of the church and is a very handsome addition to the exterior of the church building and the congregation and Rev. Rhode feel very appreciative of the splendid gift of the young people.

Andy Schmader departed this morning for Omaha to remain for a few days looking after some matters preparatory to leaving for California where he will spend the winter and look over the fight game there. On account of race feeling in the south the fight scheduled between Andy and Sam Langford at El Paso, Texas, has been called off.

Miss Leone Brady of Casper, Wyo., arrived here yesterday afternoon for a short visit here at the home of her brother, E. H. Brady and family and her many friends in the city. Miss Brady is well pleased with her home in the west and reports her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brady, as doing very nicely.

Anton Tuma and wife of Omaha were here today visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. William F. Sitzman and family, returning this afternoon to their home.

STATE INCOME TAX PROPOSED BY FARM BUREAUS OF STATE

Executive Board of Federation Outlines Legislative Program at Meeting in Lincoln.

Lincoln, Oct. 16.—Provision for a state income tax, taxation of municipally-owned public utilities; taxing of the privately-owned public utilities on their rate making value; repeal of the federal state "dollar matching" plan and revision of the present high school curriculum to provide for a more practical system of courses and greater local control over public schools, were the outstanding features of the legislative program of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation, adopted at a meeting here last week of the executive board and presidents of some 40 county farm bureaus.

The meeting of farm bureau heads, held here, recommended a joint Farm Bureau-Farmers' union legislative committee to present farmers' demands to the coming legislature, if possible.

Oppose Present Courses

The farm bureau officials went on record as opposed to the present uniform charge made for high school tuition for rural students and declared that the present high school curriculum is "designed to provide credits for college entrance rather than to equip the student with a practical education," and they believe that the curriculum of each high school should be left in the hands of the local authorities; also that the uniform examination question sent out by the state superintendent should be discontinued. They also opposed the proposed "county unit" plan of school government, which they declare will take control out of the hands of local authorities.

In connection with the recommendations for the taxation of municipally owned public utilities, it also is recommended that bonds and other securities of governmental subdivisions, now exempt from taxation, be brought into the poll rolls.

The Smith mortgage law, which the farm bureau officials demand be repealed, exempts farm mortgages from taxation, placing the entire burden of the tax value of the farm upon the man owning the equity in the farm and having possession. They believe that the farmer should be taxed only on the equity he owns.

"Make Tax Rolls Public"

Other legislation demanded by the Farm Bureau federation is as follows:

Laws making possible the organization of a farmers' finance corporation.

Laws to make the public tax rolls of each county and township.

Creation of township boards of equalization but retention of the county board of equalization.

Co-operation with other states in abolishing the "dollar-matching" system of federal-state road building.

Legislation that will leave the larger percentage of automobile license money in the county for maintenance of county roads.

Continuance of appropriations for eradication of bovine tuberculosis and agricultural extension work.

Want Loan Limit Raised

A law with proper safeguards, so that the state may buy land where sold for taxes.

On the subject of national legislation, the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation officials ask that the limit of federal farm loans be raised from $10,000 to $25,000. They expressed opposition to the proposed ship subsidy; to cancellation of foreign debt; the transfer of the bureau of markets from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Trade and Commerce; the sales tax. They support the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project and declare that tax-free securities be made subject to taxation and such exemption be discontinued. Repeal of the provisions of the Esch-Cummins law which allow railroad rates intended to guarantee the railroads a fixed income, also was urged at the meeting.

Mrs. L. E. Vroman and daughter Donice departed this morning for Lincoln where they will spend a short time visiting with friends in that city.

Glen Vallery from near Murray was a visitor in the city this morning looking after some trading with the merchants.
