Roosevelt and Navy Day Celebrated in East

Pageantry, Flags and Addresses in New York and at Navy Yard—Pilgrimage to Grave.

New York, Oct. 27.—A tiny American flag placed by some venture-some Eastside school boy, flutters in stiffening breezes at the pier head of a jetty on the East river. The Atlantic fleet, in gala attire, rides at anchor on the wide North river. And between the two rivers today, with flowers and flags, parades and addresses, New York observed Navy day, in one celebration paying homage to the sea forces of the nation and commemorating the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt.

Broadway was gay in tri-hued hunting and patriotic colors. Fifth avenue, great in hanging flags, reflected the solemnity of the occasion. While Roosevelt drive, with the soldiers' and sailors monument draped and banked with wreaths for the occasion, and with the fleet in the distance, spoke the martial message of the celebration.

A birthday festival will be held tonight at Carnegie Hall. In school houses throughout the city, the occasion was observed by the children. A special celebration was held on the Eastside, where under the auspices of the League of Foreign Born citizens paid tribute to the memory of Colonel Roosevelt in parades and meetings which frequently revealed traces of old world customs. Five thousand East side school children took part in a picturesque pageant in Fifth avenue churches, special services were held. A community sing, in which hundreds of sailors from the fleet participated, was held in the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas.

For the first time since the United States entered the war in 1917, the New York navy yard was thrown open to the public, and many paid their tribute to the present sea forces and the work of Roosevelt as assistant secretary of the navy, by visiting and inspecting the ships at the yard.

Two places were singled out for special pilgrimages. One was a restored home on East Twentieth street where Theodore Roosevelt was born and which was opened to visitors by the Women's Roosevelt Memorial association. The other was the grave of Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. Many visits were made to the grave throughout the day by delegations from patriotic and military organizations, and by far the largest of these was the company of 1,000 Boy Scouts, whose visit to Oyster Bay on the birthday of the former president has become an annual custom.

DEMOCRAT CANNOT RUN AS REPUBLICAN
But Attorney General Says Either One May Accept Progressive Nomination.

Assistant Attorney General Mason Wheeler has given the following opinion to Charles Dorby, county attorney of Howard county: "You ask if a candidate for a county office on the democratic ticket who received the nomination on that ticket after a personal filing can have his name appear on the progressive and republican tickets at the general election by receiving the endorsement of both parties at the primary.

"The general principle is that at the general election a candidate must carry his true colors, and a republican cannot masquerade as a democrat and run at the election as a democrat. (State vs. Well, 92 Nebr. 337).

"Both the republican and democratic parties are old well established and antagonistic parties, consequently upon the authority of the case above cited in our opinion a democratic nominee is not entitled to have his name appear on the republican ticket at the election.

"The progressive party was formally organized in Nebraska. Whether or not it is an independent antagonistic party is a question of fact upon which we have not sufficient information to base an opinion. From newspaper account the progressive party has endorsed several democratic candidates for state offices, and it may be that some republicans have accepted the progressive endorsement. By proper action on the part of the central committees of the progressive party such party in our opinion may endorse candidates at either the republican or democratic parties.
