MAKE MONEY BY CAR SHORTAGE IN HIGHER PRICES

Delegation From Cass County Protests Against Failure of M. P. to Furnish Cars.

Superintendent Kirk told a delegation of protesting farmers who appeared before the state railway commission Friday morning that the Missouri Pacific wanted their business, but it didn't have the box cars with which to handle their grain. He said he appreciated that their bankers and storekeepers were after them for money, and that they wanted the opportunity to market their grain to meet these obligations, but that as a matter of fact they were making money every day of delay.

Mr. Kirk said that there was a shortage of wheat and corn in various sections of the middle west and that this meant better prices in the future. This delay meant money for the men who have supplies for sale, and while it was the chance to cash in now that they desired he could not help them.

The strike situation at the present time, he said, enters very little into the shortage, because the road has over ninety cars ready for delivery to him Thursday. The road has retaliated for such conduct by putting an embargo on him, which means that he will get no more coal and is likely to lose part of that consigned him.

This is the second Missouri Pacific shippers delegation that has come to the commission this week. The first one represented elevator men along the Crete branch, and the second men operating in the towns from Union to Lincoln. They are very urgent in their demands for cars. Figures submitted show that the elevators are averaging about one car a week. Mr. Kirk said he couldn't do any better, because the box cars are not on hand.

Last year, from July 1 to October 21 his road handled 5,546 cars of grain, while this year, due to the box car shortage, the total has been 1,438. This includes Nebraska outside of Omaha. He says only about 5 per cent of the cars being handled are box cars. The road is now handling from 10 to 12 per cent more business than a year ago, and October of last year was the best it ever had.

The commission and the shippers have the idea that because the Nebraska division is a losing proposition and because it represents the stub ends of lines it is being discriminated against in favor of those states

NEBRASKA PEOPLE VISIT WISCONSIN

Mr. and Mrs. William Stander of Louisville Enjoying Scenes of Earlier Days in East.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stander are now in Wisconsin, where they are visiting their relatives and they write that they are finding a great many relatives back there of whom they had never heard. They are receiving hearty welcomes from all and are enjoying themselves very much.

They left Omaha on September 26 and went straight to Benndji, the county seat of Beltrami county in Minnesota, which is the county in which their homestead land is located. They say Lake Benndji is a beautiful body of water almost surrounding the town and there is a great deal of timber there. It is near there that Mr. and Mrs. August Landegren are located. The number mills were busy and they say there are lots of spruce which are used for paper pulp.

After leaving Benndji, they went to Thief River Falls and from there to Goodridge on the electric line. From there by stage to Grygia and then to Schilling by auto and they were then close to the land owned by the Louisvilles people. There are deer and muskrat and also prairie chickens. They say all that country needs is the railroad. The soil is fine but the seasons are short. They think it will be a great country some day, but they would not care to live there now, as they feel their days of pioneering are over.

From there they went on to Clear Lake, Wisconsin, where they visited the family of August Kohlrush. Mrs. Kohlrush was formerly Miss Tillie Nantshel of Cass county, in the early days. They have a family of two girls and two boys.

They wrote their letter from Geonowoc, where they were visiting Mr. Stander's uncle, Jacob Regula. Mr. Regula was a brother of the late Mrs. Frank Stander and Mrs. Theodore Helm. He is 77 years old and is active and keeps up his duties on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Stander do not say when they will be starting for Nebraska, but we shall look for them in the near future if they expect to spend most of the winter months in Florida.—Louisville Courier.

Roland Sutton, who has been spending the last three years in the U. S. navy was recently discharged and has arrived home for a visit with his relatives before making a permanent location.
