RIGHTEOUSNESS

When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice...

Yes, Christmas is drawing near—only 12 more days of shopping.

The small boy knows all about razor straps before he begins to shave.

Look ahead, for that purpose are your eyes in the front of your head.

The coal man is in glue, but the ice man has found his hole to sub.

Riches do not bring happiness but J. Pierpont Morgan has 353 tons of coal in his cellar.

Winter brings back the man who takes a cold both daily and lies about others things also.

There are no reasons for long skirts as far as we can see, but we can't see very far.

The Turkish situation is about the same except the names are looking a little more familiar.

Long dresses are here only for a short time. They are just to call attention in their own way.

An heiress to $10,000,000 says she will marry a car mechanic, and if that isn't love there isn't any.

A dancer is returning to Russia with 35 trunks. The funny part is they are dancing trunks.

We get more used when it is hauled in wagons because wagons don't weigh as much as trucks.

Moving the telephone book too rapidly doesn't show around out it relieves the need a little.

It is not true that New Yorkers sleep in their shoes so they will be ready when fire breaks out.

With so many other things to worry about some men insist on wondering if their hair is combed.

An Illinois congressman has four children, so should pick up things quickly in the home.

Fire destroyed a furniture plant in Bethlehem, Pa., and all we hope is it burned some folding beds.

Prices seem to be among the many things made of rubber. When they hit the bottom they bounce.

A Harvard professor says nervous prostration is a luxury disease. The poor must keep on working.

Mackerel are so thick a Nova Scotia ship found sailing difficult, so boarders are out of luck again.

The old fool may be more of a fool than the young fool, but there aren't so many who dare tell him so.

Even cautious business men have reckless spells. Rockefeller gave dimes to several photographers.

Small towns are so lucky. In Washington it is considered proper for girls to pay their own way.

A load of coal bound across town nowadays attracts as many eyes as an old fashioned load of baled hay.

A statistician claims that 50 per cent of the people who go into the banks go in to fill their fountain pens.

If all reports about sinners are true it looks as if old Satan is going to have his trouble with the coming problem.

We are often led to wonder how Europe managed to get along without America's help before America was discovered.

It is Lenin's boast that his peasants and workers are satisfied. Are they really satisfied or do they have to be? They are now required to work twelve hours a day and they do not get enough real money to keep them in bread.

As one American in each 660 in jail all the time? It seems so, according to the "fingers." Census report shows that 163,889 were confined in federal penitentiaries, state prisons, county jails and city police stations last July 1. The prison population July 1, 1917, was 140,186. What is your estimate of the number who are not in jail but should be?

AMERICANISM

Not infrequently the proponents of a vigorous Americanization program are answered with "Oh, what's the use? A few foreigners, more or less, who don't understand us, don't hurt."

There are plenty of patriotic and sentimental reasons why "a few more or less" will hurt and hurt badly. And there are as many practical reasons. Bolshevism, Red propaganda, Sovietism, radicalism of all kinds, are not spread in America by Americans, but by foreigners.

An instance of the need of greater vigilance in Americanization work is at hand in the funny reports printed in German papers regarding the election. According to some of these, President Harding is about to resign.

If all German, French, Austrian and Polish children in this country knew of their own knowledge from proper Americanization education, the facts about this country, it is hardly possible that their parents, in writing to Europe, could fail to give a true, rather than a false picture of political conditions in this country.

Not to realize that Americanization is as important to our foreign children and their parents, as education is to American children, is to remain unconscious of one of the vital problems which is today faced by the land we love.

STANDING IN LINE

There must have been fifty or more of them. Some of them were old, some not so old. But all of them looked aristocratic, that is, and obviously well fed. There were silk hats about and an air of punitious respectability.

In view of the deadlines of continental Europe nowadays, a man with a pocket flask could be arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

An soprano having shown that the corpse of the late Richard Croker is large enough to warrant a contest of his will, proceedings have been begun to that end.

It may be that Mrs. Phillips, who escaped from the Los Angeles jail, will be recaptured, but it is hardly probable she will be captured in all the places she has been seen.

An Iowa college has been given a collection of 13,000 butterflies, which the students probably would be willing to exchange for two good ends, a first quarter and one plunging hatback.

Who remembers when young ladies hung up cotton stockings at Christmas time in the hope that they would get silk ones? Nowadays they hang up silk ones in the hopes that they will get more of the same kind.

It is gratifying to know the treasury has been able to pay Columbia 5 million dollars on account, although a good many Americans probably would like to see Columbia wait for her money until we get ours from Europe—or about that long.

Leave it to Henry Ford to get results. You recall, he took over the Lincoln auto plant. It seems but yesterday. And now the Lincoln plant has been pulled out of the hole. It is on a profitable basis, making money at the rate of a million dollars a year.

Congress is inclined to be miffed because the president was a little late in delivering his address at the opening of the regular session. Congress never can understand why other departments of the government should be behind with their business.

In London a man and woman were married twice the same day. The strange part is they married each other both times.

As there are no more reports from the Greek court martial it is supposed that country has run out of ex-premiers.
