The first, second and third grades were given prizes this week. The Seaton and Martin Reading System is the basic method taught in these grades. The absences were much regretted for they are the means of terminating an enviable record of perfect attendance in the grades for the first five months of school.

DOLLAR A CHARMED
COIN IN GERMANY

Berlin Newspapers Run American Money Exchange in Prominent Place on Front Page.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—American dollars hold a magic charm for Germans. Since the quotation of February, 1922, the exchange rate for the dollar has run well over 20,000 marks, and is regarded as charmed.

Newspapers display quotations of the dollar in black type on their first pages. It stands alone. Quotations on English, Swiss and Scandinavian money are relegated to the market pages.

An American woman who lives in Berlin was recently approached by a seven-year-old German boy, the playmate of her son, who hesitatingly asked: "Won't you please show me a real dollar?"

She handed him a dollar bill to examine and the boy fingered it for some time in complete silence before protesting: "But it's just paper; haven't you a real one?"

The woman explained she had no silver dollar, but assured him the American paper was just as good as the silver and even more valuable if one wanted to sell it at the bank.

The little fellow wasn't persuaded. He thanked the American woman very politely and walked away in deep study over the intricacies of currency.

In shops foreigners are frequently asked for dollars. Shopkeepers and clerks are anxious to have at least one as a souvenir. No American who desires to send a gift to a German friend can do better than mail crisp, new American bills. The high rate of exchange on the dollar is almost the sole topic of conversation in mixed gatherings, and fortunate is the man who can produce an American bill before astonished friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hendricks of near Murray was here today for a few hours accompanying their son, Vern, this far on his journey to the west portion of the state.

This will encourage the bullhead parent to starve his or her offspring in order to keep them under size.

Representative Moore offered an amendment which would permit the sale of catfish from the Missouri without permit from the department of agriculture. Mr. Demmons proposed to repeal the entire act dealing with cat fish. Both amendments were voted down.

A bill by Elsasser, advanced to third reading, provides that if compensation payments are refused under the claim by the employer that the injury is not compensable under the provisions of the act, the said injured employe or dependent shall have the right to proceed at common law for damages. Objection was raised that the compensation commissioner does not favor such an amendment but is satisfied with the law as it stands. Other bills advanced to final reading:
