The Valkyries, like the Muses, were nine in number. They were daughters of Wotan and it was their duty to carry the heroes who had fallen in battle to Walhalla. Wagner was one of the greatest writers of descriptive music that ever lived.

This is a tone picture of the ride of the warlike maidens thru the air and serves to prepare the audience for the scene on the Valkyrie rock, for when the curtain rises we see the sister on their winged steeds and the arrival of Brunnhilde with a wounded warrior on her saddle bow. The characteristic cry of the Valkyries resounds all about.

This is used as the prelude to the third act.

26—Unfinished Symphony in Minor.....Schubert

A symphony is the highest form of orchestral music. It has four divisions or movements. The first may be called the intellectual movement, the second the romantic or emotional movement, the third, the playful or popular movement, the fourth the brilliant climax. Schubert wrote nine symphonies, this is the greatest and was written six years before his death, and is known as the "unfinished," since only the first two movements were written.

REAVIS TO LEAD IN PROSECUTION OF FRAUD CASES

Former Congressman from the First Nebraska to Represent U. S. in Post-War Suits.

Washington, March 26.—Former Congressman Frank Reavis of Nebraska, appointed special assistant to the attorney general in the prosecution of war fraud cases, took the spot light today when it was announced the government charged two with war frauds. The case is the first fruits of the intensive investigation which Mr. Reavis and his assistants, one of whom is Don M. Enfield, also of Nebraska, have been making.

The persons charged with fraud are Lieut. Col. Arthur A. O'Brien, U. S. army and David J. Malone, attorney representing the Newbury Realty company of Boston.

It appears that the government leased the Newbury building in Boston in December, 1918. A claim was presented for reimbursement for money spent in fitting it for the government's purposes with the result that it is now claimed the government was defrauded out of $28,210.24.

It is claimed Colonel O'Brien was assigned to duty in Secretary of War Baker's office and that the then secretary of war relied upon Colonel O'Brien for information in settling claims growing out of the act of March 2, 1919.

It is alleged by the government that Colonel O'Brien had the claim allotted after a claim board had said it did not come under the provisions of the act.

Former Congressman Reavis will have charge of the prosecution of this case.

DECISION IS GOOD ONE

From Wednesday's Daily. The action of the city council in deciding to take over the baseball park, which has been leased by the city for the past ten or twelve years to the baseball association, is a good one and should result in preserving the park which is rapidly going to decay and ruin. The city has need of a place of this kind and the situation of the present park, just a few blocks from the heart of the city is one that will be hard to beat anywhere in the country. In the last few years the park has gone to decay very rapidly and needs the strong hand of authority to keep it in shape so that it will be suitable for the holding of various sporting events such as baseball, football or open air gatherings.

BACK HOME AGAIN

From Wednesday's Daily. The many friends over the county of the Henry Sabs family will be pleased to learn that Miss Meta Sabs, their daughter, has been able to return to the family home in Louisville after a stay of five weeks in the hospital in Omaha. Miss Sabs was taken with a very severe case of acute appendicitis and was rushed to the Paxton Memorial hospital for treatment and later pneumonia developed that made the condition of the patient one of the greatest seriousness and danger. Miss Sabs was accompanied back home by her sister, Miss Bertha, and is now gaining strength and feeling much better. Miss Meta and her twin sister, Miss Edna, are both members of the class of 1923 of the Louisville school.

WOMEN WILL ENJOY KNIGHTHOOD PICTURE

Marion Davies Delightful as Royal Princess in Great Production Starting Sunday, Parmele

Who says women have not a sense of humor? They say "It takes a thief to catch a thief," and by the same token it takes a woman to catch a woman in the subtle little tricks which are used to outwit a man. That's why women who see the Paramount-Cosmopolitan production "When Knighthood Was in Flower," starring Marion Davies, will chuckle with enjoyment in certain scenes where the men are silent.

These feminine outbursts of merriment come at various times when Marion Davies, as Princess Mary Tudor, uses the strategy known to all the sisters of Eve in order to cajole her stubborn brother, King Henry VIII. Mary's adroit appeal to Henry's vanity when she wants him to release Charles Brandon, whom she loves; her clever trick of remaining in bed when the French ambassador calls and shocking King Henry by pretending she is about to jump out of a window—these and similar incidents unite the women of the audience in a common bond of understanding and amusement.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower," which begins a four-day engagement at the Parmele theatre next Monday, is a great "woman picture." Not only are the costumes wonderful but it tells one of the most magnificent love stories ever screened.

From start to finish, there is a succession of beautiful and bewildering scenes, enlivened by a swift moving action that thrills every spectator. The supporting cast is of stellar caliber. Lyn Harding, a celebrated English actor, is seen as Henry VIII, while Forest Stanley, a popular leading man here at Paramount audiences, has the role of Charles Brandon. Pedro de Cordoba has the part of the Duke of Buckingham. The rich costumes are an important feature of this imposing picture creation.

AVENUES OF TIME

In avenues of time with memories I've lingered And years have given hope that grows within my breast, A longing and assurance, too, that all our striving Must center in the Love divine as final quest.

A clearer understanding of God's great plan triumphant Will bring to higher sense that dwells in every man, A testing of the brotherhood thru-out the nations, The fact of broader freedom that Love alone can span.

We cope not with the ages, but with the living present; Our mode of life as wise as those of ancient time. When pettiness shall cease, and greed And Love divine will usher in the life sublime. —D. Aurelia Hilton.
