"ON THE CORNER"

PASSES SEVENTY-SEVENTH MILESTONE OF LIFE TUESDAY

Alfred W. White, One of the Pioneers of City and County, Observes Birthday Yesterday.

Yesterday was the seventy-seventh birthday anniversary of one of our pioneer residents, A. W. White, and this fine old gentleman, who has made his home in Plattsmouth for the greater part of these years, was busy receiving congratulations of the old friends and associates on reaching this ripe old age filled with many acts of helpfulness to his fellow men and of service to the community in which he has lived. Alfred W. White was born in Don-chester, England, May 1, 1846, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis White, and when a lad of tender years was brought to America by his parents and in his lifetime has enjoyed the living of a part of the romance of the great west, as his parents and their little family made the journey across the then wild and unsettled plains of the western section of the United States to Utah and in the year 1885 came to Plattsmouth and made this city their home. Since locating here the White family have had a great part in the developing of the community and A. W. White has since boyhood been identified with the business interests of the community, seeing in the passing years the growing development of the west from the time the Indian was the monarch of the plains to the coming of the civilization of the east, the railroads and the modern inventions making the section once unsettled the greatest agricultural empire in the world.

The last few years Mr. White has enjoyed in rest and comfort at his home here and enjoys the time with the members of his family circle who gather frequently at the parental home for reunions and gatherings and last Sunday a family dinner was held to celebrate the approaching birthday of the father at which the three daughters, Mrs. J. A. Donelan of this city, Mrs. Frank D. Burgess of Cedar Rapids, Nebraska, and Mrs. J. C. Thygeson of Nebraska City and their families were present. This winter Mr. White had the pleasure of an extended visit with his son, Ralph W. White and family who were here for a visit.

Mr. White has enjoyed two visits back to the ancestral home in England, going at one time to the conclave of the Knights Templar and in 1881 making the trip across the water, but finds there is no country exactly like the pleasant homeland of Nebraska and Cass county.

DEED IS SET ASIDE

An echo of a very interesting case in the courts of the county was noted in the proceedings of the district court yesterday when Judge Begley on the application of the parties to the suit set aside a deed made and executed by John Weber, a well known and wealthy resident of near Elmwood in which he conveyed interest in real estate valued at something like $50,000 to Belle Bowditch, a nurse who had assisted in his care during his last illness. The cause of setting aside the deed was the fact that all parties agreed to accept the terms of the will and under which disposition was made of all of the real and personal property of the deceased. The deed in question was made on June 2, 1920, by Mr. Weber and filed a few days later in the office of the register of deeds and on August 8, 1920, Mr. Weber, who was quite advanced in years and in feeble health, passed away. Mrs. Bowditch and the other heirs of the estate later accepted the provisions of the will and the deed consequently was by agreement asked to be set aside in order that full settlement of the estate might be made.

MAY DAY FETE IS BIG SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY

2,000 WITNESS EXHIBITION OF THE CITY SCHOOLS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL CAMPUS.

MARKS ANNUAL SCHOOL EVENT

Ivy Vine is Planted by Senior Class—Inside Exhibitions Also are Seen by Many Hundreds.

The day filled with lowering clouds yesterday broke shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon and the sun shone forth on the May day festival and Ivy day observance of the city schools, held on the campus of the high school. The occasion of the May day festival was witnessed by a crowd of some 2,000 persons who were more than delighted with the splendid showing of the children in the various numbers that they presented in the drills and dances that were a feature in the extreme and reflected the greatest credit upon the teachers in charge of the event and the musical department of the city schools of which Miss Olive M. Quinn is the supervisor.

The throne of the May queen erected on the campus was in pink and white and back of the throne were the snow white blooms of the wild plums and from the throne to the high school the white carpet for the queen was stretched and over which the party of her majesty passed to the scene of the coronation.

It had been arranged that the election of the queen held on last Tuesday should remain a secret as to the winner until the few moments before the crowning of the queen and it was not until the march of the party was taken up that the fact of the queen's identity was revealed.

Preceding the formal coronation the high school orchestra played the introductory march and as it died away the senior girls as maids of honor appeared and preceded the lady in waiting, Miss Mary Margaret Walling, who was the second in the contest for queen and following her came the trumpeters and the queen, Miss Edith Farley, the choice of the school for this honor.

The queen, taking her seat, was surrounded by her court ladies and the page as well as the presidents of the senior and junior classes, Harold Mullis and Henry Leacock, and the scene was one of beauty as the lady in waiting placed on the brow of the queen the floral crown of springtime and she was seated on the throne.

The little folks of the school participating in the dances and drills numbered over 300 and were very charming and winsome in their respective portions of the program.

The first of the dancing numbers was by the Japanese girls, garbed in the silky kimonos of the flowery land of cherry blossoms and with their quaint step and sweet song made a pleasing introduction to the program. No sooner had the Japanese girls completed their dance when the children of the Columbian school gave their dancing number, which was most charming and with their tots, the girls in orange and green and the boys in the somber garbs, made the scene one of the most pleasing.

The sandmen, the boys from six to ten years of age, in green, then made their appearance and were followed by the rose girls who placed their beautiful flowers in the sand pots of the boys and executed a very artistic dance that certainly would have done credit to much older children.

The flower girls then gave a pleasing drill for the benefit of the queen and her court and the large audience which showed the careful training that they had received.

The dancing and songs were ceased for a short time when Harold Mullis, president of the senior class, gave the Ivy day oration and spoke of the growth of the high school, the enlargement of the fields of activities of the grade schools and the support that the public and former students owed to the place of learning of the city.

Following the Ivy day oration, little Miss Edna Rummerfield, one of the really gifted children of the city, gave a classic solo dance that was artistic and very charmingly given by the little lady and which was generously cheered by the auditors.

Another of the clever dances was the Colonial minuet given by some sixteen of the little folks and in costumes of ye olden time, the quaint dresses of the little girls, the knee breeches and long coats of the boys, and the wigs making a scene of beauty as the fresh beauty of the children shown out strikingly.

The Maypole dance by the girls of the junior high school was the closing feature of the afternoon program and was the last of the dancing numbers, and as the dance was finished the entire audience joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

and business men, county officials and all those who possibly could get away from their daily duties attending the festivities and by their presence inspiring the children and teachers in the work that they are doing.

The patrons of the school can feel very grateful to the teachers for their hard work in arranging the event and its success is a matter of the greatest pride to the community that has these schools that can produce such clever young people.

CATCHING DOGS NOT VERY FASCINATING

Stuart Rough has been improving his property the last week by having a cistern dug at his home. During the rain last Friday evening he decided to get a good night's rest and retired about nine o'clock. About the time he expected to journey to the land of "nod" he was aroused by the whining of a dog and could not go to sleep. He dressed and proceeded out in the rain to investigate the matter. Upon examination he discovered a large Shepard dog in the partly dug cistern. He made a trip to the D. C. West home and secured a ladder and extracted "his dogship." Again about midnight he was again aroused by a similar noise. Again he was compelled to go out and remove another dog from the hole.

He was somewhat disgusted with the dogs but did not have the heart to leave them there until morning. He has about decided to take out a trapper's license or put in an application as official dog catcher for the village.—Nehawka Enterprise.

ANOTHER TEAM IS PLANNED

The coming of the baseball season has seen a very remarkable awakening of the spirit of the great national pastime among the lovers of the game and already the city has two good teams and the third organization is looming as a possibility in the future. The latest team to be projected is that of the DeMoises which Manager James Warren is organizing and which it is proposed to have contend with other teams of the order in this part of the state. The team has had one practice and will now get down to more strenuous work to be ready for all comers.

MARRIED AT THE COURT HOUSE

Late yesterday afternoon, County Judge Allen J. Beeson was called upon to officiate at the wedding of Miss Myrtle Moore of Louisville and Mr. George Schmader of this city and the ceremony was performed in the usual impressive manner and witnessed by Herman and Elbie Roebler, friends of the young people. Both of the contracting parties are well known in the vicinity of Louisville and the groom is at present making his home in this city, being in the employ of the Burlington and is a young man possessing many warm friends in this community.

A DASTARDLY DEED

Herman Reichstadt last evening set out a number of plants on the lawn at his home at the corner of Seventh and Washington avenue, to assist in the beautifying of the place and to behold this morning at the dawn the plants were missing. This is a pretty dirty trick on the part of whoever took them and if Herman finds out who they were it will be much the worse for them.
