CASS CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Soil Terracing

The lines for terraces were run on the farm of Guy Ward near Weeping Water. There are twenty acres in the hill side. Mr. Ward will build these terraces about September 15th. Mr. R. C. Wiles, of Weeping Water has plowed and extended the terraces on his farm and he says that on terraced hills will stop soil erosion. Mr. Ivan Wood, the Extension Engineer, spent two days in the county running lines for terraces, also helping farmers with soil saving dams. Oscar Domingo, of Weeping Water is also interested in terracing. He will have a field of twenty acres in the spring. David Tighe of Wabash has a terracing job too. Ed Murphy has a project in soil saving dams.

Will Go to State Fair

Cecl Jacobsen, Carl Handrock, of Earle, and Frank Wolcott, of Weeping Water, were the three high boys in the county pig club contest to represent Cass county swine clubs at the state fair and will be in attendance at the fair next week. May luck be with our boys in the contests there.

Three Clubs Hold Programs

The Jolly Farm Girls, of Weeping Water, of which Mrs. J. M. Ranney is leader, held their achievement day program Monday afternoon, August 20. The program consisted of songs, yells, etc. Three very interesting textile demonstrations were given. The discussions taken up were wool, linen and silk. The Priscilla club and the K. K. A. club were also invited. The K. K. A. club gave an interesting song and the Priscilla club some yells. Many visitors were present and everyone had a splendid time.

Tuesday, August 21st, the home of Verna Melsinger was the meeting place of the Happy Workers clothing club and their friends. The club gave a fine program and Verna and Margaret Melsinger gave their demonstration on "The Possibilities of the

Bungalow Dress.

The girls had an exhibit of all their work and the judges placed blue, red and white ribbons on each set of garments. The Eldeen club of Louisville and their leader, Mrs. Elmer Johnson, and the Redell club of Plattsmouth and their leader, Mrs. Philip Kehne, were the guests. After the program the three clubs had a very interesting time giving songs and yells. The Happy Workers have written a great many original yells which were used through the program. Mrs. Lorine Urish, leader of the Happy Workers, gave a very interesting talk on "Standard Clubs." Miss Jessie Green, assistant state boys' and girls' club leader, was with us and presented the certificates of achievement. The gold seal was placed on the charter. At the close of the meeting the girls served delicious refreshments.

About 150 people gathered at the home of Esther Albert, Wednesday evening, August 22, to listen to the achievement day program of the Eldeen clothing club. Augusta Sprieck and Esther Albert gave a very interesting demonstration, showing what they had learned in Course II and all voted that the work was well done. An exhibit of the garments which had been made in the club, were on display and Miss Greene, from the Extension service judged the garments. She also gave a very interesting talk and presented the certificates and placed the seal on the charter. This is a 100 per cent club and their splendid achievements are due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Elmer Johnson, leader and the splendid co-operation of the girls and their mothers. Mrs. Charles Hennings, mother of one of the club girls, gave a very interesting talk on "How the Club Has Helped Our Daughters." The whole community seems to be back of these girls. The club girls and Mrs. Johnson served refreshments and everyone voted the evening a splendid success.

Judging Contest

The girls from the K. K. A. club and Jolly Farm Girls of Weeping Water are planning to represent Cass county in a judging contest at the state fair, September 6th. We hope to hear some interesting things about them when they get back.

START BOOM FOR BEGLEY ON HIGH COURT

NEBRASKA CITY FRIENDS SEEK PERMISSION TO USE HIS NAME NEXT YEAR.
IS VERY SUCCESSFUL JURIST

In Addition to Brilliant Career on District Bench, Has Sat with Supreme Court Often.

From Wednesday's Daily. From Nebraska City comes the information that the friends there of District Judge James T. Begley, have started the ball rolling for the placing of his name of this very able jurist before the people of the first district as a candidate for the supreme bench of the state at the next election in 1924.

This move is no real surprise to the many friends of Judge Begley, over the second judicial district, as it has been recognized that the marked ability of the district judge would in time call him from his present duties to a larger place in the legal ranks of the state and nation.

There has been no presiding judge on the second district bench that has given more general satisfaction than has Judge Begley and his decisions have been timely and again sustained by the higher courts and his absolute fairness and impartiality in his court work has made him a strong figure over the state among the district judges.

In addition to his work on the district bench Judge Begley has been frequently called upon to set with the state supreme court and his splendid work recognized in his being selected to write decisions in a number of very important cases and which have established precedents in law that are now a part of the basic law of the state. Notable among his decisions was that of strengthening the power of the workmen's compensation act.

Judge Begley possesses one great asset in addition to his legal training, and that is his splendid youth and vigor that has enabled him to keep his district court work well in hand in addition to his other duties.

Judge Begley is a native son of Sarpy county and in his young manhood was selected by his fellow citizens as county attorney of that county and later as county judge and from that position he was called by Governor Morehead to the district bench of the second judicial district, succeeding the late Judge Harvey D. Travis and since his appointment he has received several re-elections at the hands of the voters of the district and without opposition, a rare tribute to his fairness and the confidence of the people of the people of the district.

It would be with regret that the people of Cass, Otoe and Sarpy counties would part with the services of this able jurist but the state supreme bench certainly would be the gainer in his services. This coming year the first district will have the naming of one of the judges of the supreme court and there could be no more worthy choice made than that of Judge James T. Begley.

MUSICAL TEA IS GREATLY ENJOYED BY ALL PRESENT

Daughters of the American Revolution Give Tea for Benefit of Library at "Sunnyside."

From Wednesday's Daily. Yesterday afternoon the ladies of Fontenelle chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a very delightful musical tea on the lawn at "Sunnyside," the E. H. Wescott home on high school hill, the purpose being to raise funds for the benefit of the public library of the city.

The ladies have made one of their goals for the year in public improvement, the placing of a case in the public library that could be used for the care of historical objects and which is badly needed for the purpose at the library and for this object the funds are to be devoted that are raised by the D. A. R.

The attendance at the musical tea was not as large as had been hoped for, but was very appreciative of the splendid musical program offered by the ladies participating.

Mrs. Roy Cole and Miss Kathryn Wadick each gave delightful piano selections and the group thoroughly enjoyed and Mrs. Ferris York Jelinek gave two charming vocal selections in her usual pleasing manner. Mrs. A. D. Caldwell also gave two violin numbers of real artistic ability.

The porch and lawn were very bright and attractive with the green of the grass and the brightness of the summer flowers and here the audience were seated and the refreshments served at the close of the program. Mrs. Tom Murphy presided at the dinner, while Madame Lecte poured the tea, and the refreshments were served by the ladies of the chapter.

The members of Fontenelle chapter feel very appreciative of the kindness of their regent, Mrs. Wescott, in placing her home at the disposal of and to the ladies participating in the program and those who attended in making it such a pleasant event.

ASK THAT ASSESSMENT OF LOCAL BANK BE LOWERED

Farmers State Bank of This City Appeals from Ruling of County Board of Equalization.

From Wednesday's Daily. The Farmers State Bank of this city has filed in the district court an appeal from the decision of the board of equalization of Cass county, covering the assessment made by the assessor on the personal property and stock of the plaintiff bank.

The bank stockholders were on March 31st assessed by the state banking board the value of one hundred per cent on their stock and on the 1st of April the assessor made his assessment of the bank which was in the neighborhood of $40,000.

The bank stockholders were on the county assessor and placed on the tax list of the county.

The plaintiffs contend that the assessment should have been on the market value of the stock of the bank at that time which was much less than the amount assessed on the return.

For this the bank asks the court for a just and equitable assessment of the taxes against the bank, through their attorney A. L. Tidd.

Another action filed was that of Mrs. Irvin, and Frank Graham against John Kepler, made up through their attorney, William A. Robertson asks that title to certain real estate in Cass county be quieted in them.

RECEIVES ADDED HONORS

The members of the DeMolay in this city will be pleased to learn of the added honors that have come to Dr. Zoro D. Clark of Omaha, who has been the Nebraska representative on the grand council, and who is well known here by his frequent visits to the local chapter. Dr. Clark has been named to the office of grand lecturer of the order with headquarters at Kansas City, Mo., which is the national headquarters and the place of origin of the order. Dr. Clark has already departed for Kansas City to arrange to take over the office and which will mean that the doctor will have a great deal of traveling over the country in the interest of the growing organization.

DRAWN SMALL FINE

From Wednesday's Daily. This afternoon there was heard before Justice William Weber a complaint filed by County Attorney A. C. Cole against Herman Weiss, residing west of this city, who was charged with having used improper language west of this city, who was charged against William H. Melsinger, yesterday near to Woodbine school. Mr. Melsinger made complaint to the county authorities and the defendant was brought in and entered a plea of guilty to the charge as preferred. Mr. Weiss was fined $2 and costs by the court for his offense.

HAS INJURED HAND.

Word has been received here of the fact that Edward G. Ote, who is now located at Omaha and in the employ of the tinning department of one of the large packing houses, had the misfortune to have the end of one of his fingers cut off by a piece of tin with which he was working and that while not a dangerous injury will give him an enforced layoff for sometime at least.

"ON THE CORNER"

GIVES STORY OF BLOODY FIGHT AT PIERCE, NEBRASKA

Norfolk Daily News Tells of Battle in Which Andy Schmadar was Given Worst of the Deal.

The many friends here of Andy Schmadar, the heavyweight boxer, have been awaiting the details of the recent bout at Pierce, Nebraska, in which he was suspended following a rough house fight, and the World-Herald this morning has the following explanation of the fight, parts of which are quoted from the account of it in the Norfolk Daily News, and which shows plainly the bout was a badly mixed up affair with inefficient refereeing, as will always continue to be the case in Nebraska under the present law which permits a comparatively inexperienced man to officiate as a referee.

Until some further test of ability is required of them than the mere filling out of a simple blank, the calibre of referees, especially the small town type like Pierce, will be pretty low. Following is the World-Herald's account of the affair:

Will Not Be Rematched

Attempts to rematch Andy Schmadar of Louisville and Jerry Vokac of Verdigrass at Norfolk during the harvest festival following their bloody brawl at Pierce last week have been "absolutely prohibited" by State Boxing Commissioner George Koster, who has suspended Schmadar and has ordered Vokac to appear before him for a hearing.

Details of the brawl show it must have been the fiercest contest ever staged in a Nebraska ring, surpassing that of that attribute even the Lamson-Schmadar battle in Omaha.

"Nothing like last night's fight has ever been seen before, at least in a Nebraska ring," says the Norfolk Daily News, in describing the bout. "It surely was not a 'fixed fight.' The fans who were looking for a fight certainly got their money's worth. And they came near seeing several fights that weren't on the program at all."

Vokac Starts Pushing

In the first two rounds Vokac complained to Referee Ed Hill that Schmadar was hitting low. Hill took no action. Vokac then started pushing Schmadar around the ring and into the ropes while they were clinched. When Hill would attempt to break them Vokac would rain blows on Schmadar's face.

In the fourth round Schmadar

accented one of his numerous protests to Referee Hill by swinging viciously at him. Hill ducked and Andy missed. From that point on all boxing was forgotten.

Schmadar took up pushing and pressed Vokac back through the ropes in Schmadar's corner. Vokac fell over a chair. When Schmadar turned with his back to Vokac to pick the chair out of the way Vokac rushed in and with two fierce wallops in the face sent Andy down against the ropes. While Hill was counting over the prostrate Schmadar, Vokac threw himself upon his opponent and proceeded to administer more punishment. When Hill finally removed Vokac so he could continue the count over Schmadar, Andy arose, staggering, his nose broken and his face and shoulders covered with gore. The Bohemian slowly rose to his standing position, groggy. Vokac seized him in his arms and threw him bodily out of the ring. And, according to the Norfolk News, the referee started to count! The gong put an end to the unequal struggle.

Schmadar came out of his corner for the fifth somewhat refreshed.

From that time on, fouls were so numerous it was almost impossible to see any boxing at all. All rules were ignored. The two fighters, both evidently enraged, choked, kicked, wrestled, bit, butter — did everything that could possibly injure each other.

Andy Hits Referee

In the seventh, Schmadar took one more swing at the referee during an especially bloody session and grazing Hill's jaw, sent the "official" sprawling on the canvas.

Hill leaped to his feet and with bare fists, tore into Schmadar, the Norfolk News' story relates. At the same time Vokac tore in from behind. It began to look bad for Andy. Hill made his attack short, however, and seizing Vokac's arm, raised it in token of victory, on the ground that Schmadar had committed a foul—by hitting the referee.

The ring soon was filled with excited spectators, some screaming in Schmadar's behalf, some in Hills behalf, some in Vokac's behalf and others just to hear themselves yell.

Arguments were hot on all sides. A Knox county deputy sheriff attempted to clear the ring.

Johnny Vokac, brother of the pug, took a swipe at the undersheriff.

Johnny went to jail in custody of two other officers.

Other officials cleared the ring with great difficulty, but without further scuffles.

Clyde Jackson and Vern Bridgewater motored over to Thurman, Iowa, this afternoon where they will spend a few hours and will accompany Miss Ruby Batchler here for a visit at the Jackson home.

E. H. Wescott was among those going to Omaha this afternoon to visit for a few hours and to meet Miss Helen and Miss Alice Louise Wescott who has been, at Gottenberg and York visiting with friends.

Much misunderstood, the pig! Folks thought he could just "wall" around anywhere and thrive. Now we know he does best in a neat, clean house that is cool in summer and warm in winter.
