Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is.—Ephesians v. 17.

Summer flapper is beginning to think of her winter wrapper.

Every nation has its pleasures. China recently shot 750 bandits.

A man who landed in Chicago without a cent owes $4,000.00 now.

Senator Magnus Johnson doesn't have to go to Europe; he can yell across.

In a large part the higher cost of living goes back to the higher cost of hiring.

That which is called "what the people want" is often merely something better.

Wheat is low because there is too much. There is too much gas. Guess why gas is high.

Mexico will elect a president. If she needs any candidates we can let her have a few.

The rising generation in the Philippines may yet qualify as the uprising generation.

Coal Trade Journal says coal will be gone in 6028 years. It may be gone this winter.

It was a shoe salesman who swam the English channel, not a book agent after a customer.

Ten movie actors really drifted two days on the Pacific, showing fans' wishes come true.

Miss Robinson, world's champion woman walker, did not learn it returning from auto rides.

Kansas City pair, divorced 35 years, will reward. This is the longest vacation on record.

There may be many new dance steps this fall. Only a few will be steps in the right direction.

We don't really need a third party. Those who wish to waste their votes can just stay away from the polls.

It's a little too early to tell whether the political issue of 1924 will be the world court or the origin of species.

When they were corn doctors. It was 50; when chiropractors, $1.50. When they became pediatrists, it will be $2.50.

The dominant idea a consumer always gets from any coal controversy is that he had better lay in his next winter's fuel as early as possible.

The result of the Irish election seems to show Mr. De Valera had somewhat over estimated the public's interest in his political martyrdom.

Before the summer is over Europe will have an idea that there are several thousand senators in the United States and that they all went to Europe for the summer.

Senator Hiram Johnson thinks the "Coolidge luck" will insure the president his party's nomination next year. Probably it will if luck is just another word for performance.

They have appealed to Governor Bryan to have several judges removed for failure to do their duty in Omaha. There are many other sections in Nebraska that need the attention of the governor, also, and some of them are not very far from Omaha, either.

Labor day used to be one of the biggest celebrating days on record. Now it seems to be every fellow for themselves. It looked more like a Sunday when everybody went to Omaha.

Whose duty is it to see that the weeds are cut? Never in our nearly quarter of a century residence here have we seen such neglect in cutting the weeds. You won't see a city of small dimensions that has such weeds. Get after them, Mr. Officer, whoever you are, or we will write to the governor.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Life insurance actuaries are able with uncanny exactness to tell us how many people will die or be killed this year. They can tell us how many, but not who.

What the farmers need is a weed-eating insect.

School days have returned. No joy is permanent.

Save the mosquito netting. Vells will be worn this fall.

Every nation has its pleasures. China shot 750 bandits.

A man landed in Chicago without a cent owes $4,000.00 now.

A watch has 160,114,000 ticks a year. This is more than a cow.

Ten movie actors drifted two days on the Pacific, showing fans' wishes come true.

The western tiller of the soil has resolved to function as tiller of the ship of state.

Never hit a train with an auto. Illinois railroad sued a man who did and won the case.

Ford will make a ton of coal do the work of five. Might as well. That's what it is paid.

Delaware has such a big apple crop there may not be enough jugs and bottles to hold it.

Giraffes see behind without turning their heads. Boys think teacher looks like giraffe.

After the radicals have saved the country it will be up to the conservatives to save the pieces.

"Italy Demands Abject Apology From Greece." Now we shall see what happens when the glory that was Greece meets the grandeur that was Rome.

Governor Bryan is big enough to represent Nebraska in the United States senate. Hurray for Charley. May he get there with both feet, and when once there he will ably represent the people of Nebraska.

The best exercise for fat women who want to reduce is scrubbing the kitchen floor, claims Mrs. H. Griebel, of N. J. State College of Agriculture.

Maybe so, it's like telling the tired business man it would do him as much good to get a caddie job as to play golf.

Wood chopping is about as fine exercise as there is. But there's no danger of wood chopping becoming the "national sport."

People, when they "exercise" want to get away from work.

After all, it's a good thing for us to try to get our physical exercises in the form of play. Exercise helps the muscles and internal organs but play makes the nerves relax, which is just as important as developing the muscles.

There isn't much relaxation of tense nerves when we combine hard work with our exercise.

Sleep does us more good than all the pills, serums and other forms of "dope" ever devised.

The person who feels "all run down" should start his building-up campaign by getting plenty of sleep. Also 20 minutes at a time, to rest the overworked heart. Remember, when we are standing up the heart has to pump the blood stream the full height of the body. When lying down, gravity helps the blood flows parallel with the ground, like water through horizontal pipes.

The second big need is fresh air, and lots of it.

Exercise comes third. Combine it with play, to relax the nerves. There'll be plenty of time to scrub the floors and do other physical labor later.

Finally, the thing that is wrecking the nerves of the American people is needless rush—hurry at breakneck speed and without any special destination.

nation. We have to speed up our work but it's time to slow down and "take things easy" when the bell rings and we quit our jobs until tomorrow.

STICKING TO EARTH.

New York isn't ordinarily rated as a slow city. The common notion is that New York will try anything once. But the corollary of that notion is that New York doesn't necessarily stick to everything that is tried out there. It proves that way with commuting by air, it seems.

There was quite a deal of noise emitted over the setting up of an airplane line between New York and Atlantic City. The millionaires were going to commute by air and same time from their business for social pleasure at Atlantic City. They'd hop into the cloud bus, skip over to the big town, do their day's work, hop back again into the aerial jitney and home again for golf or tennis or swimming or dancing as the case might be. It did work out that way for a time. But the commuters soon got tired and teardrops are going to move to Detroit.

Probably the commuters preferred to stick to earth. After one gets to be tremendously wealthy, the saving of leisure isn't always the supreme desire, anyhow. Sometimes it is a matter of learning what to do with it. So it worked out that the people for whom the chariot of the air lanes was to save so much time had time hanging heavy on their hands already. If they failed to get into the city for a month, the city was none the worse off for it—nor were they. The hustlers who had to make into town orlose their jobs had no fat fee for plane flights. They stuck to earth and get there in time by starting earlier and getting back later.

Our great-grandchildren will probably laugh at today's New York for it, but in any age progress oversteps occasionally and has to stop at a corner somewhat and wait for itself to catch up with itself.
