FRED P. HESSE IS LAID TO FINAL REST

Funeral Services Held Yesterday Afternoon from M. E. Church of which He was Member.

From Thursday's Daily—

Yesterday afternoon the funeral services of the late Fred P. Hesse was held at the First Methodist church, where so often he had gathered in his boyhood days to worship. The body arrived at 1:15 over the Burlington from Centralia, Illinois, and was taken direct to the church, where a large congregation of the old time friends of the family awaited the services.

Rev. F. E. Pfoutz, pastor of the church, held brief services and spoke words of comfort to those whose hearts had been troubled by the sudden death of this fine young man, and during the service, Mrs. E. H. Wescott sang two of the hymns requested by the family, "Somewhere the Sun is Shining" and "Abide with Me."

At the conclusion of the service the body was borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was laid to the last long rest beside that of the father. The pall bearers were selected from the members of the Y. M. B. C. and the Masonic lodge and were Everett E. Gooding, Edward Roman, Jesse and Hallie Perry, M. D. Brown and W. F. Evers.

The floral tributes were beautiful and lavish.

The following biography of the departed young man was read at the church by Rev. Pfoutz.

Fred P. Hesse was born May 28, 1894, at Loomis, Nebraska. In November, 1908, he came with his parents to Plattsmouth, where he resided until 1915. He received his early education in the schools of this city and later became an employe of the Burlington railroad. By diligent effort and industrious habits he progressed rapidly in his positions and became efficient as a member of the storehouse department. In 1915 his ability was recognized and he was placed by the railroad company in a position of responsibility at Gibson, Nebraska. From Gibson he went to a similar, but larger position at Kansas City, from where the company promoted him to Galesburg, where he became chief clerk to the storekeeper. After faithful and devoted service he was placed at Centralia and later at Aurora, where he filled the position of foreman of the scrap dock, from which place he was promoted to the position of storekeeper at Centralia, Illinois, which he occupied at the time of his death.

His call to the "homeland" was sudden and comes as a great shock to his beloved mother with whom he was making his home, his father having preceded him "beyond the veil" eight years ago. On Friday, September 21st, Fred was stricken with infantile paralysis and answered the final summons on Sunday morning September 23, 1923, at 9 o'clock.

His was a life of tranquility—passed throughout the brief years in the pursuit of making his home the happiest and the most pleasant possible for his parents—to whom he was most devoted. He was a son of whom any parents might well be proud. His life was ennobled by lofty ideals and worthy purposes. His conduct was under the refining restraint of a Christian piety. His devotion to friends and loved ones was ever marked by unselfishness and self denial.

To his friends he was always true and practiced those many virtues which will endear his memory to all who called him friend.

He united with the First Methodist church in Plattsmouth in 1912, during the pastorate of Rev. F. M. Drullinger. He was a member of the young men's Bible class, and by his constant faithfulness to that organization, where he exhibited a firm faith in God and a staunch fidelity to his associates.

He was a member of St. John's Masonic lodge in Omaha.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his widowed mother and many friends who sorrow in their loss, and a memory which shall be cherished until we meet in that home not made with mortal hands, eternal in the Heavens.

HAVE A DISAPPOINTMENT

The rain last night and this morning proved a real disappointment to hundreds of Plattsmouth and Cass county people who had expected to drive to Nebraska City today to join in the big Transfer day ceremonies that will mark the state of Nebraska taking over Arbor Lodge as a gift from the members of the J. Sterling Morton family to be held as a historical park for the future generations of the Nebraskans that are to follow. One of the largest gatherings ever assembled in this portion of the state was expected at Nebraska City but the rain will cut this down by a good many thousands. The people of Nebraska City had arranged a great day of entertainment and fitting ceremonies that was to have marked the day and it is to be regretted that the weather has proved so disagreeable for this important holiday.

LOUISVILLE WOMAN IS BURNED TO DEATH IN OIL EXPLOSION

Can of Kerosene Explodes with Mrs. John McCarver while She Was Preparing Breakfast

From Thursday's Daily—

Louisville was profoundly stirred this morning when Mrs. John McCarver was fatally burned as the result of the explosion of a two gallon can of coal oil while she was starting the fire in the stove.

At the time of the fatal accident at 6 o'clock, Robert McCarver, a son, was lying sick in an adjoining room and the first intimation of the tragedy was when the young man saw the smoke of the fire and heard the screams of the mother who was enveloped in flames in the kitchen and was unable to make her escape. Robert was unable to get the door connecting with the kitchen open and despite his illness ran around the house and broke a window and gained the kitchen and rescued the mother, but not until she had been badly burned.

Neighbors arriving assisted in caring for the suffering woman and extinguishing the fire, but the severe burns received were too serious to be withstood and the sufferer gradually grew weaker under the intense suffering and before she could be taken to the hospital she answered the final summons.

The deceased lady was fifty-four years of age and a native of Kentucky and had lived in Louisville for the past twelve years. She leaves to mourn her tragic death two sons and two daughters, Robert and William, and Mrs. Mary Gillespie, living at Louisville, and Mrs. Alf Laird, of Valley.

Mr. Shepherd, pastor of the First Methodist church, and was a very quiet affair, being attended by a few personal friends of the contracting parties from Omaha.

Mr. Patton was born and reared in Plattsmouth and has many friends here who will learn with pleasure of his wedding. He is at this time employed in Omaha where the young people expect to make their future home. The friends here will join in wishing the young people a long and happy wedded life.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to take this means of expressing my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the hosts of loving friends who so kindly came to my aid in the time of my great sorrow for the loss of my beloved son. I especially wish to thank Rev. Pfoutz for his words of comfort and cheer, Mrs. E. H. ## ST. LOUIS BASE-BALL PLAYERS AND ROOTERS ARE HERE

Special Train is Held Here For Several Hours and Members of Party Get Breakfast.

From Saturday's Daily—

This morning the special train over the Missouri Pacific carrying the members of the Missouri Pacific Freight Accounts baseball team and some 200 rooters, was stalled here for several hours while the arrangements were being made to run the train over the Burlington via Pacific Junction to Omaha, on account of the washout on the Missouri Pacific near Gilmore.

The team was en route to Omaha where they will play the Woodmen of the World game today and Sunday, the Woodmen team having just returned from a similar series at St. Louis.

The train contained the rooters, who were a fine company of ladies and gentlemen and who for several hours were entertained in a series of games today and Sunday, the Woodmen team having just returned from a similar series at St. Louis.

The members of the party were at the station when they were noticed by L. O. Minor and others who were at the station. They were invited to come on down to the main part of the city and several cars were secured and the best of the party, on foot, proceeded to the main part of the city where they remained until the train was detoured to the Burlington and the party all sent on their way to Omaha.

Among those with the party were George C. Stohlman, advertising head of the Missouri Pacific, R. H. Abeken, superintendent of recreation of the city of St. Louis, as well as a number of the other city officials and the representatives of the Globe-Democrat and Star-Times, who are to cover the games in Omaha for their papers.

One of the points of interest most pleasing to the visitors was the beautiful Masonic Home and the well kept and attractive streets of the city and the representatives of the city were impressed with the general appearance of the main section of the city which agreeably surprised the members of the Missouri Pacific official force who were with the party.

It was certainly a pleasure to the Plattsmouth people to have this opportunity even if brief, of meeting the jolly party of rooters who were with the Missouri Pacific team and had the city known in advance that they were to have been fortunate in having this party they would have made more preparations for the entertainment of the visitors from the great Missouri city.

PROGRESSING NICELY

From Friday's Daily—

Mrs. C. A. Rosencrans, at the Clarkson hospital in Omaha, is progressing very nicely from her operation of yesterday and the many friends all over Cass county will be delighted to know that the patient is not in a serious condition as was first feared by the members of the family, and should in a very short time be restored to her former good health.

Mr. Rosencrans, who spent the day with the wife yesterday, returned home last evening and gives the most encouraging reports of the wife. During the absence of Mrs. Rosencrans at the hospital little Billy is staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wunderlich and the Shrader family at Nehawka.

SHOPMEN ARE TO HAVE FAST FOOT-BALL ELEVEN

Huskies Who Are Employed by Burlington Are to Launch a Team Here Coming Season.

From Thursday's Daily—

The men employed at the Burlington shops are now practicing for the placing in the field of a formidable football team that will be known as the city team and which will meet all comers on the gridiron this coming season. The team is being coached by Joe McCarty, also a former high school player and an expert at the game of football. The lineup gives promise of being one of the best that has been here for a great many years and includes Glen Henry, one of the stars of last year's high school team; Joe McCarty, a former high school player and who is to be quarterback of the new team; Bob Paynter, Erickson, Gibbs, James Warren, Herb Klauschie, Fackler, Reed, Allan, Wintersteen and Carter.

As soon as possible the boys will get the team going and start to arrange games for the season and probably stage their contests on Sundays as the most convenient date for the men in the employ of the shops.

The definite lineup has not been fully decided upon by the coach but from the appearance of the squad there should be plenty of good husky material for the team.

HAVE BURGLAR SCARE

From Friday's Daily—

The night police had a burglar scare on Wednesday night that for a few moments promised some exciting returns but which eventually resulted in a mere false alarm. Officer Heinrichsen responded to the call, which was from the Robert McClanahan home in the south part of the city, which was formerly the T. E. Armie place. On reaching the scene of action Mr. Heinrichsen found that the family there were of the opinion that the burglar was still somewhere in the house and accordingly stationing one of the family on the outside of the house to watch for the attempted escape of the burglar the officer entered the house and proceeded to make a search of each room in a most thorough manner but without result as Mr. Burglar appeared to have made good his escape before the police arrived. The location of the residence in the outskirts of the city and its remoteness from neighbors caused the family much apprehension.

Assistant Attorney General Lloyd Dort who defended the law in the state courts, believes the suit will be submitted to the court at Washington in October. Recently the Nebraska department of agriculture, acting upon an opinion of Attorney General Spillman, decided to enforce the law. The attorney general said the law had not been suspended by any order of court and that many bakers were not giving full weight required under the law.

W. Swan, W. B. Banning, Raymond Pollard, F. P. Sheldon, J. H. Foreman and S. C. Boyles.

CAR IS BURNED

From Friday's Daily—

Quite an exciting time occurred at Manley yesterday when the automobile belonging to Harold Krecklow, road overseer, was badly damaged by a fire that occurred at the Krecklow garage in that place.

Harold has been staying out in the country at the place of his brother, Louis, who is visiting in Wisconsin, and he had come on into town to look after some business matters and had driven the car into the garage and at the time did not notice any indication of fire around the car. He had just crossed the street when the cries of some of the neighbors attracted his attention and looking around he saw smoke issuing from the garage. Hastening back he found the whole top of the car in a blaze and it was with difficulty that the car was removed and the flames extinguished. The top of the car was badly burned but with repairs the machine can again be put in running order.

Edward P. Lutz, who was in Omaha yesterday attending to some business matters, was among those who were caught there by the storm and returned home this morning.
