SOCK SOCIAL

From Saturday's Daily—

Last evening at the parlors of the First Christian church, a sock social was given by the Loyal Service class. A goodly number were present and beginning at 8 o'clock an entertainment was given by the Berean class, which was immensely enjoyed by all. The program consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Hal Garnett, Leona Hudson and Margie Pickett; vocal duet by Clyde Graves and Russell Hackenberg. The accompaniment to these selections was rendered by Meslames Hudson, Vincent and Nelson. Misses Ella Hyde, Evelyn Robb and Delores Wiles favored the large audience with piano solos and duets. Several plays and readings were given in which Gretta Hackenberg, Ella Hyde, Earl Hackenberg, Irvin Meyers, Doris Winscott and Russell Hackenberg participated. The entertainment was given under the auspices of Leota Hackenberg.

At the close of the program, Mr. Pickett gave a short talk on the wonderful work being done by the Loyal Service class. Following this, most delightful refreshments were served, and each one present was of the opinion that the Loyal Service class ladies were royal entertainers.

This being a "sock" social, everyone brought a sock containing a donation and a goodly sum was realized when the contents of the socks were counted.

At a late hour everyone journeyed home, declaring they had had a most delightful time.

FORMER LOUISVILLE BOY WINS HIGH PASTORATE

Rev. Everett E. Jackman, formerly of Louisville and Elmwood, but for some time of Boston, where he attended the Boston School of Theology from which he will graduate next April, writes to the Courier to send a clipping from the Lowell Courier-Citizen, of Lowell, Massachusetts, in which it is stated that Rev. Jackman has been assigned to the pastorate of the Highland Union Methodist Episcopal church to succeed the late Rev. Joseph R. Kennedy, D. D. The fact that this young man has been chosen to fill a position held by an eminent doctor of divinity reflects great credit upon him for his record as a student and as a pastor of smaller charges which he has heretofore filled with success.

The item gives an account of the early life of Rev. Jackman and mentions the fact of his having been born in Louisville and of his early school days in the Oak Grove district school as well as of his receiving his A. B. degree at the Wesleyan university.

During the time he has been in the theological school in Boston, Rev. Jackman has filled the pastorate of the West Chelmsford church near Boston with splendid success and had made of that parish a progressive and well organized institution and the call to the larger and more important work comes as a direct reward and his many friends feel that he is very deserving of the honor bestowed upon him by Bishop Edwin Holt. He is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jackman, of Elmwood.—Louisville.

FAIRVIEW RESIDENTS HAVE MASS MEETING

Urge Good Roads and Appoint Committee to Confer With Board of County Commissioners.

From Saturday's Daily—

The residents of the Fairview neighborhood west of this city held a mass meeting on Thursday evening at the school house in that locality to take up the matter of securing the improvement of the highways there which have not been in the best of shape for some time past.

The meeting was largely attended and the mail carrier and postmaster at Cedar Creek, who supply the mail for that part of the county were in attendance to lend their part to the success of the gathering and to urge better roads for the locality.

A committee composed of James Terryberry, P. E. Tritsch and Ray Mayfield were appointed by the meeting to confer with the county commissioners in regard to the road and secure if possible an adequate highway which could be used in the hauling of grain and for the travel of the mail carrier on the Cedar Creek route.

The committee came in yesterday to meet with the commissioners and the matter of grading the road and placing it in proper shape was discussed and the road will be given attention as the graders will be there shortly and give the residents of that live locality a proper highway for their use.

GOVERNOR'S MANSION IS LOOKED INTO

Walton's Acquiring $38,000 for a Home is Looked into—Crowds Attempt to See Fight.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 9.—Testimony concerning the purchase of a $38,000 "mansion" by Gov. J. C. Walton with money obtained by sale of notes to the Marland Oil company, was presented at today's session of the impeachment hearing against the suspended executive.

Long lines of curious waited before the doors of the senate chamber attempting to gain admission to witness the spectacular battle for his job by Oklahoma's "fire eating" governor. Altho the galleries will only accommodate 2,000, crowds before the doors at the opening of the second day of the impeachment hearing was estimated at 5,000.

After a brief cross examination of the witnesses who testified yesterday regarding the governor's alleged misuse of state funds by keeping his private chauffeur upon the payroll of the state health department, the senate prosecutors began presentation of testimony regarding purchase of the Walton home in Muskogee. It is alleged that Walton used influence of his official position to dispose of his notes.

State Auditor C. C. Childers and Adjutant Baird H. Markham testified that T. P. Edwards, the governor's chauffeur, had been placed on the payroll of the state health department and also had been commissioned in the national guard without the regulation army oath or without previous military experience.

Balloting upon the impeachment counts will not be started until testimony supporting the twenty-two charges have been admitted and the defense allowed to reply.

According to the plan adopted, the prosecution will question witnesses upon the individual counts and allow the defense to cross question. Competition of the prosecution investigation was expected to be finished by the middle of next week when the defense will be allowed to present its case.

Balloting is not expected to start before the end of next week.

3840 fires are lighted every minute!

One sided gasoline will clog these fires—BALANCED Gasoline gives complete burning

Just as some coal is full of slate and dirt, clogs the fire and fills the grate with clinkers, so some gasoline burns slowly and incompletely—gives little power even on a rich mixture and clogs the motor with carbon.

Red Crown Gasoline is refined to definite specifications that not only assure quick, complete burning but all desirable gasoline qualities—quick starting and pick-up, plenty of power and big mileage on a lean mixture. It is carefully balanced motor fuel.

(There's a lot of satisfaction in driving a car that responds instantly to the slightest shifting of the throttle—slows down smoothly or jumps ahead like a scared rabbit when you step on the gas. You'll be better satisfied with your car when she's fueled with balanced Red Crown Gasoline.)

You will always get full measure and prompt, courteous service from a dealer displaying the Red Crown Sign. He stands behind Red Crown Gasoline and Polarine, and we stand behind him. They must be dependable.

DRY LAW FAILURE, INDIAN DECLARES

Federal Policeman Makes Observations of Amount of Liquor on Red Man Reservation.

From Saturday's Daily—

Elwood Harlan, fullblooded Omaha Indian of Macy, Neb., who is a witness in federal court, says national prohibition is a failure. Harlan who farms 60 acres of land when not doing federal police duty, says this because of his observation the way the Volstead law is being enforced on the reservation and other parts of Nebraska.

"When state agents, who are supposed to see that the laws are enforced, go out and drink, then how do they expect the people to obey them," said Harlan.

Although, as a rule, Indians are silent as a sphinx when it comes to being interviewed, Harlan, who commands good English, spoke very freely and emphatic of his opposition to the liquor laws.

"If the government would go ahead and spend a lot of money and get right down to the person who makes the booze, then the liquor nests will be unearthed," said Harlan, but, the way the officers go about trying to enforce the laws makes them a joke in the eyes of the people."

Harlan admitted that liquor was being shipped into the reservation and stated that he did not believe a single Indian knew how to make the illicit stuff.—Omaha Bee.
