FARM BUREAU NOTES

Copy for this Department furnished by County Agent

Making It Soft for Them
In discussing alfalfa the other day, a farmer made the statement that he had seeded many times and had never failed to get a satisfactory stand. When asked about his methods, he replied in a joking way that most folks tried to make it too soft for alfalfa. He went on to describe his methods. The first thing to remember is that the seed bed for alfalfa and other small seeded crops should be firm and well packed. "I have seen my neighbors sow alfalfa on land that was very loose, so that at every step they sank into it to their shoe tops. When fall came around the only alfalfa or clover they would have, would be in the four corners of the field where the plow had pulled out in turning and where the extra tramping of the horses packed the soil firmly. It is a good plan to work down the field for alfalfa until you think it is in good shape, then to start in and work it down all over again. It is sure then to be firm, fine and in good shape. Thus work will also do it. It will also sprout and kill many weeds. Then if good seed is used and the weather at all favorable, a good stand should be secured."

Food Selection
There were six clubs represented at the meeting in Elmwood last week. The two new clubs were the South Ashland and the Eagle clubs. There could be delegates from four more clubs attend these meetings.

GIVES INTERESTING TALK

From Wednesday's Daily—
Last evening the members of the Young Men's Bible class of the Methodist church enjoyed a very fine time at the class rooms in the church when they were treated to an informal talk by Jack Sedgwick on his experiences while a worker in the interior mountain counties of the state of Kentucky. Mr. Sedgwick was in that portion of Kentucky as a worker for the interdenominational church council and found many very interesting experiences among the dwellers in the mountains and had the privilege of bringing the first automobile into some parts of the state and which aroused the greatest of interest among the residents of that locality. The many quaint customs of the people were related by Mr. Sedgwick as well as a general description of the country and the conditions that prevailed there among the mountain whites. This is a portion of the country that is little known of and the descriptions given by Mr. Sedgwick was very interesting throughout.

Harry Reed, "the gentleman boxer" of Lincoln, was here today to visit with Bruce Rosencrans for a few hours.

If a Hosiery Canvasser Should Call on You!

Listen to his story of "bargain" hosiery and notice his products carefully. Then drop into our store and look at a pair of Holeproof hose that we sell for a lower price than the canvasser asks for his product and that is of better quality.
Don't be fooled by so called tests of running a nail file up and down his stocking or stretching it over a door to show its strength. You can do that with any pure silk stocking!
We shall leave it to your judgment as to which hosiery you wish to buy after seeing our goods, and instead of buying at least four pairs, we'll sell you one.
