Are Overcoming the Obstacles. The matter of sinking the oil well at the farm of Z. W. Shrader north of town, has been one of work all the way down, and there has not been a distance of twenty-five feet that has not been through rock. One place they found a layer or strata of rock ten feet without a seam, and for the first solid rock cut. Three weeks ago they had the misfortune to get their drill fast at a distance of 803 feet below the surface and in order to get it out they had to get a special tool, a reamer which they began at a distance of 300 feet below the surface and reamed the hole out larger, and now when just about approaching the stuck drill, they have the added misfortune of getting the reamer fast. They are a game crew and are going after the dislodging of the drill, so that the well can progress.

Been Stealing His Cash. Bert Willis, the proprietor of the new garage at Nehawka located in the former livery barn, had some experience a few days ago which is causing him to lock the office and supply department while he is working in the rear of the garage. Some one entered the office where he has been keeping his money, not an overly large supply, but some, and appropriated a few dollars for their expenses. He has his suspicions and is now taking precautions that they get no more of his hard earned money. Bert is a rustler, but will not stand for some one slipping it past him on stealing his cash.

Sheldon and wife last Tuesday entertained a number of her friends, also very close friends of Miss Grace Strim Meyer, who is in a short time to wed Mr. Melvin Stone, and at which time a most enjoyable time was had by the fifty guests who were present on the occasion. ## FARM BUREAU NOTES

Copy for this Department furnished by County Agent

Dress Construction. Thursday, May 29, twelve ladies from the Housekeeper's Union Club, gathered at the home of Mrs. Oliver Harmon near Avesca, for an all day meeting. Miss Boyes, Clothing Specialist from the Extension Service, was present and helped the ladies finish their Dress Construction work. These ladies have been very much interested in this course and feel that it has been a great help to them.

Brush Dam. Helped build a brush dam on the August Stollman farm, near Louisville, last week. Why waste so much farm land when with a little work time these ditches can be filled to check the washing?

Fill the Old Hog Wallow and build a shade. The old muddy hog wallow is a dangerous swimming hole for the young pigs by virtue of the fact that it is the central assembling point for parasite eggs and disease germs which attack pigs and cause immense losses to Nebraska farmers every year. Pigs do not need a wallow in order to keep cool. The U. of N. Agricultural College advises that a temporary shade or roof so constructed that air will circulate freely under it is both practical and a safe protection for pigs during the summer months. Such a structure may be built of old poles and boards which are of little or no use for anything else. It should be located out away from the main buildings and lots on ground free from parasite eggs and disease germs.

Cass County Farm Bureau, County Extension Agent, L. R. Snipes.
