THE TOURIST PACEMAKERS

Murdock Boys Seeing America and Something of the Dominion Of Canada.

Richard E. Tool, Henry J. Am-gwert, Albert Thiele, who some time since left Murdock for the Pacific coast in Bud's car, write the Journal from Vancouver, Canada, where they were on September 11th and have to say as follows:

Should anyone happen in the town of Blairmore, Canada, and see a Ford coupe with a Nebraska license number thereon, a camping outfit and a windshield covered with patches, the wind look twice and then wonder unless they come from Cass county with all its hills and other things which we kick about sometimes. Still we got into worse roads than any in Cass but a few days since. It looks strange to see a mountain still green as in the spring and wheat which will not be ready to cut for a week or ten days yet and will be lucky if it gets out of the way of the frost. We saw a man hauling grain with ten horses strung out two and two, but he had it twice the load which is a small town. A mountain 7,226 feet above the sea, suddenly became loosened and slid into the adjoining plain, leaving only a small back bone. The Canadians are very sociable and willing to assist a man from the states and want to know about things down here. We were talking to a Chinese keeper who has an uncle who had been in Omaha some thirty years ago and did not think much of it then, but when informed of the greatness of Omaha and its industry and especially the packing houses and cattle market he was greatly surprised. We find many United States manufactured articles here and most of the groceries are purchased from the United States houses and it is said that they are cheaper and better even after having paid the freight and duty. One cannot get past without paying duty here and when one has met with the problem of duty here and duty there he does not think much of the taxes in the good old U. S. A.

We found a horse shoe a few days back and are having the best of luck, the motor of our car has given no trouble and the tires but very little.

We are wondering how you people are sitting in the shade and trying to keep cool, but we are wrapped in our blankets by the camp fire and trying to keep warm. But we have gone far enough north now and will cross the Rock ranges and head south from now on.

Fearing we will trespass on the space of the good old Plattsmouth Journal, we will close with best regards to all the people in Cass county and all readers elsewhere.

Tourist Pacesetters From the Goldenrod State.

"Hello there Uncles Russell and Ed," came a voice from the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hornbeck, when he arrived via the stork route last Friday. The father and fond mother are both well pleased over the arrival. The young man is well pleased with the excellent home which he has found and with the excellent uncles as well.

Donald Banta, of St. Charles, Ia., a fine young man and an excellent barber, who has for some time past been employed with the Charles West shop at Elmwood, has engaged with Mr. Emil Kuehn and began working in Murdock on Monday of this week. Mr. Banta is a very fine young man and will, we are sure, make a success as a workman in Murdock.

An old time resident and much interested gentleman in Murdock, of Omaha, Mr. Frank Martin, who was formerly associated with Henry A. Tool accompanied by Mrs. Martin, were visiting in Murdock last Thursday and Friday, being guests at the home of Henry A. Tool and wife, and Mr. Martin was attending the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Murdock Mercantile company, which was held on last Thursday evening.

Are Seeing the West
Dick, Bud and Al write from the Yellowstone park that they are there and are having a good time on their trip to the coast with their car. The boys started some time since and are expecting to go all the way through in the car of Mr. Henry Amgwert. Part of the time Richard Tool is the cook and at other times, Albert Thiele is looking after the culinary duties otherwise known as kitchen police.

Are Seeing Cherry County
At an early hour last Wednesday morning Messrs. A. J. Tool, Lacey McDonald, Harry V. McDonald, S. P. Lels and Will P. Meyer departed in their car for Cherry county, where the hunting and fishing is at its best at this season of the year. They will expect to stay for some two weeks and enjoy the opportunities offered for a good time. When they shall have returned they will release another party which will be made up of Harry Gillespie and wife, H. W. Tool and wife and others who will also spend some time there and enjoy the outing.
