FARMERS' UNION REORGANIZED

From Tuesday's Daily—The Farmers Union of Murray, known as Maple Grove Local No. 1241, has reorganized and had its charter renewed. At its next meeting an election of officers will be held and the local and its members again in the ranks of the 17,000 members of Nebraska. A large number of the members have had to maintain their membership by paying individually as members at large and the reviving of the local is for the purpose of making it more convenient for members to reinstate or renew.

Their visitors at the last meeting were Mr. Shonerfelt of the Farmers' Union State Exchange, who is general manager for the nine branch stores over the state; A. O. Jones, field secretary, and E. L. Shoemaker, state secretary. The Cass county secretary, H. L. Bornemeier, of Alvo, was also present and other visiting members from neighboring locals. There are at the present time sixteen active locals in Cass county and about half this number of co-operative business enterprises. A large portion of the Cass county members are patrons of the Farmers Union Livestock Co., of Omaha, and other branches have been anxious to become in good standing in order that they may participate in the patronage dividends at the end of the calendar year, these dividends being restricted to members only.

BENEFITS OF DAIRY SPECIAL

"There will be a great difference in the spread of influenza for better purebred dairy sires between the exchange thru the plan of the Burlington Dairy Sire Train than thru a direct sale of just as good a purebred sire by a breeder to a farmer in a new community," Mr. E. W. Frost, President of the State Holstein Association, believes. According to the plan of the Train a farmer in each community will receive a purebred bull in even exchange for the scrub he has been using, the breeders of the state standing in order of the value of the animals. If this farmer receives his purebred with all due ceremony from the Burlington Special Train when it stops in his town and he is the only man so honored in his community, his neighbors are going to watch the success of his dairy business, says Mr. Frost.

The outcome of all this encouragement for better dairy sires will be that Nebraska people will become more interested, the farmers who have been growing into the dairy business will breed up herds of higher producing cows, take better care of them, and pay more attention to the marketing of their products. "We breeders expect this improvement to last over a period of years, not to be an over-night revolution, but a gradual, progressive development. We really hope that the first year's results will not be so noticeable as those in years to follow because we want the foundation that we are laying this year to be only a foundation upon which to improve the production of the cows in each of these 31 communities and in every other part of the state," says Mr. Frost.

Business conditions among the breeders were never better, he reports from his visits to practically every leading Holstein herd in the state. Demand for good young bulls is greater than the supply right now, he has found, and choice of the 1924 crop will sell at a premium this fall.

Breeders were anxious to support this movement for more purebred sires giving their best bull in exchange for an exchange with a deserving farmer. Not one of these men refused to let the committee pick their choice from their young bulls, Mr. Frost says. This kind of support speaks well for the spirit behind the present dairy business in the state.

Fifteen Thousand Lives Lost Annually in Motor Accidents—Fear Entertained of Increase.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18.—A measure to effect a national reduction in public accident fatalities by the cooperative effort of all national associations whose interests touch upon the street and highway traffic problem will be proposed at the safety congress to be held here September 29 to October 3, the National Safety Council announces.

Among the associations to participate are the United States chamber of commerce, the American Automobile association, the United States automobile chamber of commerce, the American Railway association, the International Chief of Police association, the national bureau of car-patrol and surety underwriters, the American electric railway association and the American mutual alliance.

"Fifteen thousand lives are lost in automobile accidents each year and fully 75 per cent of these accidents are avoidable," said the announcement. "Since 1910, the death toll has been increasing at the rate of 1,000 each year and, with the increasing registration of automobiles resulting in street and highway traffic problems, which cannot easily be solved, it is probable that the annual death rate may be in the neighborhood of 30,000 in 1930."

"The collection of public accident statistics and their analysis is probably the most important phase of accident prevention work at the present time," Col. James S. McKelvey, director of public safety of Grand Rapids, Michigan, will explain the system under the universal accident report forms adopted by the national safety council. Mark Graves, New York state tax commissioner, will outline the organization and operation of the New York motor vehicle bureau which keeps an accident record for every motor vehicle driver in the state. Many well known leaders of the safety movement will speak.

ARBOR LODGE OPEN FOR ANOTHER MONTH

Arbor Lodge State Park will probably be open to visitors throughout the year, but the house is likely to be closed in a month, Supt. Frank Williams intimated yesterday morning.

The Park Board will hold a meeting in December and plans will be made for the improvements for 1925, provided the legislature will appropriate the funds which will be necessary.

The legislature gave only $10,000 to the Board to be spent during the first two years. It is known by every member of the board that this sum is entirely inadequate. With so much to be done to impress visitors, including the proposal to add exhibits to those now shown in the house, at least $10,000 a year will be required.

People who have visited the Park this year, including many members of the legislature seeking re-election, are convinced that the park must not be permitted to suffer for lack of funds. Every visitor this year will be a "lobbyist" for the cause when the legislature convenes, Nebraska City Press.

PERSHING SENDS A FORMAL FAREWELL TO OLD COMRADES

Message of Good Will and Appreciation by General to Comrades in the Army.

Washington, Sept. 19.—General Pershing, written in the form of a last general order he signed on his birthday, September 13, which will be read to every army organization by the chief commanding officer at the first parade formation after it is received, was made public today at the war department. It is addressed to "My Comrades" and bears the simple signature, "John J. Pershing," without other indication of his rank (that is being at the top, "General of the armies.")

"No words seem adequate to express to you the conflicting emotions that I feel upon reaching the date which officially marks the termination of my active service," General Pershing commences. "Our experiences together have been varied. We have withstood the same hardships and shared the same pleasures. We have faced discouragements and rejoiced over victories.

"Today recollections that swiftly pass in review fill my heart with a sense of gratitude for the loyal service and warm appreciation of the sincere devotion to the country of the patriotic officers and men with whom it has been my good fortune to be associated during the fleeting years of my army life. It is my proud privilege in parting to say to the men of all ranks who have borne arms under the flag that none has more earnestly wished peace, yet in defense of right none has ever been imbued with loftier purpose nor more completely consecrated to the maintenance of our ideals."

"My esteem for them and my admiration for their achievements continue to increase with the passing of time. The inspiration of their exalted conception of citizenship and their fulfillment of its obligations should ever assure the preservation of our institutions. The glorious example of their fidelity and courage will be remembered by those who come after us.

"It is with an abiding confidence in our national future and with the assurance of my lasting interest in their welfare that I bid you all an affectionate farewell."

THEY DID A GOOD WORK

The people surrounding the cemetery south of Cedar Creek got together and on last Saturday morning went with the proper tools and cleaned up the cemetery and grounds surrounding the church across the way. There were many men there, and two ladies, Messames Charles Fetzer and Henry Ahl. These two women worked faithfully and did their portion in beautifying the place.

There were weeds to cut, grass to mow and trash and debris to clear away. Many swung scythes, others plied rakes and with the mower they soon had the place looking fine.

Among those present and helping were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ahl, Mrs. Charles Fetzer, Messrs. Phillip Heil, Andy Thompson, James and Glennie Terry, Ernest and Mrs. Theodore Ahl, Jacob and George Fornoff, Henry Owens, Wm. Schneider, Charles H. J. Hennings, Phillip and Nick Hennings, George Lohnes, Walter Heil, Murel Ragoss and William Kroeger.

BOY SCOUTS HERE

From Thursday's Daily—Frank B. Shopp, who has been more or less interested in the Boy Scout work for several years, has just had the pleasure of having a part of Troop 34 of the Omaha Boy Scouts down to spend a few days on the tract of land that he owns southeast of the city along the banks of the Missouri river.

Mr. Shopp is an honorary member of Troop 34 and when his associate scouts arrived with their scoutmaster, he hastened down and enjoyed the camp life with the boys and was able to carry out the scout work like a veteran Eagle scout.

The Shopp farm is an ideal place for a camp and the boys from Omaha enjoyed the event to the utmost and are anticipating a return visit in the future to enjoy the delights of the great open spaces and away from the well beaten path of man.
