Mrs. R. Bergman was a visitor at the home of her parents in Lincolnville and looking after some business matters in Omaha on last Thursday.

The Rev. Higgins, pastor of the St. Patrick's Catholic church of Manley, was called to Omaha on last Thursday to look after some business matters.

Joseph Wagner was looking after matters at the postoffice and Mr. R. Bergman's store during the absence of Mr. Bergman at the postmaster's convention at Chicago.

Joseph Macey purchased a forty acre tract of land from Fred Kreckling on the road between Louisville and Murdock and which is now occupied by John Habel.

Charles Schaefer was a business caller at the village of Manley from his home at Murdock last Thursday morning and was looking after the wants of his customers for gasoline and oils.

J. C. Rauth, of Manley, Roy Howard Murray and Watson Howard of Greenwood were in attendance at the meeting of the federal grand jury which convened at the state capital last week.

R. Bergman, postmaster of Manley, was a visitor at Chicago, where he went as a delegate to the National convention of Postmasters and also to visit with his brother who makes his home there.

A. H. Humble who bid in the station at Union on the Missouri Pacific, gave the place up again and bid in the station at Manley again, and will make his home here. Mr. Humble has become very closely attached to the people of Manley and is very loath to leave.

Theodore Harms the merchant, has been kept to his home on account of illness for the past nearly a week and was very seriously ill a number of days, but is showing some improvement. It is hoped that he will soon be able to be out again and look after his business.

Alfred Lovell, who with his brother has been visiting at Manley and the guests at the home of J. C. Rauth for some time past, departed last Wednesday for Columbia, where he will visit for some few days with a very dear friend, and then continue on to his home at Chappell.

A. F. Rauth and family and Miss Anna Rauth, who is attending school at Grand Island, drove over to Manley one day last week and spent Sunday at the home of J. C. Rauth and Herman Rauth and wife, enjoying the visit very much and returning to their home last Sunday evening.

Walter Muckenaupt was a visitor at Omaha one day last week, going to bring Mrs. Muckenaupt and their son Arthur home. Arthur had been at the hospital and his mother had been looking after him, following an infection caused by stepping on a nail, which caused blood infection. He is however getting along nicely at this time.

Will Do Some Work The Modern Woodmen of America lodge is to have on tomorrow (Tuesday) evening, October 14th, work and have three candidates for initiation into the mysteries of woodcraft and for the past few days they have been pepping up the goat which they use for that purpose. It is claimed they have been giving the animal plug tobacco and the distilled extract of corn as a tonic as well as good, wholesome, substantial food. They are to give the Royal Bumper degree to Virgil Ruby, Errett Wiles and Wm. Hebecker. All are looking for a most exciting time.

Celebrates 40th Anniversary. Last Thursday their beautiful farm home between Alvo and Elmwood, Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott, Sr., celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their marriage. Forty years ago last Thursday, October 9th, John Elliott and Miss Nellie Edwards were united in marriage at Champaign, Ill., and after two years came to Nebraska and have made their home on the same place where they are living now, making 38 years of continuous cultivation of the farm.

There were gathered at the old home for the event the children and their families, they being Earl, of Elmwood, who with his wife were present, Dick and wife and their little one, Grace (Mrs. Frank Melvin) and husband, of Murdock; Mrs. Ruth Stotower and family, of Lincoln; John Elliott, Jr., who lives on the farm. There was also present Dick Elliott, Sr., a brother of John Elliott, who came down from his home in Lincoln for the event.

ENJOYED A REUNION From Tuesday's Daily—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John McNurlin in this city was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on last Sunday when Mrs. McNurlin enjoyed a visit with two of her brothers and a sister-in-law, the first time in a long period that the members of the family had been permitted to gather with each other.

C. M. Seybert and wife came down from Havelock, Mrs. B. F. Seybert and son, Isaac, of Dunbar, Nebraska, were also here, and were later joined by W. H. Seybert and son Jennings and the absence of the remaining brother, A. F. Seybert, was the only thing that prevented a reunion of all the brothers and the sister. The time was spent in visiting and in disposing of the fine dinner that had been prepared and the royal hospitality that is so characteristic of the McNurlin home.

WILL WINTER IN FLORIDA From Wednesday's Daily—Hon. W. H. Newell and daughter, Mrs. Frank B. Shopp and daughter, Miss Marjorie, have departed for Florida, where they expect to spend the winter months at Miami, and other points in the southern state, and escape the rigors of the northern winter that is very trying on Mr. Newell who is now in his eighty-seventh year and not in the most robust health. While the family are in the south Mr. Shopp will spend the time visiting with his daughters at Burrell and McCook and enjoying the many points of interest in these localities.

OPENING RESTAURANT From Monday's Daily—The new restaurant of T. D. Brown, well known proprietor of the Brown's Park at Nebraska City, opened in this city today, Mr. Brown stated today. The restaurant is located in the room formerly occupied by the Barclay and Graham cafe and will be run in the most up-to-date manner and every possible service given to the public by Mr. Brown and his assistants. Those who appreciate a good first class restaurant will find that Mr. Brown will add a very pleasing addition to the other high class eating houses of the city.

SOME FINE GRAPES From Wednesday's Daily—J. H. McMaken, councilman of the second ward, who has a large variety of grapes at his home in the north part of the city, remembered the Journal office yesterday with a fine basket of this fruit and which offered a large number of the different colors of the grapes and all were most delightful. Mr. McMaken has taken a great deal of care of his fruit and the result is that he has a place that is one of the attractions of that part of the city.

RECEIVES PLEASANT NEWS. From Wednesday's Daily—The announcement has been received here of the birth of a fine little daughter to Rev. and Mrs. A. V. Hunter at the Methodist hospital in Omaha, where Mrs. Hunter has been for some time. The mother and little one are both doing nicely and since the arrival of the new daughter the pastor has been wearing a joyful and optimistic smile.

EIGHT MILE GROVE CLUB Last evening there was a very enthusiastic meeting of the democrats of Eight Mile Grove precinct at the Hill school house west of this city some eight miles and a very active Davis and Bryan club was formed to aid the campaign in that section.

The officers chosen were: Mrs. P. E. Tritsch, president; P. A. Horn and Mrs. Rudolph Meisinger, vice presidents; Mrs. Ralph Meisinger, secretary. The new organization is taking a hold in fine shape and should have a number of interesting meetings before the campaign closes.

The meeting was addressed by Hon. W. B. Banning, Earl Towle, J. A. Capwell, D. C. Morgan and W. H. Puls and who had the pleasure of reading the many citizens of that section of the county, who were present at the meeting. D. O. Dwyer also spoke for the national ticket.

Mrs. Marvin Allen departed this morning for Council Bluffs where she will spend the day with friends and looking after some matters of business.

Charles C. Parmele, who was here visiting with relatives and friends, returned this morning to his home in the metropolis.

Misses Gladys Lash and Esther Healy were among the visitors in Omaha today, going to that city on the early Burlington train.

MAKERS OF CASS COUNTY

Thomas Wiles

Luke and Lucinda Wiles lived in Andrew county, Mo., and there on September 29, 1845, Thomas Wiles was born. The parents, with the young man, then six years of age, removed to Mills county, Iowa, in 1851 and settled on a farm six miles south of Glenwood, which they purchased from the Mormons. At that time Glenwood was called Coonville.

In 1854, when young Thomas was nine years old, they crossed over into Nebraska, purchasing a portion of the farm near the Catholic cemetery of the Indians, Chief Kirkwood being the principal chief, they having at that time an Indian village where Oak Hill cemetery now is located, just east of the top of the ridge.

Here Luke Wiles built a log house 14x18, and later built a lean-to, in which they lived. This was the stopping place of the U. S. stage coach and oftentimes from two to twelve passengers on the coach stopped at their home for the night.

Dr. Donelan was the first physician in the new county, and his sister Anna heard with the Wiles family. Among the early settlers who were here when the Wiles family came were Stephen Wiles, Lafayette Todd and Henry Schaefer. Sam Martin had a trading post down near the river, where the city of Alvo started, he being the first, and with Joe Brown, who opened his store later, were located where the Burlington station now stands, then right on the river's edge.

Late in the fall of 1854 the Indians burned their village and went over to where Luke L. Wiles' home now stands and stayed until spring.

In 1855-56 the senior Luke Wiles split the rails himself and fenced in some 30 acres and in 1856 raised the first crop of spring wheat, the 30 acres being put to corn. In 1856 and 1857 there were many rumors of a great raid, but none materialized. They had settled along Four Mile creek and Eight mile creek and the Weeping Water, where there was plenty of water and much wood.

The first preacher in the new community was Elijah Gibbs, a Baptist, who was soon followed by a minister of the United Brethren faith, who traveled in a gig, a big two-wheeled vehicle used considerable at that time.

During the hard winter of 1855-56 it was severely cold and there were many blizzards, one of them the worst ever experienced in this part of the country. The snow was over four feet deep on the level and had drifted to several times that depth in many places, being impossible for days. During that winter Andrew Stark killed 58 deer and in the early spring took the frozen hind quarters and skins to St. Joseph, where he exchanged them for articles that were needed here.

As new settlers began coming in, claim jumping became a very common practice and a vigilance committee was organized to check their depredations. One of the incidents of the activity of the committee concerns the forced crossing of the river on the floating ice of the Johnson brothers and a man named Kelly who are supposed to have been drowned, although there is no authentic information on this point.

In 1855 a log school house was built on the Wiles farm, located just north of where L. L. Wiles now lives and a Miss Ward was the first teacher. The following year a frame school house was built down town, located in the present third ward of Plattsmouth, then known as Gospel hill, near the Perry Gass home and was used jointly as a school, church and court house. Mary Stocking was the first teacher of this school. The first term of district court was held in this building, the grand jury having previously met in the house, a clearing being made large enough to accommodate them.

In 1858 Luke Wiles moved back to Mills county, Iowa, and Thomas Wiles, then only 13 years of age, continued to live on the place until in 1862, during the early portion of the civil war, he enlisted in the 25th Iowa volunteers, leaving August 12th of that year, and serving three years in the Union army in Arkansas.

On April 20, 1864, Mr. Wiles was wounded in the battle of Sabine river and was in a hospital at Little Rock for four weeks; when he was furloughed home for thirty days and then returned to the army.

In February, 1865, Mr. Wiles made a confession of the Christ and was baptized in the Arkansas river at Little Rock, becoming a member of the Christian church. In the latter part of February with others he took a transport to Denville Bluffs, Ark., and then to New Orleans, for a stop of a few days. From there they took train for Mobile Bay, landing at Fort Morgan for another stop of several days and then marched to Fort Spanish, which was evacuated, they going to Fort Blackey at the mouth of the Tom Bigby river. Shortly after their arrival the Union army stormed the fort and took several thousand prisoners and coming into possession of the railroad station and some 40 locomotives of the Mobile and Ohio railway. About this time they received word that General Lee had surrendered to General Grant on April 10th, 1865, and in a few days news came of the assassination of President Lincoln.

While at Mobile, Mr. Wiles witnessed an explosion of ammunition that destroyed a portion of the town. About June first his company took shipping for Rio Grande river, landing at Brazos, Santiago, near Point Isabel, Texas. On August 1st they continued on to New Orleans, where on August 6th they were mustered for discharge, and on August 24, 1865, the subject of this sketch was discharged from service at Davenport, Iowa.

While in camp, Mr. Wiles purchased some school books and in the fall of 1865 taught the home school, attending school the following year at Tabor college, where he continued his studies for three years.

Mr. Wiles was united in marriage to Miss Barbara J. Linville on January 2nd, 1868, and on January 14th moved on the farm two miles west of Plattsmouth. This union was blessed with four children. The third, a daughter, Francis, died at the age of three years and four months. Loren M. Wiles, the eldest, graduated from the Plattsmouth High school, and received his Bachelor and Arts degree from the Arkansas university, engaging in the ministry as a pastor of the Christian church. Canina Grace Wiles, the second, graduated from the Plattsmouth High school and later attended Cotner university, where she graduated with the B. A. degree. C. L. Wiles, the youngest, after having graduated from the Plattsmouth High school, also graduated from the business department of the Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. Wiles was a member of the school board for eight years and taught three years. In 1881 he took a homestead and timber claim in Frontier county having nearly four years to apply on his time, which he had served in the civil war.

Mr. Wiles also took a pre-emption claim for which he paid $1.25 per acre and which he acquired a goodly quantity of land.

While living in Frontier county, he with a number of others organized the first Bible school in Frontier county, where they remained until 1888, when the children were getting to that age where they needed school facilities and the family moved back to Plattsmouth. Mrs. Wiles died in 1907 and Mr. Wiles was again married on August 22, 1909, this time to Mrs. Catherine Palmer. They moved to Plattsmouth, where they have since resided. Mr. Wiles became a member of the Christian church in Plattsmouth in 1868 and during his residence here has been an officer in the church all the time. Mr. Wiles has been in the Bible school work all his life and has been a teacher of some class, most generally the adult class. At the present time he is teacher of the adult Bible class and an elder in the Plattsmouth church.

Mrs. William Woolcott and children departed this morning for York, Nebraska, where they will enjoy a short time there with relatives and friends and enjoying a short outing.

Mrs. E. H. Wescott and daughter, Miss Helen, were among the visitors in Omaha today where they enjoyed the day visiting with Mrs. A. S. Hunter and daughter at the Methodist hospital.

MANLEY NEWS ITEMS

Wm. Stewart was called to Lancaster county, where he had some well work to look after last week. John W. Banning and wife were visiting with friends at Nehawka last Sunday, driving over in their auto.

J. L. Pilkington, the mason, went to Elmwood last Thursday, where he was to assist in the construction of a storm cave there.

Simon Rehmeier and wife were looking after some business matters at Lincoln last Tuesday, making the trip with their auto.

S. C. Boyles and wife were visiting in Lincoln last Saturday and also were in attendance at the football game between Nebraska and Illinois.

Wm. Wiggs and family, of Colorado Springs, moved to the Quillhorst farm south of Alvo last week and will farm there the coming season.

George Yaeger, who is at Hot Springs, is reported as making some substantial improvement in his health as a result of the treatment he is taking there.

Carl Wessell, of Nehawka and wife were visiting last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Coatsman, and also was Mr. Ben Riley, of Weeping Water, the day being most pleasantly spent.

Harry Appelman and wife were enjoying the football game between the Nebraska team and the Illinois team which was staged a week ago last Saturday, and pronounced the playing on both sides excellent.

Orville Quillhorst and George Hardcock and wife were attending a sale just over in Kansas, where they drove in their auto last week, and near which place Mr. Quillhorst is expecting to farm the coming year.

Paul Coatsman has a new Splitzen-Denz car, whatever that may be, and he is but has it and is liking it very well. Probably it is something like an auto or something to ride in, who knows?

Charles Appelman, who makes his home with his brother, L. B. Appelman, has been confined to his bed for some time with an attack of pneumonia, but is showing some improvement though still unable to leave his bed.

Will E. Heier, who is a rustler when it comes to working, put in 60 acres of wheat in two days, and has at this time secured 100 acres of wheat and has it in good condition. This should be a good paying crop for the coming year.

John Sidman, the hustler, who drives the truck of R. M. Coatsman, was a visitor in Omaha one day last week with a load of stock from Ben Swanson, and on his return brought home a range for the hardware store which had been sold to E. D. Friend.

Frank Edwards and Earl Elliott departed one day last week for Holt county, where they went to enjoy a week of an outing which will consist of fishing and hunting. While they are away, W. H. Warner will look after the chore at the home of Mr. Edwards.

David Simpson, father of William Simpson, of Alvo, who has been here accompanied by the wife during the serious illness of his son on the convalescence of the son, returned on last Thursday morning to his home at Bernard, Kansas, where he is engaged in farming.

W. J. Althouse, with the help of his sons and neighbors, have been constructing a new machine house, which will care for the farming machinery, and as the prices of machinery are high enough at this time it is well that they be cared for, as to buy often impoverishes the owner of a large farm.

Wm. Simpson, who has been in the hospital at Lincoln for some time, where he underwent an operation for the removal of a tumor or puss cyst from the nasal passage, is reported as doing nicely at this time and was able to be up and about last week and it is expected that he will soon be able to be at home.

C. H. Kirkpatrick and wife departed a few days since for the east and will visit in Wisconsin at the former home of Mr. C. H. Kirkpatrick, where he has not been for a number of years and will this time expect to remain for some three weeks. They will surely have a good time while visiting there and will enjoy seeing the old time friends and the old time places.

L. B. Appelman, who with his brother, Peter O. Appelman, were hunting in Holt county for some two weeks and also looking after some lands which Mr. Ben Appelman had there, returned home last Sunday. The writer was fortunate enough to enjoy a prairie chicken dinner which was the result of their hunting experience and we can say that the dinner was excellent and the chicken done just to a turn by the excellent cook, Mrs. Appelman.

Simon Rehmeier and wife of Alvo entertained friends from Weeping Water and other points last Sunday, at which time they had a most enjoyable gathering. There were there for the occasion Louis Hawkins and wife, of Waterloo, Iowa; Chris Rehmeier and wife, of Oler; Carl Rehmeier, of Avoca; Chris Johnson, Fred Rehmeier and family, Frank Taylor and wife, Mrs. Nels Sogaard and children, G. Rehmeier and wife, Ar-
