JESUS THE HIGH PRIEST

The law makest men high priests, which have infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore.

—Hebrews 7:28.

Time to buy your coal.

Open minds and open mouths don't go together.

Get your pumpkins, boys, for Halloween is nearing.

You can't kiss a girl these days who doesn't know how.

If ignorance were bliss all the grouches would be happy.

The coal bin is a has-bin no longer; now it's a hasn't bin.

Everything comes to the man who goes out and runs it down.

Next thing you know everybody will be talking about Christmas.

Turkeys are not very scarce, but maybe the prices will be out of reach.

Unrequited love doesn't cause women half so much suffering as unsatisfied curiosity.

When a man starts out to make a fool of himself he always finds a crowd eager to help him.

Lots of fellows stand around and make excuses while lots of other fellows are making a success.

Mr. La Follette says he has no wish to throw the election into congress. Neither have the people.

A local citizen who bought a new Ford car, says he is "adding everything to it that will make it ride easy."

Flappers are trying to get on the London police force. The flapper has tried about everything—why not try the police force.

It also looks very much as though the election of the new British government would be thrown into the house of commons.

When you vote for John H. Morehead you know you are voting for a man who will truly represent your interests in congress.

The people like to vote for a good and true public servant—one who is able and willing to represent the First district as it should be represented. That man is Hon. John H. Morehead, for two terms governor of Nebraska. Remember that a vote for him is a vote for an able, progressive gentleman, who has always proved true to the confidence placed in him.

The Bargain Day advertisers reap the benefits and always should.

More men have loafed themselves to death than worked themselves to death.

Old Winter will soon be here in all his glory, and then what about the coal man?

The men do the shopping on Saturday nights nowadays, while their wives get their hair cut.

Our admiration has always been great for the gent who can whistle and smoke a pipe at the same time.

Proponents of oil as an ideal fuel and producer of heat are referring the dubious to Washington for references.

Don't forget to come in and hear Congressman Morehead at the Court House next Saturday evening, October 18th.

Henry Ford has withdrawn his bid for Muscote Shoals. Wonder if he doesn't think that Silent Cal's chance for election is pretty much in doubt?

The democrats want to look out for the election slush fund, as election day nears. Don't forget what Mark Hanna done in the last hours of the McKinley campaign.

John W. Davis, our next president, is drawing immense crowds wherever he speaks. People are rallying to his support everywhere, and the enthusiasm is great.

Little by little we pile up evidence that the world is growing better. Here's the latest: The beauty shop operators at Omaha are organizing and expect to adopt a code of ethics.

Department of agriculture announces the discovery of a new gooseberry. If it's just a little sweeter than the old one, this is one of the most important discoveries of the age.

A college professor says women are not so quick to grasp political truths as men are. Perhaps they are just more candid. A good many "political truths" that men grasp so quickly aren't truths.

Frank Harrison and Otto Mutz are into it hot and heavy and are about to split the progressive vote in Nebraska. Frank Harrison has no interests in Nebraska politically speaking, or otherwise.

The news sometimes reads stranger than fiction. In Texas an old lady is reunited with her husband from whom she was kidnaped 53 years ago by her parents a few weeks after the wedding in Tennessee. The father, now 73, sees his middle-aged son for the first time. If it were in the movies, the critics would label it "impossible."

MRS. IZETTA JEWELL BROWN

Mrs. Izetta Jewell Brown, a star speaker in the Davis-Bryan campaign, who speaks in Plattsmouth next Wednesday night at 8 p. m., is one of the handful of original Davis boosters who dedicated themselves more than five years ago for the purpose of electing their friend and fellow West Virginian to the presidency of the United States. Mrs. Brown seconded the nomination of Mr. Davis in San Francisco in 1920, and again had that honor in New York in 1924. She was a constant worker on the floor of the convention for Mr. Davis. To this task she brought political experience gained in the races she made in West Virginia for the democratic nomination for the United States senate. In each she was unsuccessful, but lost by only a few thousand votes in the 1924 primaries. To her accomplishments as a practical farmer and politician, Mrs. Brown adds the abilities of an actress. As Izetta Jewell, she was a well known actress, playing leads to James Hackett, Otis Skinner and others. While acting in Washington, D. C., she met and married William G. Brown, a congressman from West Virginia. He died a year later. She assumed charge of their farm near Kingwood, West Virginia. She added two other farms, and has built them into the best in the state, spending time in the state university at Morgantown studying agricultural problems, with the idea of making the farms a model. In addition, she is a director of the Wool pool of West Virginia, is actively affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation and assists in the operation of a wholesale grocery.

Mrs. Brown is of medium height, slender, vivacious, and possessed of an unusually beautiful and well trained voice. Her speeches are witty, her political points well taken, and she has set the fashion for brevity in campaign talks. She has one daughter.

Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Westover were at Lincoln today to attend the Homecoming at the state university and the Colgate-Nebraska game.

Miss Marie Sperry and brother, Gerald, were visitors in Omaha today, going to that city on the early morning Burlington train.

Attorney W. A. Robertson was among the former grads of the University of Nebraska gathering at Lincoln today for the Colgate-Nebraska game.

DOING VERY NICELY

From Thursday's Daily—
The many friends of L. A. Meisinger, one of the well known farmers of this section of Cass county, will be pleased to know that Mr. Meisinger is now doing very nicely at the Immanuel hospital in Omaha, where he was operated on last week for a very severe case of appendicitis. Mr. Meisinger has stood the ordeal in fine shape and is now showing marked improvement and hopes soon to be able to return home permanently restored to his former good health.
