

ELKS CARNIVAL TO BENEFIT OAK HILL CEMETERY

Big Festival Starting November 17th to be of Benefit to the Cemeteries of the City.

From Monday's Daily— Beginning Monday, November 17, and lasting through that entire week, Plattsmouth lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, No. 739, will present to the citizens of Plattsmouth and Cass county one of the largest and best indoor carnivals ever presented in this community.

This carnival is purely a community affair and the funds are to be used for a purpose which affects the interest of every citizen. The fact that the cemeteries of the city have been sadly neglected, and that their name of this community in the past is well known to everyone who has loved ones resting there, is the purpose of the local Elks lodge to remedy that condition, and not only to give fifty per cent of the proceeds of this carnival to create a fund for that purpose, but to add to that fund each year, until it is of sufficient amount that the interest derived therefrom will be sufficient to take the best of care of every part of the cemeteries.

The carnival will be conducted in the club rooms of the Elks lodge and entertainment will be provided for everyone. The various booths will be equipped with valuable prizes, and besides the customary booths, there will be several interesting contests, also a special entertainment feature each evening, and dancing every night after 10:30.

A valuable prize will be given each evening to the person holding the lucky ticket. These prizes consist of a gold Eversharp pencil and fountain pen, lady's bracelet, lady's wrist watch, gentleman's gold watch with chain and penknife, radio set and on the last night, Saturday, November 22nd, the holder of the lucky number will be presented with a 1925 Oldsmobile touring car. All of these prizes, with the exception of the Oldsmobile touring car, are now on display in the windows of M. D. Brown, jeweler, and the Oldsmobile will be on display on the streets of Plattsmouth each Saturday, beginning with Saturday, November 1st.

Season tickets are being sold for $1.00 each, entitling the holder to admission each night of the carnival and also to a chance on each of the prizes mentioned above, one of which will be given each night of the carnival. These tickets are on sale at most of the business houses of the city, and by all members of the local lodge.

The funds derived from this carnival are to be devoted to a worthy purpose and the affair is deserving of the loyal support of the entire community.

DAVIS OR DEADLOCK

The complacency of the republican managers over the election prospects has given place to evidence of consternation in the hysterical cry of the republican chairman that there is "a conspiracy to prevent the people from electing a president at the polls. This is supplemented by the amusing warning of Coleman Du Pont that the insurgents are trying to deadlock the election. The whole case of confidence is given away in the bitter denunciation of La Follette by Mr. Hughes. It is very evident that the republicans realize the improbability of the election of Mr. Coolidge at the polls.

There is no occasion for hysteria even in the event the election is thrown into the house. It would not be the first time it has happened and the republic and our institutions and our constitution all survived the ordeal.

Nor is there any "conspiracy" to throw the election into the house. There is no conspiracy at all. There is a determination on the part of millions of Americans to prevent the continuance in power of the party that has shamed the nation with a succession of disgraceful scandals of which that party is not ashamed. There is a plan to prevent the violation of the party that boast of a tariff act which legalizes the filching of from four to five billions a year from the pockets of the people for the benefit of the privileged few. There is a disposition to rid the country of the curse of government-aided paralysis which is inevitable from the divided councils of the party in power.

But that is not a conspiracy. It is open, above board, and is proclaimed from a thousand stumps.

It cannot be done at the polls the fight will be continued in the house. The decisive defeat of the party of the Falls, Fortresses and Daughertys at the polls is the price that must be paid for the prevention of an election by the congress.

It is sheer impertinence to expect to recoup the republican losses from La Follette in the west from the ranks of democracy. The democrats are fighting Coolidge and all his tribe, and all his works, and all that is hidden behind his silences. They are fighting corruption—and they will not vindicate it by voting to retain the administration that has bred it. They are fighting the most adomable of all tariff loots—and they are not going to vote to continue it. They are fighting incompetency, and governmental paralysis—and they will not give the victory to the party that has been incompetent and has brought paralysis.

They will vote for John W. Davis, who personifies their principle and foreshadows their policies, and they are inviting all who look upon a deadlocked election as a calamity to join them in his election at the polls.—New York World.

For your real old fashioned Halloween party ideas and decorations come to the Bates Book and Gift Shop and look over the fine line on display there. The prices are right.

Harley Wiles, wife and family of Kansas City, are here enjoying a visit with relatives and friends for a short time.

Judge Rose Recommended by the Press

"The record of Judge Rose as a member of the supreme court has made him worthy of the support of all who love law honestly and candidly administered."—Otoe Union.

"Judge Rose is right in the prime of life, and this fact coupled with a thorough knowledge of judicial procedure, and a keen insight into present day needs in the interpretation of law, eminently qualify him for a return to the position he has honored so long."—Havelock Post.

"The trend of Judge Rose's opinions, as observed by members of the legal profession, is to adapt judicial procedure to present day conditions and to avoid ancient technicalities which interfere with the administration of justice."—Tecumseh Chieftain.

"Judge Rose, though still one of the younger generation of Nebraska jurists, has had extensive judicial and legal experience."—Lincoln Daily Star.

"Papers of all shades of political adherence have commended the administration of Judge Rose."—Syracuse Journal-Democrat.

ENJOY PLEASANT TRIP TO SHENANDOAH SUNDAY

Cass County People Visit at C. H. Rist Home Near Sidney and Also At Shenandoah, Sunday

Yesterday several auto loads of Cass county people journeyed over into the southern portion of our neighboring state of Iowa to pay a visit to the farm home of C. H. Rist and family near Sidney, and take in the many points of interest in that locality.

In the party that made the trip were Henry Horn and wife and daughter, Miss Helen, Louis Ticknor and wife, Miss Anna Heil, L. H. Heil and wife of Omaha, William A. Heil and wife of near Myrard, Guy Heil and wife of near Corn Creek, Otto and Miss Freda Wohlfarth and Miss Viola Keil.

The day was an ideal one for travel and the trip embracing 143 miles was enjoyed every moment by the members of the party. The fine farm of Mr. Rist, consisting of 320 acres of the fine land of Fremont county, was the main point of the visitors and here they were given the most royal hospitality that is characteristic of this former Cass county family. Not the least of the features of the trip was the wonderful dinner prepared and served by the Rist family to their friends and which embraced all that the most discriminating could demand in the good things to eat.

The visitors found the farm in fine shape and excellent crops for the past summer and the brightest prospects for the coming year and which will give the owner of the farm a good return for the years work. This was most pleasing to the old friends of Mr. Rist and family to know that they had prospered so much in the last year.

In the afternoon the party accompanied by the Rist family drove to Shenandoah, Iowa, where they visited the Henry Field's radio station

J. N. NORTON of Polk Democratic Candidate for GOVERNOR

Mr. Norton is not only endorsed by his own political party, but by the progressive men and women of Nebraska, of all political parties.

Throughout the campaign he has stated fearlessly just where he stands on every question. His campaign pledges have been made in the open and to all the people of the state of Nebraska.

He was a member of the legislative sessions of 1911, 1913, 1915, and 1917, and the constitutional convention in 1920. He was re-elected to the legislature each time without opposition in either the primary or general election—the greatest endorsement that any man could receive.

He was the majority floor leader in two sessions of the legislature and was chairman of the finance committee in 1915, which brought about the first great reduction in the appropriation of money for state purposes.

On every question he has stood for the constructive, progressive things demanded by the forward looking man and woman of Nebraska. He has introduced or advocated the initiative, referendum and recall; women's suffrage; state income tax; water-power and municipal ownership legislation; state budget system; to prevent legislative log-rolling; county commission form of government; good roads; stock yards regulatory legislation; was author of the resolution creating the constitutional convention and many other progressive measures. Many of these measures, or others of the like character, have been enacted into law.

He has always opposed any tampering with the primary law, the bank guarantee law, and other progressive laws secured through great effort.

He is opposed to our present expensive, duplicated state government; opposes the intangible tax law, and like reactionary laws. He demands, if elected, a searching investigation of the expenditures of money in the present campaign, and such amendments to the corrupt practices act, as will prevent great sums of outside money coming into Nebraska to influence elections.

Mr. Norton was born on a farm in Polk County, in 1878, and still lives there. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is highly qualified by education and training for the high office of governor.

A Norton vote is a vote for honesty and progress in governmental affairs

MAKERS OF CASS COUNTY

Henry T. Long

When the last century was near a half hundred years old, on May 14, 1850, Henry C. Long was born at point near Fekevan, in Walworth county Wisconsin, and when nine years of age with his parents moved to near Shenandoah, Iowa, where he made his home until 1875, when he spent two years in California and then returned to Iowa, remaining there until in 1882 when he came to Nebraska to make his home. Mr. Long got his education in the country schools of Wisconsin and Iowa. When Mr. Long, with his parents, came to Iowa, there was but little settlement there, it being in 1859. The Indians from Nebraska would come over to Iowa and camp for the winters as there was abundance of game and wood, and return to Nebraska in the spring. The trip was made from Wisconsin to Iowa, where they settled near Walnut creek, in a covered wagon with oxen, who had to pasture along the way as the food was scarce. They arrived just across the river in Page county Iowa, on June 19, 1859. Mr. Long recalls the fact that there was plenty of deer and buffalo, long after they had moved to Iowa. The land where they lived for some time, extended to the Missouri line and farther, some twenty-five miles, all open prairie.

For many years their nearest market was Sidney Landing, a port on the Missouri river now between Hamburg, Iowa, and Watson, Mo. This was 35 miles from their home and the trip was not made very often. While in California during the years 1875 and 1876, Mr. Long worked in the pine woods, cutting and hauling logs.

He returned to Iowa in 1877, and was united in marriage to Miss Ella Torrence and then for about five years engaged in the livery business in the town of Shenandoah, which was a new town, but a very lively one, and it still is an excellent little city. In 1882, disposing of his business in Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Long and their girls came to Nebraska, where he purchased a farm a mile and a half west of Murray, a portion is still owned by Mr. Long and the remainder by O. T. Leyda.

Here Mr. and Mrs. Long and the children made their home thirty-one years, and after which they moved to Murray where Mr. and Mrs. Long have made their home for the past eleven years or since 1913. Their two children are both married, Mrs. Bertha Shrader, living in Omaha, where she has two children, Chester and Eldorine. Mrs. Gertrude Nickles, wife of George Nickles living in Murray.

Mr. Long purchased the farm when he came here, 320 acres and has disposed of a portion of it since. Also in 1893 he purchased 320 acres in the western portion of the state, which he has at this time. In 1886, both Mr. and Mrs. Long joined the United Brethren church. They are now making their home in Murray where they have a large number of friends.

EXPERIENCE AND TRAINING

Mr. Taylor has had twelve years intensive training in railroad and utility regulation. In no other public office is such expert knowledge so essential. The value of this experience is demonstrated in Mr. Taylor's case. He is now serving as president of the National Association of Railroad & Utilities Commissioners and is chairman of the Central Western Regional Advisory Board. As head of these two important bodies he is in a position to render signal service to the people of Nebraska.

As chairman of the Regional Board he has played a conspicuous part in the prevention of CAR SHORTAGE.

He was chairman of the state commissions' committee which cooperated with the Interstate Commerce Commission in the recent reduction in express rates.
